PLYMOUTH ROCKS AND WYAN-DOTTES FAVOREDIN ENGLISH MARKET.

Some Valuable Hints for Farmers-Flavelle Bros Will Supply Settings of These Eggs and Will Take Com-mon Eggs in Exchange.

It is now nearing the time when those interested in raising poultry will commence operations again for this year. It is a well-known fact throughout this and the neighboring counties that Dundas & Flavelle Bros. have endeavored, during the last few years to give an excellent market for tur-keys and geese. It is also known, less widely perhaps, that last year this firm went further and bought several thousand chickens, which were also sent to the old country. It is the intention of this enterprising firm not only to continue buying the turkeys, but also to establish a good market for chickens of the proper sort. Not so much encouragement, however, is given in raising geese and ences of last year's operations that only certain breeds of fowl are suitable for that particular, and capricious market. Any of the larger breeds will, of course, do, but a strong preference is given the Plymouth breeds will, of course, do, but a strong preference is given the Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes. These, where tried, have proven themselves the best general purpose fowl, being hardy enough to endure our severe winters and proving themselves good fleshformers and egg-producers.

Knowing that farmers will find these fowl much more profitable, and at the same time be enabled, by securing them, to co-operate in bringing our chickens into Ravon in Great Britain, an effort is being made to introduce them as extensively as possible. This matter was proposed last year to many leading farmers and seemed to meet with their strongest approval, as heretofore practically no market had been given for chickens. Last year, when buying the fowl, it was found that only a very small percentage was of the kind desired. Other varieties were bought, but did not prove at all satisfactory, so that this year more care will be exercised and only first-class fowl taken, for which a liberal price will be paid. It is more than probable that the price will vary according to the weight, and condition of birds. The eprice last year was 6 1-2c and 7c. a pound live weight, some bringing over a dollar Now, in order to aid farmers who year was 6 1-2c, and 7c, a pound live weight, some bringing over a dollar a pair.

Now, in order to aid farmers who are anxious to co-operate with this enterprise, arrangements are being made with those who are handling well-bred Plymouth Rocks and Wyandettes for settings of eggs, during the spring months. These will be sold at only about double the ordinary price, and where persons desiring them do not live too far from fown, these will be delivered and common eggs taken in exchange at current prices. This is an excellent opportunity which all cannot be supplied, so it is arranged that as far as possible the orders will be considered as they are received. These may be left at Dundas & Flarelle Bros. store, or directed to A. E. Silverwood, who has charge of the distribution.

Any one keeping good Plymouth

Any one keeping good Plymouth Any one keeping good Plymouth Rocks or Wyandottes, and earing to sell the soltings at double the usual price of eggs, should communicate with Mr. Silverwood at once in order that the flock may be inspected and the proper arrangements made in time. It is expected that this work will commence the first of April and continue through May, and perhaps June. Anyone interested should act at once, as orders are already coming in very rapidly.

Dear Flors, —The aketobes you find on this sheet are not mine. Paper is getting scarce, and I found this in an old Muncey Magazine. Befugees continue to come in twos and threes, black and white. If they won't fight the Boers order them to they won't night the Boers order them to leave. Yesterday a.u. we sent a column into the 0.F. State, consisting of 2½ Cos. F.O.R., 2 Maxim gues, I Co. Queensland Mounted Infantry, 2 gues Royal Horse Artillery. Of course they had transport and rations. The column returned this Artillery. Of course they had transport and rations. The column returned this s. m., and report having seen a few Boers, who skedaddled without waiting to exchange shots. They had evidently been having dinner at a farm house. The column also saw 700 Lancers from Modder River. Both parties took the other for Boers, but luckly neither fired. The range at which rife fire commences is so great that it is difficult to tell whether they are friends or fee. They brought in some cattle and horses and one wagon. The column that went to Douglass brought in a water cart—something our Reg. was hadly in need of. At 11 s.m. a Battery—37th—of R-yai Artillery arrived here, had dinner, and marched on to Euslin, It consists of 6 guns, 5 in, bore, using lyddite shells, It is a part of the siege train for Magorafontein. The British have made a lot of blunders for which Gen. Buller will get the blame and by which Lord "B-bs" vill profit. The degenerate Boer is able to fight "some" yet. If we could only provoke them to attack it would be different, but they hold a good position and stay with it. The British, I guess, have determined to shell them out instead of throwing away intantry, as they did at Magorsfontein.

Jao. 12:h.—Yesterday two trains carrying the ammunition column for the 37th, 61st and 65th Batteries, went up. This noon a train with 4 7 G A. guns and ammunition transport and men went up. Four more guns the same and 8 6 0 are to follow. All these use lyddite. There will surely be something of a dust when operations begin again.

By the use of the words "at last" we do not mean to infer that an undue length of time os taken up in preparing for the event, but the keen expectation arous-ed by Messrs. Britton and Begbie's re-

The first part of the entertainment was announced on the program as "A Page of Contrusts," and so it proved the variety was marked in quantity and peleasant in quality.

After and overture skilfully played on the paino by Mr. J. Hurley, the stage was invaded by twelve daughters of Japan, a bevy of houris or dream maidens, who looked ravistingly beautiful in their quaint Eastern robes, and became positively dangerous as they it shed in ourly in the fright cyso at the audience over the tips of their coquettishly held fams. Calcium lights of various tints added to the fine effect of the scene when the young ladies proceeded to execute a series of stately drill movements, in which their marching and posturing were inexpressfully graceful and charming. The young ladies who took part were the Misses M. Slyvesler, M. O'Leary, M. Wardrobe, E. Neelands, E. O'Leary, N. Kennedy, B. Plunkett, T. Goodwin, F. McConnell, C. Walters, M. Sootheran and E. Belmont, Van. 11th, 1000.

Dear Anna,—Yours of the 3rd Decreceived. The first one has gone astray. Your hopes for Lord Methuen have been fulfilled, but some one has blundered or rather has had hard lusk, since his recovery. It is very hard to judge in such matters. The British had prestige to regain before this war started. I rather think they lost somewhat by underestimating the Boers, but have not the least doubt that the Bull Dog will hang on and get the best of it. It will be more of an honor to conquer a strong enemy than a weak one.

I for one do no? favor any such notion, and I think a large imajority agree with me, Of course if the war is over, we shall all be glad to be home again. No mistake the work is hard and steady, but we are well fed. Give my best thanks to well-wishors. With much love, JOHN.

Allaw TOPROFECT MORAL PURITY

(From the New York Sun.)

The religious agitation of the marriage and divorce question has led to the framing of a bill, which was introduced into the legislature at Albany on Monday, constituting marrital infidelity a misdementory punishable as such. Bishop Doane, of the Episcopal church is understood to be the surgester of the measure, and at any rate, he announces himself as strongly in favor of it, saying that it has been prepared in response to "a movement to put the sinners against purity of both sexes on the some ground by affixing a penalty to the orime of adultery."

That there should be such equality, in the treatment of the offence is sound theoretically and in morals. In this Republic generally the iaw recognizes it, so far as concerns the integrity of the marriage relation, the middlety of either the husband or the wife, constituting the prime ground for divorce. In England, however, the law makes a radical distinction between them, bused on purely hpysicological grounds. It gives the husband divorce in case of the husband, but also that it was accompanied by such a string the program and the interest of all the first port of the program was failed with ma

Their numbers and the justice of their cause prevailed, and the intruders were captured, whereupon they evinced a proper feeling of penitence because of their dastardly designs, and after singing a song about their dolorous fate, were condemned to witness the light-hearted revols of the fairy folk.

Then followed a scene the beaucies of which are beyond description. The Fairy band tripped about the Maypole in the centre of the stage and executed a numbers of charming movements, the guomes in fanciful attire and carrying tiny lighted lanterna; they Fairy Queen and her sweet attendants in white dresses, dotted shout the hem and on the breast with tiny electric lamps. Flashing lights, rhythmic movements and constantly changing sheen of colors all combined to make a really beautiful scene, which the audience applauded again again, Cupid falling heir to perhaps more than her share of the varmi expressions of praise.

The accompanists—Misses Silver, McConnell, Hettger and F. O'Leary—deserve a word of praise. They were in almost constant requisition, and their work was very painstaking and correct. Messrs. Mrs. S J. Ewing, Mt Plea ant

In Mt. Pleasant, on the 6th Feb., 1900, there passed to her rest Mrs. S. J. Ewing, relict of the late Rev. J. Ewing. All that was mortal of the deceased lady was laid away in the Presbyterion cemetery on the 5th mst., by a host of sympathizing and sorrowing relatives and friends. Few ened affliction bore down upon herself (ill the added tribulation which she bore up against with christian fortitude proved overpowering for herendusince. Her spirit passed calculy aways to fraternize with the spirits of her loved ones gone before. Her greatest anxiety and regret was for the future of her daughter Ethel, whom she was both to part with, but she had faith in God's promise and in the words of resus, who said. That in heaven, the angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven. Mrs. Ewing was a dufful and affectionate wife, a devoted and exceedingly kind mother. She was a feacher of the kindergarten class in the Mt. Pleasunt Sabbath school for many years, (which ended with the resignation of the Supt., (J. McLean, esq.,) and endeared herself to her pupils by her instructive teaching. She was ever ready to further the cause of the Master by her labors, and our village has sustained a great loss by her death. A vast concourse of her friends attended the last rites to show their profound respect for the deceased and their deep sympathy for her sorrowing daughter and other relatives. "And God ehalt wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall he no more death, noither sorrow, nor crying; neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things are passed away,"—Rev., 21st chip., 4th verge; "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them.—Rev., 14 and 13.

ONLY A SUGGESTION.

But it Has Proved of Interest and Value to Thou ands.

Common sense would suggest that if one wishes to become fleshy and plump it can only result from the food we eat and digest, and that food should be albuminous or flesh forming food, like eggs, beefsteak and cereals; in other words the kinds of food that make flesh are the foods which form the greater part of our daily bill of fare.

But the trouble is that while we eat enough and generally too much, the stomach, from abuse and overwork, does not properly digest and assimilate it, which is the reason so many peo-ple remain thin and under weight; the digestive organs do not complete-ly digest the flesh forming beefsteak and eggs and similar wholesome food. There are thousands of such who are really confirmed dyspeptics, although they have no particular pain or inconvenience from their stomachs

In part five of the annual report of he Bureau of Industries to rontario just issued, there are some interest-ing figures as to municipal growth and presperity. A table of population covering thirteen years shows that covering thirteen years shows that the tendency to abandon the farm for the large town and cities is not falling off. The population of the cities has increased nearly 10,000 during the year, while that of the townships have slightly increased.

The population of the townships in 1836 was 1,119,856; in 1898 it was 1,110,294, while that of the cities increased in the care, partial form 319,831 in 440.

in the same period from 319,631 to 440,880; and that of towns and villages from 390,005 to 449,567.

The volume of debenture debts of urban municipalities was about double in the period 1686-97, the debt returns for 1898 not being complete. The total assessment for all municipalities has increased from $094,380,65 9 to $809,184,833, and the average tax rata per head has risen from $4.93 to $6.10.

A CHRISTMAS EXPERIENCE.

"Twas the day after Christmas. Quiet reigned over the household. From the pater to the youngest representative of the family—aged two—every member of this domestic circle was gium and "grumpy." Even the "tot" forebore to talk of the girls ania Claus had given her, and "the girls" discoursed not of their fors and other newly-acquired possessions.

This condition of affairs was so contrary to the ordinary genality of the family that, when Wilkins dropped in to wish them the compliments of the season, he was wonder-striken. He attempted to engage Slingsby in chat, but failed. Christmas topics, election matters, every subject he tried fell flat. "What alls you all?" he demanded irefully. "You are all as gloomy as if you had just attended a funerall What's wrong? Burglars? Bad news? Too hearty Christmas dimer? What is it?" "That's it." mournfully answered Slingsby. "It's a good thing Christmas comes only once a year. What, with turkey, plum pudding, mince pies, and all the rest of it, I'm feeling worse than if I'd been condemned to Siberia for life. Mrs. S., the girls, and even the cook—all are in the same box. Confound Christmas, I say."

"Why don't you read The News, ingsby?" queried Wilkins.
"Wh-a-t?" gasped Slingsby.
"Why don't you read The News?"
"What has The News to do with 47?"

"Why don't you read "What has The News to do with it?" was Slingsby's question.
"Everything. Look at me. I'll wager I enjoyed my Christmas fare as heartly as you did. I had turker, plum pudding (with brandy sauce), mince pies, and all the rest of it, and yet I'm as chipper as a squirrel—never felt so well in my life. But I read The News, you see?"
Slingsby started. He couldn't understead. He thought Wilkins had partaken too copiously of the "barandy sauce." He was speechiess.
Wilkins went on:—"Yes, I read The News. And I find by reading The News that in a case like yours, there is one way to avoid all these unpleasant consequences of the Yulcide feast. That is to quietly take a couple of Dr. Arnold's English Toxin Pills. Paragraph 4 states:—'In the year 1813 the said government for its own purposes constructed the present dam which lipiared and rendered useless the said mill site of Pardy aforesald, whereupon the Proyince of Canada granied to Purdy the said new dam and mill site and liads in connection therewith.

But, mark you, in that grant there was no right given nor was there any privilege given to raise the water a foot higher than the dam sai then existed, nor was there any allowance made for the use of a flash-biard to pen back the waters until the grant by the order of the site of June, 1817.

Paragraph 8 says:—'During the paried the back of the spring freshets the land in than nighborhood is always lexically overflower.

I will merely sak that you use your own pidgment lo dealing with that portion of this paragraph.

They then go on to say—'The bracket boards is not considerably shated, and it is only when the water has lowered considerably that the brackete boards are placed upon the dam, etc.'

Chief Justice Engarty, Ont. Appeal Reports, Vol. 17, 1889 and 1890, page 374-375, in his judgment, "Brady et al va. Sadler," says: "We then come to the grant of the 10th of January, 1882, which, of course, is referable to the previous contract of purchase. The description is peculiar and very significant of the intention. Of acres of land, more or less, are granted. (They are not spoken of as a part of any lot, but an alternative description is added, viz: "being composed of lot number? 9, in the 4th concession of Ops, exclusive of the lands covered by the waters of the Scugog River, which are hereby reserved." Therefore the grant did, not pass any land so covered. I can attach no other meaning to this grant except that whatever land the Scugog River waters may cover in the ordinary changes of the season, sometimes to a greater and sometimes to a lesser extent, are not to pass, but remain in the Crown."

Chief Justice Hagarty further on says: "We can fully understand that in the case of a-lot which had to be servient to the user of a dam legally existing, any raising of the water by boards or other means beyond the legalized height might create an actionable wrong to the owner by, as it were, increasing the burden of the servitude. In dry seasons his land would be kept wet, which otherwise might be dry. But the construction I feel bound to place upon this grant creates the difference in the cases."

To suffer the most excruciating pains, toese the use of limbs, and to have the joint swollen and disfigured is the lot of the victim of rheumatism.

Uric acid in the blood is the cause of rheumatism. If the kidneys are active they remove the uric acid. That is their special work. If, on the other hand, the kidneys are deranged, there is sure to be uric acid in the blood and rheumatic pains through the body.

No amount of liniment will ever curre rheumatism. It sometimes relieves, but cure can only be brought about by setting the kidneys right. The most effective kidney remedy known man is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Fills. They cure rheumatism permanently by main to the convert of the dam which the Crown. In reply to this paragraph, I say that there was an investigation. I saw the Ontario government engineer making his examinations of the premises; I know that he reported to the government against the use of the bracket boards; that on his report they were ordered off; that if the narrower boards were, as they state, used after that, they were surreptitiously used, and their use was a direct violation of the governmental instructions as given at the time. As to the jurisdiction, I think it is fully set out in the following correspondence which passed between the Secretary of State for the Dominion and the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario. EXPLEIT "R."

In reply to this last, let me say that I take this as an admission of the weakness of the faith they have in their case if left to stand on its merits. Only the weakness of their cause would allow them to resort to a pleading of this kind. But, sir, in answer to their pleading a prescriptive right, let me read to you the opinions of Judge Armour and Judge Street on this point, as given in the case of Brady against this same Mill Company. No estimate is made of their numbers, but the withdrawl of the Boers from most of the places where they have been in contact with the Eritish, except the district near Ladysmith, may raise the resisting force to 30,000 men. This figure assumes that the Boers have between 60,000 and 75,000 men in the field.

The gathering of this army across the path of Lord Roberts, gives significance to Gen. Cronje's steadfast defence. He has engaged the corps of Lord Roberts for ten days now, and whether he is relieved or not, he has given time for the dispersed Boer factions to get together and to prepare positions to receive the British advance when Gronje is overcome and Lord Roberts moves forward.

It is dilibeult to conceive that the Bloers are strong enough to take the offensive and to rescue Gen. Cronje from his precarious situation.

The War Office had nothing after midnight to indicate his collapse, and he may hold out for a few days yet. The correspondents seem to have no exact information regarding his resources. Some say he has plenty of food, but is short of ammunition; others assert that he abandoned his food supplies, but kept the municipal council of Mariposa, praying for the removal of this grievance.

I will now ask for a petition that was sent into the depurtment by Patrick McHugh, reeve of Ops, in the year 1801, which has attached to it resolutions from Manvers, Carlwright, Ops and Mariposa councils; on this petition the chief engineer of your Department reported, and with the reading of that report I close my argument.

The report stated that after an examination the engineer found the damages complained of by the petitioners to be correctly set forth, and that he had ordered the removal of the bracket boards and had forbidden the mill owners any further use of them.

Now sir, after hearing the report of Mr. Gage, the Government engineer, read, can you come to any other conclusion than, had these farmers been fairly treated, their grievance would have been removed thirty-eight years people.

I will now conclude by asking for them, even at this late day, justice at your hands. Justice for the hundreds of farmers along Scuog river and take, along the East and the West Cross Greeks, and who are depending on my feelile efforts to assist them in a speedy removal of the grievance complained of, and which they feel would never have been allowed by your department had you been aware of the seriousness of the injury it caused to the riparian land-owners. the snop has been completed and is utilized as a workshop for the ment; the engine house walls are up and the roof almost on; the steel chimney has grown skyward to the height of 16 ft, within 30 feet of completion; the burners, three in number, are being built, and have attained nearly half their height of 80 feet; the foundation is laid for the furnace building; the boilers have been swung into position, and busy workmen are splitting large stones and trimming them into shape for the various buildings yet to be done. The stonework of the different buildings, etc., is the admiration of all beholders. Strength and beauty are the impressions left on the mind. Slowly but steadily the work is going on, notwithstanding the weather, but when the spring bursts upon us, then there will be a rush, and the works will present a busy appearance.

Hers Not Baising the Siege.

London, Feb. 27. — Mr. Winsto Churchill, in a despatch to The Moring Post from Frere Camp, date Sunday, says: "The idea that til Boers are raising the siege of Lad; smith is premature. The advance being pursued in the face of the mostubborn opposition, and of heavilosses. President Krugor's grandst is among the Boers killed."

Boers are strong enough to take the offensive and to rescue Gen. Cronje from his precarious situation.

The War Office had nothing after midnight to indicate his collapse, and he may hold out for a few days yet. The correspondents seem to have no exact information regarding his resources. Some say he has plenty of food, but is short of ammunition; others assert that he abandoned his food supplies, but kept abundant supplies of cartridges.

Gen. Buller on Saturday faced the last and strongest positions of the Boers who bar his way to Ladysmith. The strenuous fighting indicates a fight between armier rather than rear-guard actions protecting a retreat. On Thursday and Friday be lost 43 officers killed and wounded, representing probably a total of from 400 to 500.

Gen. White's guns worked on Saturday upon the Boer positions, and a heliogram from Ladysmith reported that the Boers were retreating, and that larger rations were being issued in view of the fact that relief seemed at hand.

Nothing has been heard from Mafeking since Feb. 12.

A despatch from Paardeberg, dated Friday, to The Times, says that several thousand Boers are now hovering in that neighborhood.

Most likely, unless she uses "Victorine", the only labor-saving compound we know of that does not eat the dirt away, and of course eats the clothes as

"VICTORINE" loosens the oreign substances from the clothes, and rinsing, after the boiling, makes them white as snow. It is the greatest saver of clothes and labour.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, MAR. 2nd, 1900

LADYSMITH RELIEVED.

On Thursday morning the welcome news, "Ladysmith Relieved," was received by cable from the British War Office, and was flashed over the length and breadth of our great Dominion. Greater demonstrations of joy there may have been, but nowhere was the grand news received with more con-vincing proofs of loyalty and devotion to Britain than right here in Lindsay. The telegrams announcing the lief are printed on our first page. 'Rah for Buller and British pluck!

FLASH-BOARDS ON THE DAM.

Our readers will not have forgotten that last week application was made before the Minister of Public Works at Ottawa for the removal of the flash boards on Fiavelle Bros. mill dam, on behalf of the farmers of Ops and Mariposa whose lands are yearly flooded by the backing up of the water. Mr. Geo. McHugh, M.P.,-himself one of the path oners-presented the case for the farmers, and as wide-spread interest is taken in the matter we have decided to print the ter we have decided to print his arguments in full.

WIDE TIRES ON WAGONS.

Mr. S. J. Fox, M.P.P. for West Victoria, is a firm believer in the importance of the county possessing good, roads, and has for years evinced his condemnation of the knife-lika nation of narrow tires on the roadway by having his delivery wagons fitted with wide band tires. Mr. Fox recentby presented a petition to the legis-lature, on behalf of Victoria council, penying that the width of tires be de-fined by law, and in support of the petition he is now corresponding with petition has is now corresponding with wagou-makers, and leading residents of the county, asking their opinion as to the standard width of vire for car-tage vehicles, also if the axles should be of the same length, so the wheels will track. Similar action is being taken in other counties, and he Mr. A. W. Campbell, Ontario Good Roads Commissioner, is strenuous in advocating the use of broad tires as being absolutely necessary to the preserva-tion of good rouds, it is confidently expected that in the near future the government will take action.

MAJUBA DAY.

There is something like poetic re-tribution in the circumstance that Gen Cronje and his army should be forced to surrender unconditionally forced to surrender unconditionally the British on the nineteenth anniversary of the slaughter of 'Majuba Hill; and it may well be supposed that it will not tend to soften the blow to the ignorant and superstitious Boers. Gen. Lord Roberts had the Boers, Gen. Lord Roberts and the enemy at his me or for several days, and it is probable, that but for the inevitable slum, "fr. helpless women, who were used as a defence by the Boer leader, Brisk guns should have earlier convinced Cronje of the folly of delay in submitting to the conjueror. The blow is a severe one to the Scers, not so much because of the loss of their army, but because of the crushing sense of the failure of one of their most trusted officers and the destruction of their plans for the defensive campaign.

With Roberts and Kitchener well into the Free State, and Buller driv. ing away north from the Tugela to-ward Ladysmith, the cause of the Boers does not look very hopeful. Hitherto they have carried the ruin and desolation of war into the British colonies, now they will experience the hourors themselves. The only way to escape is to make complete and speedy submission, and they are not probably humble enough yet for that. Early peace, desirable as it may be, would leave the work half done, should the egotistical Boers full intearning the lesson that war should teach. Defeat, sweeping and complete, is probably the only teacher to whom the Boers will right with respect.

Position.

London, Feb. 28. — (4.30 a.m.)—
From John O'Groat's to Land's End there has been cheering to-day for the Queen and a universal singing of the National Anthem. This with mutual congratulations, is the Britons' way of celebrating the most cheerful day of the war.

Lord Roberts has done more than to capture 4,000 Boers and a few guns. He is within striking diance of one of the Boer capitals, and is master of a large district of the Free State. He has given a shock to Boer confidence, and immeasurably restored the spirit of his own troops.
In capturing Cronje, he has taken a leader whose presence alone was worth thousands to the Boer cause.
The best opinion here is that the Transvalares are certain to continue the fight with undiminished valor;
but it is not so certain about the Free Staters.

Builer Permits an Armistice.

Buller Fermits an Armistice.

Sir Redvers Buller is having a hard time in Natal. It is ovident now after a fortnight's fighting, that he was misled when he wired that there was only a weak rear guard between him and Ladysmith. Apparently some of the hardest fighting of the war took place at the end of last week, as an armistice was agreed upon to allow attendance upon the wounded and burial of the dead. Both sides must have lost heavily.

London, Feb. 28. — The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts:
"Paardeberg, 11 o'clock, Tuesday norning, Feb. 27.—From information furnished daily to me by the Intelligence Department, it became apparatused to the control of the contro eence Department, it became apparent that Gen. Cronje's force was becoming more depressed, and that the discontent of the troops and the discontent caused by the disappointment caused when the Boer reinforcements which tried to relieve General Cronje were defeated by our troops on Feb. 23.

Cronje were defeated by our troops on Feb. 23.

Resolved to Press the Enemy.

'I resolved, therefore, to bring pressure to bear on the enemy. Each night the trenches were pushed forward towards the enemy's langer so as to gradually contract his position, and at the same time I bombarded it heavily with artillery, which was yesterday materially aided by the arrival of four six-inch howitzers, which I had ordered up from De Aar. In enrying out these measures, a captive balloon gave great assistance by keeping us informed of the dispositions and movements of the enemy.

The Canadians' Dash.

The Canadians' Dash.

"At 3 a.m. to-day a most dashing advance was made by the Canadian regiment and some engineers, supported by the First Gordon Highlanders and Second Shropshires, resulting in our gaining a point some six hundred yards nearer the enemy and within about eighty yards of his trenches, where our men entrenched themselves and maintained their positions till morning, a galiant deed worthy of our Colonial courades, and which I am glad to say was attended by comparatively slight loss,

Made Cronje Surrender.

Made Cronje Surrender, Made Cronje Surrender, he stated that he surrendered unconditionally, was brought to our outposts under a flag of truce,

Paardeberg Drift, Orange Free State, Feb. 20. — (Tuesday).—Gen. Cronje's magnificent night march from Magnarsontein now appears likely to end in disaster. The main body of the Boers is enclosed in a terrible death trap. The enemy are hiding in the bed of the Modder, commanded by the British artiflery, and enclosed on the east and west by the British infantry. Sunday witnessed a gallant stand on the part of the retreating foe, Though tired and harassed, they still maintained a bold front.

London, Feb. 23. — The War Office has received from Lord Roberts the following message, which was while the rest of the brigade, with the other regiments, swung round the front of the Highland Brigade on the level, coverless ground, exposed to a terrible fire, which obliged the men to lie upon the ground, as they did for the remainder of the day. This began at 7.30 in the morning. Through the dreadful heat and terrible thunderstorm our men hung to the position, answering the Boor fire and shouting steadily.

Gen. Cronje's laager, full of carts, ammunition and stores, could be plainly seen near the north bank.

The canadians Brought in.

Gen. Smith-Dorrien collected a large body of men, including the Canadians, and crossed the river by Paardeberg Drift, advancing toward the laager, which was being vigorously shelled. This force made a gallant attempt to charge into the laager, but failed. Before seizing the western drifts, the Boers occupied a kopie on the south bank, running down the river. A FIGHT TO A FINISH.

London, Feb. 23. — (4 a.m.)— Gen. Cronje is securingly making his last stand. He is dying hard, hem-med in by British infantry, with shells from 50 guas falling into his canno.

mod in by British infantry, with shells from 50 guns falling into his camp.

On the third day of the fight the Boer chief asked for an armistice to bury his dead. "Fight to a finish or surrender unconditionally," was Lord Kitchener's reply.

Gen. Cronje immediately sent back word that his request for a truce had been misunderstood, and that his determination then, as before, was to fight to the death.

The battle went on. This was the situation of Gen. Cronje on Tuesday overing, as sketched in the scanty telegrams that have emerged from the semi-silence of South Africa.

Officially, Lord Roberts wires that he has scattered the advance commandoes of the reinforcements that were striving to reach Gen. Cronje. It is regarded as singular that Lord Roberts, wiring Wednesday, should not mention the appeal for an armistice on the previous day, and also that the War Office should withhold good news, if it had any.

Without trying to reconcile even the scanty materials a thand, it seems plain that Gen. Cronje is in a bad and even a desperate situation, and that the British are pressing their advantage.

Borri Were Entrenched.

It is somewhat difficult to explain the Sunday action, in which all the British force was engaged, and in which Gen. Cronje, under difficult conditions, managed to hold his own. On Saturday night the British Mounted Infantry came into touch with Cronje's rear guard, driving them back upon the main body. On Sunday morning the action was renewed, but the Boers, who had entrenched the river bed during the night, prevented a further advance of the mounted infantry in this direction. the war Office, for the first time, has given out an official compiliation of the British losses. The total is 11,208 to Feb. 17. This does not include, therefore, Lord Roberts' recent losses, nor the Wittshire prisoners. The Press Association learns that the British losses at Koodoosrand were 700.

Meanwhile the Highland Brigade, consisting of the Seaforths, the Black Match and the Argylls, advanced from the south bank, and the Essex, Welsh and Yorkshires formed a long ine on the left, which rested on the eiter, the extreme right being the Welsh. The whole line was ordered to envelop the Boers, who lines both banks of the river.

of Commons at half-past 12 this morning that no further news regarding Gen. Cronje had been received by the Government. He had sent to the War Office during the hour, and he asserted that nothing had come to hand there.

Gen. Cronje, therefore, is presumably still unbeaten. No other construction can be placed upon the three days' silence of Lord Roberts. Yet no one sees how it is humanly possible, judging from the descriptions of his situation Wednesday morning, for him to resist so long.

"Englishmen feel something like pride in Cronje, even as a fee," says The Daily News. "In a position covering only a square mile, hemmed in on all sides, circled with a chain of fire from rifle, Maxim and howitzer, played on by deadly lyddite, bursting in its own sickly green light, his hastily built trenches enfilleded by a stream of lead sweeping down in the river from the north bank, General Cronje still elects to fight. It is magnificent courage."

Paardeberg, Orange Free State, Wednesday, Feb. 21.—The fourth day of Gen. Cronjo's fine defence opened in startling fashion. Soon after dawn a most terrific rattle of rifle fire broke out, waking the sleeping camp. The Canadians Were in it.

There was desultory firing all day long on both the south and north banks, Gen. Knox's brigade holding and pushing forward the line south of the river, while Gen. Smith-Dorrien, on the north side, worked towards the laager. Meanwhile General French advanced, in a far easterly direction, near a kopje held by a strong force of Cronje's men, reinforced by a Ladysmith contingent. At the same time Gen. Broadwood's Brigade, with a battery of horse artillery, took up positions to the left and rear of the same kopje.

The front of the hill was thoroughly scarched by the raking fire. Suddenly the Boers bolted from every side towards Gen. French, who headed towards the drift, shelling vigorously. Many were killed by shrapnel and about 40 were captured.

Our first contact with the Ladysmith Boers was singularly unfortunate for them. A great deal of forage, provisions and equipment was captured, and the kopie was frequently dotted with blood, showing that inany wounded had been removed.

A British doctor, who visited the Boer lines to see the wounded, found the trenches along the river full of wounded and saw many dead. The position to-day is practically the same. The Boers are strengthening their entrenchments around the laager but the case is hopeless. The capture of the kopie to-day has given the Britisha splendid position, and will prevent a Boer relieving force reaching Cronje.

The Weekly Post.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, MAR. 2nd, 1900 BEET SUGAR FOR CANADA.

As The Post recently published a long article on the importance of in-troducing the beet sugar industry in Canada, the following additional facts relative to the same subject taken relative to the same subject taken from the Torento Evening Star of recent date, will be read with interest, particularly by our farmer friends: When a man is presperous, he shows it in his dress, his manner, his home, and his business operations; and ome, and his business operations; and when a country is prosperous, the cultward evidences of it are as readily observable as in the case of an indiobservable as in the case of an individual. There is not only, a great increase in volume of trade, and an expansion along all the regular lines of production and manufacture, but new industries spring up. The prosperous country, like the prosperous country, like the prosperous man, thinks of new ideas, and is not afraid to venture something on experi-ments. Nor are these ideas always new, for, in prosperous times, ck up and push the suggestions that ave fallen flit in duller times.

In both the Ontario legislature and the Dominion parliament the proposal that Caunda should go into the beet sugar industry has come up again, and although talked of for a long time, there is now some likelihood of results being a compil h.d. The success that Germany has made of the best sugar business is known to the world. Even the markets of Great Britain, beet sugar of Germany has driven out the cane sugar of the British colonies, and the great refineries of England mostly shut down and gone int the manufacture of jams and other preparations, in which German sugar can be used. Sugar has now, become almost the chief export of Germany. The curstion is, can Canada, grow the beets and make the sugar necessary, for her own use. Naturally, the first proposition is that a bounty shall be granted, as was done in Germany, to encourage the enterprise. During the last three years, big steps have been taken in the United States to establish the best sugar indust y. In Michigan there are eight actories, all doing well, and the oldest has been in operation only three years. In twelve different states experiments in best growing have been made, and factories established, costing about $750,000 each. Michigan is next door to Ontario, and if the industry can flourish there it should do so here. The amount of sugar consumed each year in Canada would, it is estimated, occupy sixty large factories in full

In Michigan the average vield per is 15 tons, while experiments e in Ontario show an average yield of 18.2 tons. The cost of production in both case is about the same per acre. Both in Michigan and in On-tario, the yield per acre is much high-er than in Germany, where the in-dustry has attained such enormous dustry has attained such enormous proportions. The average percentage of sugar in the Ontario-grown beet's is 13.58, while the Michigan-grown beets average 13.2 per cent. As far as figures go, therefore, Ontario seem to be especially suited for the sugar business, and could begin with advantages over nearly all competitors.

The German bounty is about one per pound. In Michigan the y is one cent per pound for tive The proposal of those who talk of building a $50,000 factory in On-tario is that a bounty of one cent be given for the first two years, three-quarters of a cent for one year, one-half of a cent for one year, and onequarter of a cent for one year. The bounty will then cease

Mr. William McGregor, M.P., North fine sample of beet sugar, made from beets grown at Marshfield, and made in one of the Michigan factories.
These beets yielded 25 tons to the acre, and 12 per cent. sugar. Dr. Sproule,
M. P., East Grey, has brought the M. P., East Grey, has brought the sugar question up in the commons, and it begins to appear that, perhaps, both parliaments may be induced to consider the question of giving a bounty, although it will probab ly be held that the giving of a bounts the limits of provincia is outside politics, and properly belongs to the Dominion. Whether definite action will be taken is not known, but, at least, a full discussion of the whole matter may be expected. It is a nev enterprise, which, if once successfully established, will prove a great source of revenue to the Canadian farmers, them an entirely new hom Correption.

Toronto, Feb. 21. — Another field ay in the House was ovidently anicipated yesterday afternoon, judging from the large attendance of the abile, the particular attraction being the anticipated speech from the remier in reply to Mr. Whitney's attack. The usual grist of petitions crop presented, many of them asking a nanenthents to the Assessment and Municipal Acts.

thek. The issual grist of pertuble were presented, many of them asking for anendments to the Assessment and Minicipal Acts.

Hon, G. W. Ross rose to speak at half-past 3, and began his remarks with complimentary references to the Speaker and Lieut-Loy. Mowat. He complimented the mover and seconder of the address on their clear presentation of its variqus topics. Journalism had given to public life some of its best men and the mover of the address would be a worthy successor to his distinguished predecessor. He was glud of the terms in which the Opposition leader had referred to the South African war. This war, like others, would reflect honor and glory on the Empire. (Applause.) The present relations between Canada and the Empire owed a good deal to the action of the Liberal party. The imposition of preferential duties was a substantial step towards closec union. We owed a great deal to the Empire and should be ready to repay her a thousandfold if necessray. He was perplexed to know why Mr. Whitney has tevning. He had quoted at great length from The Farmer's Sun—the exponent of an organization which he had bitterly attacked. Mr. Whitney had never yet submitted to the Flouse many propositions which if adopted would be of substantial value. He appeared to have no initiative. He had objected to The Financial Commission. The Financial Commission.

The Financial Commission.

The Opposition had misrepresented the true state of affairs. It was an important matter that the country should get at the truth, and the commission would bring out the facts, and the Government would have to accept their findings. He reseated on behalf of Mr. Hoskin, Mr. Whitney's indecent attack on him. He did not know what Mr. Hoskin's politics were. Nothing but the basest act of treachery on the part of a commissioner would enable him to relor his report for partizan purposes, and Mr. Hoskin was incapable of such an act. He was not appointed to the office he held by the Government, nor was his salary fixed by them. He like Mr. Walker were both when of high financial standing. The expert accountant employed, Mr. Cross, was a Conservative, and he could find a surplus, though his friends in the House could not. (Applause and laughter.) He believed the present surplus was $2,000,000, and if the commission so report he would be delighted—if not he would accept the inevitable. He quoted several precedents showing that it was customary to appoint Government officials as commissioners. The public accounts would show a cash surplus of about $800,000 for the last two years. He took the ground in his

of about $800,000 for the last two years. He took the ground in his whithy speech that if the finances permitted he would carry out certain practical measures. He was not reckless enough to promise more money for education, agriculture, etc., unless the finances did permit.

It was only fair and right that the large corporations which had thriven on account of the country's prosperity should contribute some measure of taxation to these objects. He ridiculed Mr. Whitney's assumption that the tax on insurance companies raised the rates of insurance, showing that it amounted to a very trifling sum for each policyholder. Mr. Whitney's had said that he had been uney had said that he had been un-ustly charged with opposing the Development of New Ontarto,

Mr. Whitney's course last session in antagonizing a railway to Hudson's Bay and some other subsidies was certainly calculated to convey that impression. He had submitted several motions for striking out subsidies to New Ontario railways. The Premier went on to point out the great advantages of developing cold storage, but said he would not go into details until the bill was before the House. Coming to the nickel question he said it was not true that a considerable percentage of the nickel mining lands had been sold. There was a large area yet embraced in the Crown domain. There was no difficulty in reaching those exporting nickel matte by imposing a tax, with a drawback in case the ore was refined at home. "Ontario's product for Ontario's sons' was their policy —much like the N.P. which hon, gentlemen opposite supported. The Conservative party were insincere. They condemned the Government for not putting an embargo on nickel ore beforc, yet their party when in power at Ottawa had never imposed an export duty. The Onposition leader seemed to favor public ownership of railroads. Some progress had been made in that direction. Electric railway companies were already practically partners with the cities of Toronto and Hamilton, and it was proposed as regards new railways subsidirect that they should be made partners with the Government and under obligation to transport settlers into

As treards Education

Mr. Whitney had told them nothing new—had advanced no argument that had not been answered over and over again—so he need not reply at length. His statements were made in general terms—he suggested no improvement; he did not say what there was in the public schools that in his opinion ought to be left out. The public school system was complete in itself as far as it went. When a pupil had completed his course there he had got just as good an education as the public schools could be expected to confer, even if there was not a single high school in existence. It was not until new that England har reached in regard to her secondary schools, the same high position that Ontario occupied. The Premier quoted nungerous American educational authorities in praise of the Ontario system. He strongly combatted the Opposition view that the management of the University should be free from political connection—but this had never been asked for by the University or its grantuates—and it was not the sense of the country. He had been accused of having shifted his ground, and he was not ashamed to admit that he had done so in regard to the Canadian Pacific Raitway, having realized the benefit of that great enterprise and the wisdom of Sir John Macdonald in its construction, and Mr. Whitmey had also shifted his ground in advocating a consultative committee to act with the Minister of Education. No such system, however, would be satisfactory unless the principle of Ministerial responsibility were maintained.

The Timetre Public.

The Opposition claimed that they had originated the Government's

The Opposition claimed that they had originated the Government's timber policy. As a maîter of fais the provision was introduced in regard to sules effected in 1890 that the timber cut should be manufactured in this country. The Opposition had no resolution upon the records prior to that date urging the general adoption of this restriction. He favored a cautious and conservative policy as regards timber with the object of preventing the white pine being cut away too rapidly. They were setting apart forest reserves in the hope of maintaining the supply. A similar policy was being pursued with regard to pulpwood. The Opposition did not seem to have it in its heart either to construct a policy of its own or to heartly congratulate and co-operate with the Government, on what it was doing for the development of the province. The government had the condidace of the people as shown by the return of its members, and there general successes at the polls. He was proud that his name had been hyphenated with Mr. Hardy owing to the latter's kindness of heart. But he could stand alone without the hyphen. (Applause.)

After Recess.

The Premier on resuming his speech dealt with the Commission to investigate election irregularities. This was not intended or promised to be a general investigation but solely into the West Eigfn case. He contrasted the course of the Government in instituting this investigation with that previously pursued and held that they were entitled to some consideration for the stand they had taken. He deprecated as much as any one the irregularities that had occurred and deplored the epidemic of corruption that had prevailed not only in Ontario but in other parts of the Dominion during the last two years specifying some of the more notorious instances. Whether the practices pursued by the Conservatives had accurred and deplored the epidemic of corruption that had prevailed not only in Ontario but in other parts of the Dominion during the last two years specifying some of the more notorious and the ballot w failed to say a word of censure against his own party. The Promier proceeded to recall some of the more notorious cases of corruption more especially the conspiracy to purchase members of the Legislature worse oven than the West Elgin case. (Applause.) The honorable gentlemen had a habit of passing portfolios around. (Laughter.) And after the disclosures of corruption in South Ontario he had said that he would make a good Minister of Agriculture! failed to say a word of censure against his own party. The Prem-make a good Minister of Agriculture! He had Two Menutes of Political Merality, one for his friends and other for his enemies. Why did he single out Liberal wrong-doers for condemnation and keep silence with regard to Conservatives? It was an improper insinuation to make against Messrs. Watson and Grant to infer as Mr. Whitney did that because they were Liberals they were unworthy of confidence. He would back such an insinuation as an ofence against the dignity of the Courts, (Loud applause). He believed those who swore that the believed those who swore that the believed those who store that the believed those of the things that the Opposition used to reflect on the Government. The loss of the ballots would not affect the matters at Issue as it was not necessary to produce the ballots to prove personation, as was charged in that case. Two Manutes of Political Marality.

Mr. McDiarmid stated that Dole was charged with personation.
The Premier contended that he was. Bole had been dismissed by the Government from the position he held as soon as he was reported for bribery. The Government had nothing whatever to gain by the burning of the ballots. It would not be their fault if the Commission did not bring out all the facts. It was the bounden duty of both parties to deal with irregularities in the most determined and heroic manner. He was willing to assist honorable gentlemen opposite and hoped they would assist him in the attempt to suppress corruption. There should not be two measures one for the Liberals and another for the Conservatives and he appealed to them to aid in preserving the integrity of the franchise. Mr. Whitney seemed to want a dissolution of the House but there was no reason to ask anything of the kind. They had a majority as they had had one at every election since Confederation. They were prepared to trust the farmers, the working men and the manufacturers who were already feeling the stimulus of the new policy they had adopted and when they did go to the country when the proper time came in 1902 they would astonish their opponents and come back with a large majority behind them. (Applause).

DEBATE TO FINISH WEDNESDAY.

Mr. J. J. Foy Urges Wider Scope for West Eigie Commission-Mr. S. Clark Points Out That History Shows Corruption Has Been Ten Times as Bad Among Conservatives as Among Liberals.

Toronto, Feb. 24. - The Speaker of the Legislature drew attention to a frequent breach of Parliamentary rules by one member addressing himrues by one member addressing himself personally to another. Such phraseology as "You have said this," etc., was quite inadmissible according to British usage. He hoped both sides of the House would bear this in mind.

Mr. For.

Mr. Foy resumed the debate on the address. He claimed that the Prenier could not escape from responsibility for the actions of the former Government. He agreed that the sawlog legislation of 1898 was wise but it ought to have been enacted years before. The Government in its course as zegards the exportation of saw logs and pulp wood had adopted the protective policy which they had for years been revillag. Why was not the Order-in-Council prohibiting the export of nickel ore made years ago? Mr. Foy then devoted some attention to the Provincial finances contending that the Government claims as to supplus could not be verified. He urged greater promptners in the disposal of election petitions. He dealt at some length with the West Elgin election case and the destruction of the ballots claiming that the loss ought to have been armounced before. The scope of the Commission was altogether too limited. Immunity should have been offered to witnesses who would come forward to testify. The instructions had been so framed that the acts of the outsiders who came into the constituency could not be investigated. There was yet an opportunity to rectify this mistake and order a full and proper investigation. order a full and proper investiga

Premier Carrects a Misstatement.

Hon. G. W. Ross correcting a misstatement of the previous speaker said that what he had claimed in regard to the financial situation was that the cash balances in their favor for 1898 and 1899 amounted to $800,000. This was fully borne out by the statement of the Treasurer.

Mr. 5. Clark.

amounted to $800,000. This was fully borne out by the statement of the Treasurer.

Mr. S. Clark.

Mr. S. Clark said that the hon. gentlemen opposite taunted the Administration as being a "pea jacket Government," but they had never had even a monkey jacket. He did not know what on earth the Opposition would have found to talk about if the unfortunate West Elgin occurrences had not taken place. In his own constituency the ballot boxes were opened and votes changed by Conservatives and equally flagrant acts had been perpetrated by the party in other places. Corruption had been ten times as had among the Conservatives and among Liberals, as history would show. Mr. Foy had said there was no demand for a financial commission, but on every platform during the campaign the statement was made that the Government had no surplus. The statements of the Treasurer were not accepted. The Government had taken up the Opposition's challenge and the report of the commission would set the cry that the Government had no surplus forever at rest. He hoped that the Government was not to hoard up money but to expend it judiciously in advancing the public interests and helping those who could not help themselves. He moved the adjournment of the debate.

Letters for Soldiers Postage Free.
Ottawa, Feb. 26.—The Dominion authorities a few days ago cabled the Cape Colony Government, asking if it could not see its way to remit the postage on soldiers' letters. A message was received which is a boon to countless Canadians. It announces that letters to and from soldiers, Canadians and English, now in South Africa, will be postage free.

ROBERTS AND KITCHENER, How the Two Generals Planned Campaign on the Voyage

London, Feb. 26. — I. N. Ford cables The New York Tribune: The conditions under which the new campaign was planned in South Africa by Gen. Roberts and Gen. Kitchener on the voyage to the Cape, are described in a letter from an officer on Gen. Kelly-Kenny's staff, which I have seen. This officer had anticipated seeing something of the two famous generals on the ship, but was disappointed. Gen. Roberts appeared on deck at 6 o'clock every morning, and walked up and down briskly for two hours. Promptly at 8 o'clock he turned to his chief-of-staff with an abrupt can. Gen. Kitchener, alert in response, "Here, sir," was always on hand, and the next moment the conqueror of Omdurman would disappear from the deck and not be, seen again until the next morning at the same early hour. A large cabin had been reserved for Gen. Roberts' use, and there he remained busy day after day with his chief-of-staff, until midnight, with no interruption, except a short intervals for meals, and no visitors, unless members of his staff, were summoned. A short stroll on deck at midnight capped the day's work, and the two generals then turned in. This order was followed day after day until the ship anchored at Cape Town, and the campaign which had been thoroughly discussed and thought out in detail, was opened. been thoroughly discussed at thought out in detail, was opened.

By the same token, the brand counts for much when a fish diet is in question. Many persons have contracted a rooted aversion to some kinds of fish, simply because the quality was not up to the mark. Our customers never find fault—we get the best always.

When the Birds Go North Again,

Oh, every year hath its winter, And every year hath its rain— But a day is always coming When the birds go North again.

When new leaves swall in the forest, And gross springs green on the plain And the alder's veins turn crimson— And the birds go North again.

Oh, every heart has its sorrow, And every heart bath it pain— 1 But a day is always coming When the birds go North again.

Tis the sweetest thing to remember 1f courage be on the wane, When the cold dark days are over-Why, the birds go North again.

Knowlson, assistant in Dr. Walters dental office, had an exceedingly par dental office, had an exceedingly narrow escape from serious injury. While working at the veulcanier, the machine suddenly exploded with tremendous violence, part of it being hurled fore the accident Harry was bending through the ceiling. A moment beit occurred he was only a foot away, directly over the meeting, and when it occurred he was only a foot away. As it was, he was struck by many of the fragments, one eye was princully injured and his face was burned and scarred. Dr. Poole dressed his injuries, and he is now somewhat better, but he may get require treatment.

Lindsay Man in Hard Lnck.

A few days ago a certain north ward young man called on his best girl to spend the evening. When about to re-turn home his conversation chanced to turn home his conversation chanced to hum to art, and the young lady said to him that he reminded her of Venus de Milo, whereupon the young man was delighted, thinking surely it was symmetrical form she alluded to Whem he got home he consulted an encyclopedia, and to his deep chagrin and mortification found that the Venus de Milo had no arms. He went down in the cellar and tried to butt out his brains on a soft cabbage.

There's Room for Improvement.

A writer in the Orillia Packet makes a strong plea for the piling of makes a strong plea for the piling of wood more closely than is usually done. Instead of the buyer paying good money for a lot of large air holes, the wood would be so piled that the holes will be as nearly as possible filled up. He also claims that the pile should be three or four inches higher than four feet to allow for holes between the sticks on the top row. From one-eight to one-fourthd cord is often lacking. Some public system of measuring wood in towns would seem to be one of the necessities of the near future, just as there is a public weigh scales for hay and stock.

There are, however, a large proportion of present day people who quickly give way to its inroads. When Backache or any Kidney trouble occurs, pin your faith to Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. In every place where they have been tested can be found lots of people who express themselves like Wm. C. Orossley, Lindsay, who says:

"My work on the new granolithic side walks is very heavy, and requires a good deal of stooping, as a result I have had considerable Backache and Kidney trouble. I used the bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets I got from A. Higinboth-am's drug store, and they are just the thing. They cured the trouble in short order, and I intend to recommend them to all others suffering in a similar way. They are very easy in action, and that is a great point."

The program was well good, but owing to the stormy night many from the country were unable to attend. The program was well selected and varied. The first number, an instrumental by C. Podger and F. Shannon was well rendered. An instructive address on the, "Early Growth and Development of Canada," was delivered by Dr. Blanchard in his mucal pleasing manner. Those who contributed songs were heartily encored. Messers. J. Hurley and Bert. O'Brien's selections were humorous and thoroughly enjoyed. Miss Ella Brady was all that could be desired, while Miss M. O'Connor, gave entire satisfaction. Miss Jacobs recitation was cleverly delivered. Mr. Wm. Steers' violin solo descrives special mention. The piano selection by Miss M. Daly, and violin and piano instrumental by the Misses Cairns were highly appreciated by all. These young ladies are advancing very fast in music and give promise of great proficiency later on. Mr. Those Brady, sr., favored the audience with a song. Mr. Endy's reputation as a singer is well-known and his selections were much appreciated. Mr. C. Podger added largely to the entratument by giving a choice number of gramaphone selections, which were eagerly listened to. Some of the selections were very humorous and caused much laughter. Mr. M. E. McCauley was chairman for the evening.

The Alternoon Session.

Bow L. S. Hughson opened the session evening in St. Andrew's schoolroom, commencing at 4.46.

The Aiternoon Session.

Rev.L.S. Hughson opened the session with devotional exercises. This was followed by an excellent address by Rev. J. Macfarlane, on "The Bible in the Home and Nation." The bible, he said, was the only book that never grows old, the only book that never grows old, the only book that cannot be mastered, the only book which a man can successfully walk the paths of life and reach the efernal laven; and it is the book to teach the children. The most important day that ever came to England was the oddry when the bible was given to them, and the nation is great that puts the bible into every home. Instit the principles of the bible into the children and they in turn will carry its teachings to their children.

Mr. E. A. Hardy took up the subject, "The Essence of the LE Movement." The first essentials to success of a movement is to ged down to the very heart or essence of things. The first is the relationship—the relationship of the C.E. to the church. It is not a separate society, but a part of the church. Then as to its methods. Daily devotion is necessary; every member must sludy the bible service. There must also be loyally to Jesus Christ, loyally to the church and its pasior. The aim is a special one. You enter service not as a duty, but the cause your wish is "What would He have me do?" The distinction between the S.S. and C.E. is this —it is the business of the S.S. to teach, and the C.E. to train. This address was most helpful and greatly enjoyed.

The Evening Session.

The Evening Session.

Rev. J. Macfarlane took charge of the opening service. During collection Miss Gross sung a solo very acceptably. The President-elect of the C. E. Society, W. A. Leigh, then took the chair, and after a few remarks called on Mr. Yellowice, who gave a profitable address, pointing out the duties of the purents to their children as to religious training, giving the S. S. teacher every encouragement and assistance, and laying special stress on the importance of the work of the S.S. in the development of the minds of the young in the right direction, that their lives may count for something to the world, and to others.

That as a convention we wish to show our sympathy with the work of the Dominion Alliance in the temperance movement, and sincerely hope that the day is not far distant when we shall have a prohibitory law passed in our fair Dominion.

That as a convention we notice with deep regret the grewing evil of eigarette smoking among our young, and would beartily endorse any steps taken for diminuation of this great evil. More of the particulars of the mur-der of our late Bro. Varcoe by two curglars at Toronto in November last, burglars at Toronto in November last, have now come to light. One of the burglers was killed at the time by a police officer, and the other was tried for murder on Jan. 16. The latter volunteered evidence in the case, and testified that both were drunk when the murder was perpetrated. They got their lique at an unicensed place, which is run under the gains of a restaurant. In the first place in the second place, which is run under the gains of a restaurant. In the second place it was l'legal liquer, but when preklibition does no stop illegality it is condemned and its repeal demanded. The same treatment should be meled out to a iccops as to prohibition. We never reach of a single instance where a murder resulted from liquor bought in a prohibition district, but thousands of them are caused by licensed and unlessed liquor where the license system is no force.

The Canadian Royal Templar is a stalwart supporter of British institutions, and believes this war is one for freedom and advancement; but we do not expect to see any; cause prosper, however meritorious it may be, whilst the laws of God are being trampled upon. The contrast between the conduct of the British and Boer armies on Christmas day is most striking from a standpoint of Godliness.

We cannot find in this history of this past that any nation gained lasting victories over an opposing army wherein all the soldiers went to God with this help. If Great Britain wishes to maintain her strength and greatness she will have to experience a change of heart and method, or else, will have to do what no nation has ever yet been able to accomplish, viz: win in the face of God's wrath.

A Quaker's Temperance Lecture.

Several persons, among them a Quaker, were crossing the Alleghany mountains in a stage.

A lively discussion arose on the subject of temperance and the liquor business, and those engaged in it were handled without gloves.

One of the company remained silent. After enduring it as long as he could, he said:

"Gentlemen, I want you to understand that I am a liquor dealer. I keep a public house of ——; but I would have you to know, that I have a license, and keep a decent house. "I don't keep loafers and loungers shout my place, and when a man has enough he can get no more at my bar.

He thought he had put a quietus on the subject and that no answen could be given. Not so. The Qualker said; "Filend, that is tha most damnable part of thy business. If thee would sell to drunkards and loafers, thee would help to kill off the race, and society would be rid of them.
"But thee takes the young, the poor, the innocent and, the unsuspecting, making drunkards and loafers of them."

To the Municipal Council of the County of Victoria;

Gentlemen,—The undersigned, who were appointed at the November session to attend the convention on the invitation of the council of the county of York, had the gratification of being present hearing the addresses and present, hearing the addresses and taking part in the discussions, The attendance was fairly representative of all parts of the province.

Your representatives, in reporting for your information, deem it advis-able to confine themselves largely to able to confine themselves largely to the conclusions reached rather than to set forth their own views on the important subject of conference. The conclusions are as follows:

The common reads are in the high-cst degree important in the develop-ment of a country, socially, commer-cially and industrially, and not until ment of a country, socially, commercially and industrially, and not until they are made and maintained in the most serviceable and efficient manner, does a country realize its full measure of prosperity.

Owing to changed conditions in agriculture and other industrial pursuits, the most improved means of transportation and equipment are now indispensable to the welfare of the country.

Public attention and experience has been so largely directed to other important works, that road improvement has been neglected.

The system employed for the purpose of making roads was well adapted to early conditions, and has performed a serviceable work in the elementary stages of road-making in this province, but owing to the rapid development of the country and of the largely increased demands of travel and transportation, this system has proven unable to cope with the new circumstances, and has not kept pace with progress in all other branches of public service.

with progress in all other branches of public service.

The common roads of the country are a vital part of the means of transportation and it is imperative to adopt means and measures which will bring about their improvement as speedily and economically as possible. We are convinced that the large expenditures of money and labor now being devoted to the work, especially on leading roads, by no means produce consistent results.

Experience has shown that the present methad is not conducive to a proper classification, a uniform and connected system of main roads, equality of taxation and expenditure, the selection of suitable material, the use of modern implements for doing the work efficiently and economically, nor securing that supervision in construction and maintenance essential to economical work.

We are convinced that the system, rather than the lack of means, is responsible for the bad condition of the roads.

rather than the lack of means, is responsible for the bad gondition of the rolds.

Under a county system a portion of the cost of road-building is levied in the county rate against the towns and villages within the municipality for road purposes. At the present time under township systems, the farmers cear the entire cost. All the expenditure thus placed on the roads is spent in the county, and is thus returned in a great measure to those who contributed it in the first place. Under county control a properly organized corps of men can be employed to build and repair roads. As at other employments thay become experienced and do better work, and in the matter of repairs are ready to will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk. if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

Hear Trouble and Doctors Said She Could not Recover—Dr. Williams Pink Fills Have Made Her Sound and Lively as a Cricket

In a comfortable farm home in Sydney, near Belleville, lives Mr.; T.
W. Dox Sater, a prosprous firmer and most respected citizen. In this pleasant home the heard of a father and mother beats with grafitude to Dr.
Williams! Pink Pills, because they firmly believe they saved the life of their little daughter. A reporter of the Sun having leard of the case drove out to Mr. Dox taler's for the purpose of getting at the facts, and found both father and mother, of the little girl very enthusiastic in their praise of the medicine that has unquestionably done so much to relieve suffering in this country. Said Mr.
Dox taler: "Yes, we have good reason for proising Dr. Williams! Pink Pills. I think they are worth ten times their weight in gold. When our little daughter Clara was about eight years old she was stricken with what the doctors said was heart trouble. Up to that time she had heen a strong healthy child. The first symptoms shown were fainting spells, and these would attack her without a moment's warning. We consulted a doctor, under whose care she was for a time, but the treatment did her no good—in fact she was growing worse. (Then we called in another dector and he frankly told us that he could hold out but little hope of her recovery. By this time she was confined to bed, and for three months was as helpless as an infant.
In some of the fainting spells she was actuacked with convulsions. Her expectite seemed entirely gone and she was reduced to a living skeleton. At this time I read the particulars of a cure through the use of Dr. Williams! Pink Pills, which gave me hope, and i determined that our little girl should try them. I first got one box, and when they were used she seemed brighter. Then I got five more boxes and by the time she had finished them she was as sound a child as you could find in the neighborhood, bright and lively as a cricket. She hus been Under every good system of government it is necessary to have responsibility centralized and defined, not ilivided and easily shifted from one to mother, as it is now under the statute labor system.

ing independently of those around it, this will be lost sight of.

There is no community of interest between the townships. In one township there is a certain leading road much travelled and well made and maintained. The adjoining municipality may for various reasons not consider the continuance of that road through it of so much importance as to warrant them in making an expenditure to benefit largely their neighbors, who are obliged to travel over it. Under the county system the large expenditure now made on these main roads will be sufficiently concentrated to undertake durable work, and consequently these roads will be properly constructed, and afterwards maintained at a less cost than at present.

A county road system equalizes.

ed to undertake durable work, and consequently these roads will be properly constructed, and afterwards maintained at a less cost than at present.

A county road system equalizes the cost of maintaining leading roads. In every county within a certain radius of a market town, traffic constantly increases as the town is approached. The cost of construction and maintenance increases in proportion to the traffic. It is unfair to charge those living near the town with the cost of keeping the roads to support the traffic from a distance; so unfair as to cause discouragement and often withdraw support.

Property is very largely valued according to distance from the market, and the convenience with which the market can be reached. Property a long distance from the market. Good roads are therefore of as great value to townships a long distance from the market. Good roads are therefore of as great value to townships a long distance from the market convashing a long distance from the market foot roads are therefore of as great value to townships a long distance from the market of oroads are therefore of as great value to townships a long distance from the market from Judge R. In the some communication it appears to be assumed that the roads, when built should be maintained by the local municipalities. Thus suggestion does not commend itself to your representatives. In their opinion, whoever may be contributors to the cost of building the roads, the countr rims. It was gratifying to your representatives that this matter was deemed worthy of attention, the council of this county having petitioned the legislative assembly in the year 1898 for a comprehensive measure looking in the same direction. The convention was impressed with the statement, that in any event a change must be made in the method of doing road work in the lord municipalities. Sections should be formed, with a commissioner in charge of each, and there should be a definite, uniform and improved plan for doing the work. To make such a change effective, statute labor should be abolished or commetabor should be abolished or commetabor is should be abolished or commetabor is should be made by these commissioner under the direction of a competent superintendent

Snow-shovellers, Beware!

Some people engaged in shovelling snow off the roofs of Kent-st buildings are very careless. The incline is towards their back yards, but rather than be compelled to handle the snow than be compelled to handle the snow a second time they heave it over into Kent-st., and in this way startle many horses. On Friday Mr. Brady's detlivery animal was within an ace of getting away from this cause, and many unfortunate pedestrians have been hit with a shovelful of snow cast over the edge of a three-storey building by some careless shoveler, who thought it a great joke. Next morning Mrs. (Dr.) Burrows was struck while on her way to the post office, and was almost thrown to the ground. The throwing of snow into Kent-st should be prohibited.

Colds are the parent of all ills. It is a mistake to ignore a cold as a trifling ailment. No matter how slight a cold may be there is always danger. Colds are no respecter of persons, and, as with adults, so with children. None are more subject to colds than the little ones, while the probability of more serious results is greater in the cases of children than in grown-up persons. This being the case, the first duty of the parent is to provide for an emergency, and to guard them against every danger. To the mother the little ones look for cherishing and affectionate care, in the full confidence that she will be ever watchful of their health and happiness. The first efficient step, then, to be taken at this season is towards preventing or providing against the dangers that threaten childhood. This is the season when Croup, Sore Thoat, Colds and Influenza abound in all parts of the land. No matter how slight a cold the child may have, it becomes the imperative duty of the parent to adopt prompt measures to prevent any of the maladies described above, and which originate in the first instance by the child catching cold. COLDWATER

Ice is now being gothered from the river and is as good as in past years. The weather has been very cold of late, Saturday and Sunday mornings readings on the thermometer being 12 1-2 and 14 degrees below zero respectively.

A Yankee firm has about 20 men employed in the bush here getting out ship knees, etc., quite a new business in this part.

Hockey matches are still going on. Our boys lost a game with Orillia last week by a score of 8-2, but the way the Orillias played—being so rough and tricky—was not in accordance with rules here. When the ifrst game was played, it was fairly speaking hockey, simple and pure, and the Orilliae were not in it. Last Monday Penetang team played our team—a good square game—and were defeated by a score of 8-3.

vides the Transvaal.

London, March 8. — Lord Roberts rables the War Office as follows:

'Osfontein, March 7. — (4.20 p.m.).—Our operations to-day promise to be a great success. The enemy occupied a position four miles north and eleven miles south of the Modder River. I placed Gen. Colville's division on the north hank, and Generals Kelly-Kenny's and Tucker's divisions, with cavalry, on the south bank. The acvalry division succeeded in turning the enemy's left flank, opening a road for the sixth division, which is advancing, without having been obliged to fire a shot up to the present time. The onemy are in full retreat toward the north and east. They are being closely followed by cavalry, horse artiflery and mounted infantry, while tillery and mounted infantry, while trucker's seventh divisor, Col Ville's ninth division and the Guards' brigade, under Pole-Carew, are making their way across the river at Poplar's Drift, where I propose to place my headquarters this evening. Our casuatties will, I trust, be few, as the enemy were quite unprepared for being attacked by the flank, and having their communications with Bloemfontein threatened."

A Very vaccessful Day.

Midnight.—The War Office has just bublished the following advices from Lord Roberts Poplar Grove, Wednesday, March 7.— (Evening.)—We had a very successful day, and have completely routed the enemy, who are in full retreat. The position which they occupied is extremely strong and culmingly arranged, with a second line of entrenchments, which would have caused us heavy loss, had a direct attack been made. The turning movement was necessarily wide, owing to the nature of the ground, and the cavalry and horse artillery horses are much done up. The fighting was practically confined to the cavalry division, which, as usual, did exceedingly well; and, generally, French reports that the horse artillery batteries did great execution among the enemy.

Casualties About 50.

Our casualties were about 50. I regret to say that Lieut. Keswick was killed and Lieut. Bailey was Severely wounded. Both of the 12th Lancers. Lieut. Decrespigny of the Second Life Guards was severely wounded. Remaining casualties will be telegraphed to-morrow. Generals Dewet and Delarey commanded the Boer forces."

Succeeded at Osfoatelo.

London, March S.—[4 a.m.)—Lord Roberts wired yesterday morning from Osfoatelo and in the evening from Poplar Grove, 14 miles eastward. By an application of the elementary principle of strategy, the Boer positions, 15 miles long across his path, have been emptied, and their holders have been obliged to retire in confusion, consequent upon hasty withdrawals.

Nothing was done by Lord Roberts to disturb the symmetry, the deadly ingenuity of the Boer treuches in front of him. He marched out infantry, estimated from the commands made, at 30,000 men, and sent 10,000 horsemen and horse artillery in a bold sweep around the Boer left, whereupon the Boer centre and right became untenable. Fifty Dritish fell when the cavalry came into contact with the Boers.

The correspondents differ as to the enemy's strength. The Daily Mail's representative thinks the Boers number something more than 4,000. The Daily News' man estimates them at 10,000. As these figures come from observers at headquarters, it is clear that Lord Roberts' force was overwhelmingly superior. He can scarcely have fewer than 45,000 available, as the Guards brigade reached him from Lord Methuen on Tuesday.

Croaps to Gato St. Helena. Cronje to Go to St. Helena.

Cross to Go to St. Belena.

The military authorities have decided that Gen. Cronje and the other Boer prisoners shall be sent 'immediately to the Island of St. Ilelena, there to remain until the end of the war. Lord Roberts has chosen Lord Bathurst, colonel of militia at the front, to command the escort to St. Helena, which was last month placed in cable communication with Cape Town and London: It is also asserted that the Cabinet resolved neither to propose nor to entertain proposals at the present juncture for an exchange of prisoners.

Garrison and Relieving Forces, Garrison and Relieving Forcev.

Durban, March 6. — General Buller, in a general order regarding the relief of Ladysmith, says: "The two forces during the last few months have striven with conspicuous gallantry and determination, and are an honor to the Queen and the country. The Ladysmith garrison for four months held that position against every attack with complete success and endured many privations with admirable fortitude. The relieving force had to force its way through an un-

Loyalty Ever Witnessed in Lindsay
-Rejoicings Continued from Early

That the loyalty of Lindsay citizens is of a robust and enduring quality was demonstrated in convincing fushion Thursday, the news of the relief of Ladysmith being the occasion

When the welcome mesange au-nouncing the relief of the beleaguer-ed city had been confirmed, joy reigned, supreme, and despite the raging bliz-zard and mountains of snow encumber-ing the streets citizens raced about town spreading the great news and ex-tending and receiving congrutul tions. Friend rang up friend on the phone, and Manager Brodie and his staff had and manager Brodie and his stait had a field day, breaking the irecord for one day's connections. In hundreds of quiet households the news was welcomed with expressions of the imost lively satisfaction, the ladies and even the children evincing a patriotic interest in the grand news that was hardly supposed in intensity by the bardly surpossed in intensity by the Atout 10 o'clock flags commenced to appear on our leading buildings, merichents made haste to decorate their store fronts with banners and bright bunting, and the ribbon counters were besieged by hundreds in quest of button-hole knots of patriotic colors. Soon the town bells were set ringing in merry fashion, and deep throated whistles blared out in triumphant acclaim, Mr. Price, foreman of the G.T. R. shops being the first to tie the throated with the first to tie the wind of the noise, now would it have been safe to do so.

Perhaps nowhere wag the great news received with greater joy or more lively proofs of patriotic tendencies than at our schools. A mass meeting was held at the Union school about 10.30, when the scene, was one of the wildest enthusiasm. Short patriotic addresses were delivered by Principal Elarstone, Mr. Hardy and Mr. Armour, and the loyal sentiments expressed were punctured with cheers and shouts of "Rah for Buller!" "General White's a Beauty," "Roberts is after Oom Paul," and like fervid utterances. Studying was out of the question after the meeting, and the boys, receiving permission to disperse, made their way down street and joined the great throng engaged in dispussing the absorbing news of the day.

The members of the Public and Separate school bacrds were hurriedly called together and they at once proclaimed a half holiday for all the school children in the afternoon. Mayor Smyth backed this action up with a proclamation and the afternoon was spent in jollification and preparation for agreat parade and éelevation for agreat parade and éelevation for agreat parade and éelevation for agreat were below zero, the sons was piled up in huge drifts that made even Kents, and the first of the farmal was blowing a gale, yet our townspeople turned out, headles

A SOCIAL GATHERING FRIDAY EVENING.

Members of Lindsay Franch C.M. B. A.
Honor Bro. Kerr with an Address and Presentation.
The C.M.B.A. ball at the foot of Kent-st. presented a beautiful apprarance at 8 o'clock on Friday evening, 2nd inst., when the members of Branch No. 77 assembled to pay their respects to a brother member, Mr. Al J. Kerr, one of our worthy citizens

Kerr, and as his business might necessitate his going away next day, it was decided to make the presentation at conce.

Bro. W. F. O'Boyle then come forward and read the fellowing address:

A. Ji. Kerr, esq., Chancellor Branch No. 77, C. M. B. A., Lindsay, Ont. Dear Sir and Brother,—It was with sincere regret that wap, a short time ago, learned of your intention, to remove to British Columbia, and as the time of your departurs is now, at hand, we the members of the Gatholic Mutual Benevolent Association of Canada, of which you have been a valued member during the past seven years, desire to assure of our god will and best wishes for the future prosperity, of yourself and family in your new home.

Whilst we regret the departure from Lindsay of you and your amiable wife, we trust that your brightest hopes and expectations will soon be fully realized in that part of our fair Dominion whose rich resources are now being developed, and whose scops for the exercise of pluck and enterprise is said to be practically unlimited.

These sentiments, dear brother, are the outcome of our intercourse with you, and are herein expressed in recognition of the deep interest you have always manifested in the welfare of our Society. The calm and dignified, yet unessuming manner in which you addischarged the duties of president and offices to which you were elected, reflected much credit upon you as a gentleman of culture and refinement, and has merited for you the esteem and kind remembrance of every mem. In conclusion, dear brother, we bid you a fraternal furewell, feeling confident that success will be yours, and in token of our respect we would ask you to accept this small gift as a per of our Branch.

In memory of your residence in our midst.—(Signed), Chas Podger, president., V. O'Connor, recording secretary.

memento of your residence in our midst.—(Signed), Chas. Podger, president, L. V. O'Connor, recording secretary.

The gift, consisting of a pendant watch charm—a gem of its kind—was presented by Bro. Steers, on behalf of the Branch.

Mr. Kerr, though visibly affected was very happy in his reply. He thinked his brother members for their flattering address, and only wished that he was really worthy of such prises. Although he had decided to go west with the hope, of bettering his fortune, the happy time spent with the members of Branch No. 77 would be looked back to with unmixed pleasure, and he trusted that the harmony and good will which marked their proceedings in the past would always continue. He regretted leaving Lindsay, too, as the citizens were all that could be desired. He was going by choice, not through necessity, for his business in Lindsay was yearly increasing, but he thought the rising towns of British Columbia offered inducements that are not met with in the older towns of Ontario. In conclusion Mr. Kerr said ha did not covet riches, but if under Providence, fortune should smile on his efforts in the gold fields of British Columbia, there is no place he would rather spend, the evening, of his life than in the town of Lindsay, and be again associated with the members.

The rev chairman thanked Bro. Kerr for his kind expression of regard for the members of the Branch, and for his complimentary reference to the citizens of the town. He next said that speeches were in order, and he would endeavor to give every brother time to speak. All in turn responded to his call. Many of the speakers were humorous and witty, evoking rounds of laughter, but all were less or more sentimental, closing with cordial good wishes for the success of Bro. Kerr, who gratefully acknowledged the same by a cordial response.

The Famine in India.

(To the Editor of The Post.)
Dear Sir, Mhy I, through the clumns of your valuable paper, bring to the remainbrance of the people of Lindsny the great famine in India. We are people, not rich, but willing to bear our share of the burdens laid upon the world.

In a letter received from a lady missionary in India, written on the 19th of Recember are the following ex-missionary in India, written on the 19th of Recember are the following exercits.

We are having a famine, and the water supply is very limited it can't possibly hold out till June. What we are all to do is more than I can tell. The poverty is appalling—even i had no idea of it. The worst of the plague is over, and just now there are only one or two cases daily. The streets are full of dust and we cannot expect anything class, for it would never do to waste the water on them that ought to be saved for drinking. I have been called down status to have flowers but on me and to meet some of my old pupils. I sincerely hope they won't spend their money on me when there are so many people starving, and I have already told them as. Plowers are nice, but they fail to please me when they involve so much soft-sacrifice. Our sussionaries all look tired and worn, and our numbers are greatly reduced. I do hope we may yet have rain, though it is months past the time we expect it, if not, many must lis from starvation. It is something I am sure no one at home can realize. There are already thousands on government relief works, and months of starvation still before us. What shall we do? Would the people of Lindsuy respond to a general call for this purpose if the "Temple of Fame" were to be repeated again with added attractions? If anything better could be presented by the end of April or the beginning of May, please inform the public soon.

Will it be asking too much, "for the good we may do," to insert also the enclosed letters which many of your readers may not have seen.—Yours, etc.,

Rev. R. P. Mackay, secretary of the Presbyterian Foreign Mission Committee, has written as follows relating to the famine in India:

The famine is becoming more and more terrible The Rev. W. A. Wilson, one of our missionaries in Central India, in a letter dated the 21st of Docember says: "We hoped there might be a good rainfall at this season, when in some years there is considerable. But the heavens are as still as braes. A few clouds gathered a week ago, but they trought us no rain, and the villagers who have ploughed the ground and got it ready in hope of jain were unable to sow the seed for winter crop. Hence this is but the beginning of distress, fon six or eight months must still pass before there on be any new food produced in this district.

the first time in a century Cen-ndia has been thus visited. But tral India has been thus visited. But such is the condition of a wast port of of India to-day. It will by remembered that during the famine of 1890 complaints were frequent that funds distributed by native agents were mispopropriated. It was at the same time universally acknowledged that funds administered by missionaries were wisely and carefully expended.

DEVICES TO STIMULATE CHURCH-GOING

(New York Sun.)

That there is actually a decrease in church-going at the present time, as alleged by so many of our correspondents, seems to be indicated by the extraordinary devices now in vogue in many places to induce people to gol to the churches. The managers of trathe churches. The managers of travelling shows are not more fertile in autual advertising shims, and their trickery to excite the popular curiosity is not more sensational, more vulgar and more extehpanny.

Of late we have printed extracts, largely from religious papers, giving descriptions of these devices. They have Included "chicken suppers," the introduction of "lady ushirs," "kigning games," "mock marriages," and no end of other diversions in a similar coils of vulgarity. One of the heaviest tasks imposed on the ingenuity of many pastors and church and Sunday school officials seem to be to rack their brains to get up fresh novelties of this sort in compatition with other churches engaged in concoting original and tarting advertising devices for a like purpose.

The rough horse-play of students and street-idlers may, under ordinary direumstances, he overlooked as of little consequence, but when it takes the form of intimidation of Canadian citizens of another race, it becomes too far-reaching in its effects to be so easily ignored. It is the privilege of the British citizen to fly his fing, or to refrain from flying it, and it is most reprehensible in any body of mon, calling themselves loyal, to under take to interfere, with this liberly. THE REATEST OCEAN DEPTHS.

The United States steamship Nero has been making soundings between Monila and Honolulu in the interest of the cable to connect the United States island ports in the Pacific with Wash ington. The Nero reports the deep-est ocean soundings that have yet been recorded. The exact location of this is not given, but between Guam and M nir a large area has been discovered where the soundings showed 5,260 fathoms (31,560 feet), which is 120 feet fethoms (31,500 feet), which is 120 feet fees than six statute miles. In Nov. last the Nero was reported to have found a depth of 4,900 fathoms about 500 miles east of Guam. All measurements of depths and heights are referred to see level, and the depth now reported is 2,588 feet father best own the level of the sea than the sumple of Mount Everest, the highest know. Part of the world, a above it. The deepest soundings ever made in the waters between Guam and Luxon was 18,785 feet, almost iter-to-cest of the north end of Luxin and not quite half way to the Ladrones, of which Guam is the largest member. While our knowledge of the orean is still very incomplete, soundings have increased in number rapidly within the past fifty years. For purposes of navigation it is necessary, in challow waters, to know depths exactly, and the soundings along all shores visited by vessels are numbered by hundreds of thousands so that it is possible in many places to map the 100-fathom line with a high degree of accuracy. less than six statute miles.

Deep-sea soundings are far less numerous, but probably 25,000 have been made in the past ten years. The records of the British Admiratty show over 10,000 by British atlips alone in that time. They are by far most numerous in the North Atlantic and the south-west Pacific, and contour lines of the ocean bottom may be drawn in those regions with much more confidence than in any other, part, of the seas.

THE STARVATION PLAN

Of Treating Dyspepsia and Stomach Trouble is Useless and Unscientific.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure for dyspepin has been proven time and again, but even now a course of dieting is generally, the first thing recommended for a case of indi-gestion or any stomach trouble. Many people with weak digestion, as well as some physicians, consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigestion in to restrict the diet, either by selecting certain foods and rejecting others or to cal down the amount of food enten to barely enough to keep body and soul together, in other words the starvation plan is by many supposed to be the first essential.

is by many supposed to be the first essential.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting to a man already suffering from starvation because indigestion itself starves every organ, herve and fibre in the body.

What people with poor digestion meet need is abundant nutrition, plenty of good, whole-come, properly cooked food, and comething to assist the weak stomach to digest it.

This is exactly the purpose for which Start's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted and the true rearon why they cure the worse cases of stomach trouble.

adapted and the true reason why they cure the worse cases of intemach trouble.

Ent a sufficient amount of wholescome food and after each meal take one or two off Stuart's Dyspepsia Tabletw to promptly digest it.

In this way the system is nourished and the overworked stomach rested, because the tablets will digest the food whether the stomach works or not, one grain of the active digest's principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets being sufficient to digest a,000 grains of meat, eggs or other albuminous fcol. Dr. Harlandson and Dr. Radwell recommend, these tablets in all cases of defective digestion because the pepsin and disclass in them are inbsolutely, free from animal matter and other impurities and being pleasant to the baste are as safe and barmless for the child as for the adult.

All druggiels sell this excellent preharation and the daily use of them after meals will be of great benefit, not only as an immediate relief, but to permanently build up and invigorate the digestive organs.

HUTTON VS HUGHES.

(Mail and Empire, Feb. 27th.)

Sir.—Don't you think we have had enough of the Hutton v. Hughes matter? Have we any grounds for believing that the government would have given Colonel Sam Hughes a position on the first Canadian Contingent had not General Hutton interfered? Have we any grounds for believing thit General Hutton did interfere, and if he did, were his reasons for so doing not good and sufficient? He was perfectly capible of judging Colonel Hughes' military qualifications and thillities. Colonel Sam Hughes is not the only officer of the Canadian milital that was refused a position on the Contingent. I know one colonel, a man equily as good as Colonel Hughes who applied for a lieutenancy three times and was refused. Colonel Sim Hughes wanted a majority. Other officers of my acquaintance sent in applications for both first and second Contingents, and got onthing, and, soldier, like, they stil nothing about t. None of the size of a little cheap advertising Had they been tlessed with a little of that "cheek" which is such a marked characteristic of some others, they might have intruded and forced a passage to South Africa, but it would be neither soldierly nor gentle-manly.

This Hughes motter has received too much attention. His brother, in a leiter in your columns not fong ogo thanks the people of Canada, for the alerest they have taken in it. Mr. Mr.Cleary, M.P., also tells us "that everyone knows Colonel Hughes to be a patriot." Not one-tenth of the people of Canada took any interest in the matter or ever heard of Colonel Hughes until this free advertising was started. Mr. McCleary also tells us that "Colonel Hughes would have been given a position on the first Contingent had not General Hutton interfered." Has Mr. McCleary any grounds for making this statement? I think I am safe in saying that General Button carries with him from Canada, the entire respect and confidence of nine-tenths of the militia officers in Canada. His departure is a sad blow for the Canadian militia. We are sorry, not that he rejected Colonel Sam Hughes, but that he has left us.—Yours, etc.,

THE SMALLPOX OUTBREAK.

The Toronto papers of yesterday report another case of smallpox in that city. This is not to be wondered at when the outbreak at Toronto Junction a few weeks ago is remembered. That the whole country is not sown with its horrible contagion is proof of the efficient work of the Provincial Board of Health, which took the matter in hand as soon as the existence of the plague at the Junction became known outside of the local profession. known outside of the local profession, who, with admirable "local patriotism," tried to cure it "on the quiet."

tried to cure it "on the quiet."

This desire not to hurt the town is not confined to the Junction. In a Spokane, Wash., paper of the 20th of of Feb., we find an editorial complaining of their beard of health alarming the public by a "a too drastic measure" requiring the general vaccination of everybody. It says the smallpox situation in this city has bettered immensely in the last fortnight. The number of cases has been reduced until it now stands below 50. What must it have been vefore it began to be bettered!"

Our neighbors at the south are in a bad way, just now in this respect. It is not to the credit of any civilizated community to have such a record as schewn by the item below, which we clipped from a late number of the New York Evening Post. It will be observed that all the States named in this item are on this side of the Rocky Mountains, while Spokane is almost 1, e00 miles from the nearest of the States reported as infected on the 1st of Feb; smallpox in this Country.

Smallpox in this Country.

Smallpox in this Country.

The fear that the present winter would witness a severe outbreak of smallpox has been realized in some of the Western States. In Indiana, Kentucky, Mississipp and Utah and In Oklohoma Territory the disease has been epidemic for weeks past, while in some other states in that neighborhood it exists in a milder form.

In Kentucky smallpox prevails in thrity-five counties, and in Caldwell country about half the population is said to be sick with the disease. It is constantly growing more virulent, and the percentage of deaths is large. In Indiana it is spreading rapidly and in eight counties it has been found in eight counties it has been found anecessary to fumigate the mails. The disease prevails to such an extent among the Cherokee Indians and in the neighboring territory of Oklohoma that the Kanssa authorities have established a quarantine along part of the border line. There are 4,000 cases in Mississippi, and in Utah the disease is so widespread that all the schools are being closed.—Philadelphia Press.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The authorities of the University of Michigan are talking of teaching po-litical economy to the students. That might be a good idea, if the teachers were free to teach the truth. But how long, think you, would the trusts and protected interests tolerate the protected interests tolerate the teaching of theories that set them be-fore the students as dangerous to the

The largest foreign trade totals of any year under toryism were re-corded in 1893, when it reached $217,-000,000. If the Tigures of the last six months of the current year are equal to those of the expired six months the total for 1900 will be $159,000,000 greater. A gain of nearly 65 per cent over the best year of the "ominpotent" government is not bad.

The misguided students had only left

COST OF THE WAR.

dr Michael Bicks-Boach Explained Bis

London, Murch 6. — The House of Commons was crowded yesterday, and all the public gallerles were througed, in anticipantion of the budget statement. The return of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, introducing the budget, shows that an expenditure of $154,082,000 has to be provided for in the budget of 1900-1901. The same account of 1899-1900 would have given a sarphus of upwards of $5,000-000, but that the supplementary war estimates of $28,000,000 make the expenditure exceed the revenue by $17,770,000.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, af-axpenditure oxceed the revenue by £17,770,000.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, after laying the figures before the House, pointed out that the country had to face a total estimated exposition, in consequence of the war, no less than six times as much as had been estimated in October last. He explained the various reasons which led to the early introduction of the budget, including "a desire to afford both our adversaries and foreign critics proof of our earnestness in the work in which we are ougaged."

He asked the taxpayers to subscribe to the cost of the war by an increase of the income tax to one shilling in she pound, which would produce an additional £6,500,000; he also proposed that the stamp duties on stock exchange contract notes be extended to the sales on the produce exchange; that beer duties would be increased to a shilling a barrel of 36 gallons, and that there, would be increased to a shilling a barrel of 36 gallons, and that there would be increased to a shilling a barrel of sixpence per pound, foreign eigars sixpence per pound, foreign eigars sixpence per pound, and to the total contract of the proposed to save £4,640,000 by suspending the sinking fund in relation to certain terminable annuities. He proposed to borrow the rest of the necessary funds.

A total of £43,000,000 had to be raised, of which £3,000,000 was now in the Treasury, and £25,000,000 would be raised by bond or stock, payable in a term not exceeding ten years.

Heart Humbug

It is fashionable to-day to have a new heart scare every 24 hours. The commonest symptoms of dyspepsia or nerve trouble, such as palpitation, weak spells, loss of appetite, and poor circulation, are magnified and distorted into serious signs of heart trouble, with the object of frightening the public into taking this or that heart remedy. If a hundredth part of the heart trouble we hear about were real, the cemeteries would be filled in a month. A wrong construction is put upon common ailments in order to humbug the people into the belief that heart disease is prevalent, whereas real heart trouble, which is so sadly and suddenly fatal when it does occur, is a rare disease. Lopsided arguments cannot convince an intelligent people. Iron is the vital element of the blood. THE TRENT VALLEY, CANAL.

The wonderful energy and rapidity with which various lines of communication are being advocated and built from West and East through Canada has a deeper significance than may appear on the surface.

has a deeper significance than may uppear on the surface.

The granting by the Federal government of large sums of money towards the construction of both the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways was no haphazard giving of the people's money, but with a farseeing eye the various governments, who have had to do with the matter, to the possibilities off the future.

The construction and the recent deepening and improvement of the Welland and St. Lawrence Canals is also a part of the general scheme of cheap and rapid inland transportation None of the works referred to have as yet paid back to the people a tithe of the sums spent upon them. Several other important schemes of a similar nature are now being advocated, all of which are likely to be carried out. The Port Hope route from Rice lake to Lake Ontario government has in hand a project for retimbering vast areas of the work as penditure of further sums of money upon the work. It has been called by its opponents an "election machine" for carrying doubtful considiuencies, and various other hard names, but just as surely as the work is completed (which is hoped will be in less than five years) just as surely will it be seen taxed to its ulmost capacity, carrying its quota of the products of the forest, field and mine to the mark kets of the world. The Trent Walley Canal having had a large amount of work done on it, should receive the work should be adopted and pushed to a rapid conclusion.

The Ontario government has in hand a project for retimbering vast areas of Crown land which are not suitable for agriculture. Several reserves of 610 cover land which are not suitable for agriculture. Several reserves of the wind have already been made, to which 3,000,000 acres in the Nipissing district were recently added.

The Port Hope route from Rice lake to Lake Ontario, presenting as it does a great saving in distance, and time, as well as being by far less costly, should be chosen by the government in preference to the longer und more expensive route via Trenton. Another consideration of the greatest importance is the fact that thus same amount of effort that would be necessary to construct the proposed Trenton end of the can'l would build the Port Hope end in less than half the time. The sooner the canat is finished the sooner will the people of Canada reap the beneficial results of the immense traffic that will without doubt be bourne on its tide to the scaboard.

It may be asked why this haste in spending so much money in preparing highways for a trade which is not at present apparent.

It does not require any great amount

On several occasions The Post, through its columns, has pointed out how much the prosperity of Lindsay depends on being first in the field for the tourist trade which the Grand out back lakes. The same development has taken place to even a greater extent during the same period in the States of Michigan, to the present owner of the hotel site Misconsin, Minnesota, Dakota and Montana, lying just south of the international boundary in the United States, the greater bulk of which is carrying out a scheme which could not fail to be of the greatest local bene all that is necessary to be done is to provide the required lines of trans portation, with other needed conveniences for the trade, and as sure as anything human can be, this huge traffic is going to flow Ahough our own country and provines to scabaird at Montreal, Quebec, Sydney, St. Johns or Halifax.

special train pulled out about 7 p.m., going via Lorneville, with about forty, of the members. The train was in charge of Conductor Pethick and Brakesman Spier. At Lorneville a large number from Woodville lodge embarked.

On arrival at Beaverton about 8 o'clock, the excursionists were met at the station by a large deputation of brethren, and were escorted to the handsome lodge rooms, the Beaverton LLOF, band heading the procession. The visiting brethren were heartily welcomed, and were joined shortly afterward by Mrnilla, Sunderland and Cannington lodges.

After the usual preliminaries had been got through with, the Lindsay degree team were given charge for the purpose of conferring degrees, when fourteen candidates—representatives from various lodges—were made fulfledged Oddfellows.

After the closing of the lodge the party repaired to Alexandria hall, a comfortable and spacious room, which was handsomely decorated with fings and banners. The tables were uicely arranged and tempting refreshments were served up in fine style, being looked after by am able staff of lady waiters, presided over by Miss Hamilton. The chairman, Mr. Grant, assisted by Mr. T. E. Godson, barrister, and Mr. McMillan, had prepared a long toast list, and speakers, songs and recitations were in order until the "wee sma' hours." Mr. McLeod, of Cannington, and Arthur Waite, of Lindsay, proved very interesting entertainers, displaying much wit.

After heartily singing "God save the Queen" the crowd wended their way to the train, reaching Lindsay, some hours before daylight.

Tit for Tat.

"The brass upon your cheek," he said, "Would make a two quart skillet!"
"Your honor's head," the girl replied, 'Has say enough to fill it!"

London, March 1. — The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Buller "Hendquarters, Hinngwane, Feb. 28. — (5 u.m.) — Finding that the passage of Langewacht's spruit was commanded by strong entrenchments, I reconnoitered for another passage of the Tugela. One was found for me below the cataract by Col. Sandbach, Royal Engineers, on February 25th. We commenced making an approach there to, and on February 26th, finding that I could make the passage practicable, I crossed the guns and baggage back to the south side of the Tugela, took up the pontoon bridge on Monday night, and relayed it at the new site, which is just below the point marked Cataract. During all this time the troops had been scattered, crouching under hastily-constructed small stone sheleers, and exposed to a gailing shell and ride fire, and throughout they maintained the most excellent spirits. "Thesday Gen. Barton, with two battalions of the sixth brigade and the Dublin Fusiliers, crept about a mile and a half down the banks of the river, and ascending an almost precipitous zlifi of about five hundred feet, assaulted and carried the top of Pieter's hill. This hill to a certain extent turned the enemy's position, which was magnificently carried by the South Lancashire Regiment about sunset. We took about sixty prisoners, and scattered the eacury in all directions.

prisoners, and scattered the enemy in all directions. "There seems to be still a considerable body of them left on and under Bulwana mountain. Our losses, I hope, are not large. They certainly are much less than they would have been were it not for the admirable manner in which the artillery was served, especially the guns manned by the Royal naval force and the Natal naval volunteers."

Paardeberg, Tuesday, Feb. 27.— (3 a.m.).—The British camp was awakened by the continued rattle of rifle fire at daybreak and the news arrived that the Canadians, while building a trench quite close to the ememy, had been fusiliaded at a range of 50 yards. The Canadians gallantly worked forward and occupied the edge of the trenches along the river, entirely enfilading the Boers. This movement was followed by a cessution of the fire, except for an occasional shot. Suddenly a regiment stationed on the crest of a hill perceived a white flag and burst into cheers, thus first announcing the surrender of Gen. Cronje
Shortly afterwards a note reached Lord Roberts, bringing tidings of the Boers' unconditional surrender. Gen.
Prottyman was sent to accept the surrender.

On Gen. Prettyman's right rode an elderly man, clad in a rough, short overcoat, a wide brimmed hat, ordinary tweed trousers and brown shoes. It was the redoubtable Cronje. His face was burned almost black and his curly beard was tinged with gray.

Lord Roberts was surrounded by his staff when Gen. Prettyman, addressing the field marshal, said "Commandant touched nis hat in saluts and Lord Roberts saluted in return. Two Victims of Ningara, Buffalo, March 5. — Two men carried down the Niagara River Bufalo, March 5. — Two men were carried down the Ningara River on a cake of ice on Saturday night and drowned by the tilting of the cake, which plunged them into the water. Two boys reported to the police that they saw a cake of ice with two men up it float down stream beyond the northern boundary of the city. They say one man rose up, and, as he did so, the cake of ice tipped up, and both men slid off and fell into the river. The Buffalo and Fort Erie ferryman heard their cries for help.

The story of the boys is now discredited, and it is thought there was only one victim, and that he was Ashton Smith, 27 years old, son of Rev. H. A. Smith, Fort Erie, Ont, who started to row over to Buffalo in a rickety boat on Saturday and has not since been heard of.

Lord Lansdowne chose the psychological moment to announce estimates exceeding £81,000,000, or rather startled the public, unfolding the programme of the War Office to send out, in addition to the 30,000 troops now affort, 55,000 fresh soldiers,

Lord Roberts has surprised observors by the excellence of his transport during the first advance, and he is likely to do so again, although military men here think he must wait for some days before going much farther.

London, March 3. — The Evening Standard, in its account of the engagements in which the Royal Canndian Regiment participated previous to Gen. Cronje's surrender on Tuesday morning, says. "The Canadians advanced a quarter of a mile in dead silence, then halted, the order being sont along the ranks by each man sent along the ranks by each man pressing the hand of his neighbor. They behaved splendidly, and combined steady gallantry with an implicit obedience to orders."

Found the Enemy In a Strong Position Near Dordrecht.

Dordrecht, Cape Colony, Sunday, March 3. — (9 a. m.) — Cen. Brabant's colonial division, after a anight's march, is now attacking the Boers in a strong position at La Buschagne's Nek, on the road from Dordrecht to Jamestown.

Later—The engagement is proceeding with great vigor, and the Boers are gradually retiring before the British shell fire from three positions. A heavy fire is being exchanged, where the British are engaging the Boers on the right flank. So far the Boers have no big guns in action.

Evening—Gen. Brabant's advance to-day was most satisfactory. After marching and bivoucking over night, the force reached the strong entrenched positions, which they occupied and now hold, the Boers being on the opposite hill. The British will remain to-night in the captured positions, although the Boers brought two guns into action and made determined efforts to retake them. The British losses are 6 killed, 18 wounded.

London, March 5. - The War Of-fice intimated Sunday midnight that Ace intimated Sunday midnight that there was no prospect of news until something definite shall have been done. This is quite in keeping with the complete silence which Lord Roberts has hitherto observed while his plans were in progress of accomplishment; and until he is in actual grip with the Boers it is probable that the public will hear little or nothing of his doings.

THE BOER CAPITALS

Defeaces the Boers Have Reared at Bloomfontein and Pretoria.

Defences the Boers Have Reared at Bloemfontein and Fretoria.

Pretoria is the objective point which Gen. Lord Reberts has in view. Bloemfontein is on his direct route to the Transval capital and is also an important prize which he hopes to soize on his journey. It remains to be seen how effectively the Boers will rentest his efforts to capiture, these cities. Bloemfontein stands all exposed on the high plain or veldt, with no natural barrier to the west between it and the advancing British forces. The surrounding country is dry and unfertile. Stones thickly strew the plain or veldt, with no natural barrier to the west between it and the advancing British forces. The surrounding country is dry and unfertile. Stones thickly strew the plain outside the town and olumps of grass and low bushes somewhalt relieve the monetony of the almost level plain. In the town are many trees that partly hide from view most of the low, white buildings forming the larger part of the city. The official residence of the President is a fine building, but it is only two stories in height, with room enough above, under its hip roof, for an expansive attic. No gunner outside the town can make it his special target. The capitol, on the contrary, has an imposing tower than this building with two or three schools and other structures similarly adornact, are the only edifices that attract attention as the city is approached from the direction whence the British forces are commune.

The direction recession recession coming.

A little stream, at times almost wajess, flows through the city on its constructed long ago, during the period of their serious differences with the British government.

We have only recently heard that the Boers built an eluborate system of earthworks for the defence of their town, but very little information on this matter has come ito hand. There is every reason to suppose that the old fortifications on the ridge and the kopie have been placed in the most effective condition possible. If the Boers of the Free Stute intend to make a hard struggle to keep their capital, the guns on the ridge may be used advantageously to keep the British from closely approaching the town; but with guns of equal range the British may easily throw shells juto the town and be out of reach of the cannon on the ridge behind it. In brief, the line of defence around Bloemfontein must be mainly a system of earthworks such as those that kept the Boers out of Kimberley during the seige of mearly four months.

The conditions are very different at Rimberley during the seige of meanly four months.

The conditions are very different at Pretoria. Nature and science have made the capital of the Transvatia very strongly fortified town. Unless the Boers have had enough war by the time the British come within view of the hills around Pretoria, there is little doubt of their ability to make a stern fight at the capital. The hills that hem in Pretoria on all sides are crowned with several forts of much strength, all built under the expert advice and direction of European military engineers. Two of these forts were completed in 1894 and 1895, and five of them have been built since the Jameson raid. They command every approach to the city. It may perhaps be unfortunate fon the Boers if the British are acquainted with the details of these forts, and it is said that complete plans of them were in possession of the British War Office before the war began. There was a great deal of mystery about the work but according to British authority two English engineering officers worked as navvies in order to get an opportunity. great deal of mystery about the work but according to British authority two English engineering officers worked as navvies in order to get an opportunity thoroughly to acquaint themselves with the construction and plans of the fo-ts; and information was also obtained from other sources. However this may be, the British have no doubt that the forts were elaborately and strongly constructed. They are all alike in the chief external features. They were built of masonry, with carthworks on the outer faces, and their armament includes much heavy ordanance and all the fifteen centimetre Creusot and rapid-fire gung that the Boers desire to place in position. The London Daily Mail, in some recent appreciative remarks on these footifications, said.

The forts are certainly claborately furnished with all the requirements of modern warfage. Plues of sandbags are stacked up to the level of the enclosing wills. A power searchlight in each fort is capable of sweeping the surrounding country for many mices. Telephones are laid between the forts and the government buildings in Protoria. There are large stocks of methoc famile; rendy for the eventuality of a siege. There is said to be more communications by means of anderground passages between the forts and the ammunition stores and anagazines. Lastly, it is presumed that the approaches to the forts are mined in and the ammunition stores and magazines. Lastly, it is presumed that the approaches to the forts are mined in various directions. Events will show whether the forts were despoiled of their armaments to meet the needs of the Boer cause in their investment of Ladysmith. Kimberley, and Mafeking. For all that is known to the vontrary, every yen that was mounted around Pretoria is still in position, and there is no reason to doubt that this beautiful little city among the hills is prepared to stand a prolonged siege.

"What did the minister do when you inadvertently dropped the buckshot in the plate?" asked one Kentuckian.
"He was vary much annoyed," said the other. "He looked at me severely and said that this was a church collection, not a campaign contribution."

THE CANADIANS' PART.

By Their Courage and Dash They Have Won the Admiration of the Whole British Army.

When the Admiration of the Whole British Army.

Paardeberg, Orange Free State, Feb. 27, by courier to Kimberley, Feb. 28.— Yesterday was a glorious day for the Canadian soldiers here. By their gallant conduct they have earned the admiration of the whole army, and the commendation of Lord Roberts himself. The name Canadian is now a synonym for bravery, dash, and courage. For days the column, 30,000 strong, have been drawing the lines closer around the langer of Cronje's army.

The advance was made by sapping along the banks of the Modder River. The brigade commanded by General Smith-Dorrien, in which were the Canadians, occupied positions on the west bank of the river. The trenches of the Canadians extended four hundred yards on the river bank to the east, facing those of the enemy, and six hundred yards in advance of Gordon Highlanders, in trenches on the left fank, while the Shropshires were on the left front, facing the enemy's langer. This was the position of affairs last night, when the Canadians were ordered to advance and build new trenches closer to the Beer lines.

C. D. E and F Companies accordingly advanced at three o'clock in the morning, the two lines extending along the river for four hundred yards in front of the enemy's langer. This first line had fixed beyonets, while the second line carried shovels and picks.

B Company was held in reserve, with 6 and 1 Companies as sure while the second line carried shovels and picks.

B Company was held in reserve, with G and H Companies as supports. The line advanced within fifty yards of the enemy's trenches in dead silence, when they met a most tremendous fusiled from the unscen foe. The most admirable discipline prevalled. The men, obeying their instructions, fell on their faces to avoid the fire, and remained silent. Not a shot was fired, until the Shropshires' left flank poured volleys into the enemy. The Canadians then retired to the trenches they had occupied on the previous day and remained there until daylight, having checked the Boers' advance.

The companies mentioned in the foregoing cable as being engaged were located in Canada as follows: O Company, of Toronto; D Company, of Kingston and Ottawa; E Company, of Montreal; F Company, of Quebec; B Company, of London; G Company, of St. John; H Company, of Halifax.

Roberts is delighted with the spien-did work of the Canadians, and says that their gallant, plucky charge forced the surrender of the enemy. Lord Roberts Adresses Canadians, Panrichery, Feb. 28. — It appears that an action was about to begin with the Boer reinfarcements at the moment of Gen. Cronje's surrender, but Lord Roberts forbade it until all the prisoners should be in safe keeping.

Lord Roberts addressed the Canadians afterwards, expressing in the strongest terms his pleasure and appreciation of their spleadid work and courage. He attributed to them the greatest share in the Boer surrender.

Toronto, March 2. — Globe Special from Mr. Frederick Hamilton, dated Moudder River, March 1.—Pardeberg Prift, Feb. 28. — It is admitted on all sides that the attack made on the enemy's trenches by the Royal Canadians yesterday morning helped materially to force the surrender of Cen. Cronie. The whole regiment did splendidly, but 6 and H Companies excelled all others in the work of building the advanced trenches under a heavy fire. Their casualties, as a consequence, bear a heavy proportion to the total. After Gen Cronje's surrender Gen. Lord Roberts addressed the troops, and specially complimented the Canadians on the share they had borne in the achievement of the victory.

London, March 3. — The Standard correspondent says that the Canadians at Peardeberg on Tuesday advanced in two long lines, the front rank with fixed bayonets and the rear rank with fixed bayonets and the rear rank with their rifles slung, and carrying picks and spades to dig trenches. under cover of darkness. The Canadians advanced a quarter of a mile in dead silence, then halted, the order being rent along the ranks by each man pressing the hand of his neighbor. It is believed that trenches were actually being dug when the men were ordered to advance another five paces.

A fearful fushade at once broke out from the Boer lines. The Canadians threw themselves on their faces and made no attempt to return the fire. Three minutes later, under orders, they returned to their original position, rapidly and silently, no shot being fired. The Boers were unable to place their enemy. But for the great intensity of the enemy's fire, the Canadians would have entered the Boer trenches. As it was, they combined splendid gallantry with implicit obedience. The Boers aimed too high to do much damage, but that does not lessen the credit due our men for their great self-control.

A militia general order will probably be Issued to-morrow, giving the scheme for the organization of the Regiment of Royal Canadian Infantry to garrison Halifiax. The recruits will need to have served at least one year in the active militia of the country and will probably be enlisted for a year, with a further optional service of another year. The company will be that of the Royal Canadian Regiment of Infantry, while serving in Canada, that is to say, the privates will draw 40 cents a day and the other ranks in preportion. The full strength of the new regiment, which will be received in all parts of Canada, will be 1,000 officers and men. The uniform will be similar to that of the Royal Canadian Regiment. Successful Co-operative Concern.

The Farmers' Binder Twine Co., at Brantford, Limited, is out with prices on binder twine for the harvest of 1930. The record of this Company has been something remarkable and only goest o demonstrate that with good management these farmer organization chart there has been good buying of raw material. True, they have declared large dividends to their absorbed ers feer years past. This however, has not been made by advancing prices on binder twine, as in 1838 they placed the factury's entire output on the market at 7 1-le. a lb., while others were charging 14 and 15c. a lb. The Company has been wild be handled and, their funds, judiciously invested, on which large profits have accumulated and hern divided with their thousands of sm. it's tockholders. It's to be exteringly regretted that every farmer in this Domnion did not have at less one or two share in this co-operative movement. It was offered to them very freely for years at par, they evidently treated it with scepticism and indifference, however, and are now regretting that their neighbors are getting the benefit of it and, they are left. It is now absolutely essential if the farmers are to continue to benefit from this organization, that they give it preference in their twine purchases against all comers. It would be a very easy matter to export the Campany's entire output or band it over to the opposition at almost any price if they were prepared to be disloyed to the agriculturists of this country.

shop next door, and at once ran to the market and sounded the alarm belt.

In the meantime Mr. and Mrs Lukey were aroused by their little son Roscoe, who complained of the smoke. Mr. Lukey ran down stairs, only to find that the rear end of the barbor shop, adjoining the dining-room, was on fire and blazing fiercely. When he retraced his stepa upstairs the smoke had became so bad that Mrs. Lukey and his five children were gasping for breath, and they, were obliged to leave the house by the rear door in a half-clothed state.

By this time Driver O'Neill and his mate, Fireman Cotey, had a line of hose laid, but several hydrants were found to be slightly, frozen and some delay took place. Mr. Bigble was telephoned for and was soon at work thinking them out. Then when water was turned on the pressure was found to be poor and the man at the pumphouse was called by 'phone without effect. Only a few of the firemen heard the bell, and as the automatic ahrm had not been sounded those having gongs in their houses sonred contentedly until Policeman Reeves pulled a box. Mr. Grandell, captain of the brigade, did not hear about the fire until next morning. It was nearly an hour after the fire, was discovered before the brigade was in proper trim for fighring it.

Luckily there was no wind, and though the building was frame the deep snow on the roofs of the adjoining buildings effectually protected them from flying sparks. At line of hose poured water through the front, and a second line was carried through levent's rectaurant to protect the rear. In this way the fire was kept under control and prevented from spreading to the frame building, and his insurance on it and the contents. It appears to be the intention of the council to make further changes unless the cause for certain complaints are avoided in the future.

Mr. Vincent was born in Cornwall, England, in the year 1830, and came to Conda while a young man, living for Soile years in Darlington and Maripolea, where he still has many friends. He removed to Ingoldsby some twenty-five years ago and succeeded in improving a nice little farm and building a comfortable home. He appeared in his usual health up to Wednesday of lost week, when he was taken, ill with inflammation of the lungs, and although medical skill was procured at once he only lingered till Sun-lay afternoon, when in the triumphs of a faith in God, he passed away. Of these four daughters are married, viz., Mrs. John Connors, of Little Britain; the son, Mr. Thomas Vincent, has a situation with Messrs. Young & Soward, Minden. All were at the father's bedside, and soothed his last movements with filial care. The funeral was largely attended and was most impressive. Rev. P. H. It was caused by the breaking of the rear truck of a wood car, the third back from the baggage car. The wheels from the baggage car. The wheels the truck, but remained in position under the car, gripping the sides of the rails so closely as to cut the heads off all the figh-plates bolts on Luft-a-mile of track, but leaving ties and tracks uninjured. Conductor Tobbitt and Driver Clarke pushed on to Gelert, from which point a message on to Gelert, from which point a message train, and a coach and baggage cor. The auxiliary train, and a few minutes later Conductor Jobbitt made ag extart for Lindsay, arriving here at 12.15. A rumor was in circulation that morning that Driver Rulph Clarke had been seriously injured, as a result, of the run-off, and his safe arrival was a consolation to his many friends.

On account of the very heavy snow storm and blizzard which raged all day March 1st, and caused huge drifts, the storm and blizzird which raged, all day March, ist, and caused huge drifts, the traffic on the G.H.R. was beriously impeded. The regular train for Coboconk, leaving at 0.30 in like evening, was cancelled, and as a consequence Conductor Greaves and his crew. were compelled to spend the night in lown. The Port Hopedrain, pulled by two engines, arrived about 20 minutes late. A snow plough was despatched to clear the line to Belleville, leaving here at an early hour on Friday. The Toronto mixed, via Lorneville, was also fadly delayed, having on Wednesday morning encountered a huge snowbank near Stouffeille Junction on her return trip, and was over soven hours late. She was also several hours behind time next morning. The express from the cest Thursday night, due at 8, did not get through until 11.15.

He was standing watch in hand guaging the speed of the circular carriage, and, he noticed that when the other machinery noticed that when the other machinery was temporarily disconnected the earriage ran faster. at Deseronto, and a few, weeks later 150 h.p. engine was shipped to Lindsay.

Mr. James Growden and other workmen have been busy for the past tendays preparing the foundation for the new engine north of the present power house. The present boiler power is ample for the supply of the new engine, which will furnish power for the two shingle machines, the old power being reserved for the circular carriage and o far machinery. The drag and splitting saws have been removed to new quarters north of the shingle mill, on the ground floor—a much more convenient location. The blocks, when sawn, will be conveyed to the shingle machines by an overhead carrier.

The mill will be improved in other ways before cutting commences, and It is confidently expected that the output for the coming season, in all departments, will cel pas all past records. Mr. Beker is getting out a vast stock this season. As deliveries by farmers have been small owing to lack of snow up to a week ago, a camp of 22 men has been put in a cedar swamp near Bobcaygeon, and two other camps and three jobbers are cutting at other points along the lakes. This stock will be rushed to town as soon as navigation opens, and will keep the mill going until the drives from the north arrive. Cutting will probably begin early this month.

His head got so sore that we put a night cap on him, and folded a white cloth four thicknesses inside of it, and just through the night a kind of matter would core out from his head, scaked through the cloth and cap and on to the pillow. The top and back of his head was almost a solid sore, and looked so bady as almost a solid sore, and looked so bady sa throw yould and back of his head was almost a solid sore, and looked so badly that words would not describe it. Almost in despair I told my wife I had seen CUTICULA REMIRIES advertised and recommended very highly and I was going to try them. I bought the CUTICULA RESOLVENT, CUTICULA SOAP, and CUTICULA Ointment. We gave him half of the Resolvent, used part of the cake of Soap, and before we had used the second box of CUTICULA Ointment he commenced to get better, and is now as the second box of CUTICURA Ointment he commenced to get better, and is a now as well and hearty as anybody's boy. Liquor and the Contingents

Listen to this extract from a published letter of Dr. H. G. Burrie, the young Y.M.C.A. sceretory sent with the First Canadian Contingent. Dr. Burrie's praises have been lou. Jly sung by the men in their home letters. Writing from the deek of the Sardinan on the outward voyage he says; "It think it one of the most crying shames that our "christian" public is sending men on such a soleum orrand and has lended down the, ship with tobacco and strong liquors which are free to the man, alt the discretion of the officers. On the other hand there is not a free temperance drink to be had. Thick for instance the officers mess; at every mesh there are decenters of liquon on the tables free to all, with as many eigars and eigarctics as one can smoke; but when a few of us want a drink of soda water we pay fifteen cents per bottle. Many a man has taken his first drink during these days. However, since we have enicred the hot weather this form of "rations" has been more or less restrained and lime juice substituted. From Haiffax, Mrs. Edith Archibard, vice-press of the Dominion, and president of the Olivy Union, writes: "My heart has been nearly broken over the Canteen evil here. There men for the most contingent are at Willow Park. A city cuterer was providing liquor at the restaurant there. The Evangelical Alliance and W. C. T. The Evangelical Alliance tolegraphed and the W. C. T. U. wrote Dr. Borden, the latter forwarding a strong resolution of protest. This was some weeks ago but more ply has yet been received. Doctors have given the Greek name Doctors have given the Greek name annemia, meaning "bloodlesenses," to a disease which is much more prevalent among young women than is generally believed. In its early stages the disease is not marked by any decided symptoms, and often makes considerable advance before its presence is noticed. A feeling of fatigue after slight exercise, breathlessness and pilor of the face are the first noticeable signs. Unless there is prompt effective treatment the disease then makes rapid progress, and the victim presents every appearance of going into a decline or consumption. Miss Adeline Dumus is one of the thrushids of young laddes who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Williams Fink Fills in cases of annemia. Miss Dumus resided with her parents on a farm near Liniere, Beauce Co., Que. To a reporter who called upon her for the purpose of geting the particulars of her illness and cure, Miss Dumus said:—"Since I was about sixteen years of age, I have been alling more or less, but for a long time, except for periodical headaches, the trouble did not seem serious. About two years ago my case began to assume an alarming nature. The headaches cume with greater frequency, I became very pale, and the slightest exertion would leave me breathless. I tried several medicines, but instead of finding benefit I was steadly growing worse, until at lash I was unable to do any household work, and had to sit in a chair almost the entire day. I had now become externely nervous, and the least noise would set my heart wildly palpitating. I had neither desire non relish for food, and the decior who attended me finally said the trouble was incurable, and that he could, do nothing more for me. I did not despair, however, but tried other medicines, but still without relief, and then, I began to feel that death only would release me from my suffering. At this time a friend brought me a newypaper in which was the story of the cure of a girl whose symptoms resembled, mine, through the use of Dr. Williams! Pink Pills, and urged me to try them. An Extension of Franchise.

Mr. J. A. Culverwell, managing director of the company owning the Burleigh Falls water power, and Mr. R. J. McLaughlin, a director, were on motion granted permission to address the council.

Mr. McLaughlin said that three months age they had asked the council to grant a six months' extension of Mr. Culverwell's franchise for street lighting and power development. The term had been reduced to three months on the understanding that if satisfactory evidence was then forthcoming, a second and longer extension would be granted. That proof he now held in the forml of the chirter of incorporation of the Central Ontario Power Company, Ltd., with a capital of $750,000. The charter covered the development of water powers at Burleigh Falls and in adjoining counties and the operating of electric ridiways. Mr. my pown in gentlum nomposing the company included Senator McLuren, of Perth, who is a multi-millionaire, Hon. Richard Harceut, and others. The Dominion goernment with the compiny. In view of these facts the council would be justified in granting the council, and for a system of the council.

justified in granting the extension asked for.

Ald Jackson thought the council, when granting the former extension of franchise, looked forward to evidence other than the obtaining of achirter, and assurances that the head-denee other than the obtaining of a chirter, and nearrances that the head-quarters of the company would be established in Peterboro; he would like to see some solid evidence that the company intended to tap Linusay.

Ald, Crandel referred to the gigantic nature of the undertaking as a sufficient reason why progress had been, slow. The Burleigh water power is certainly one of the finest in the country, and Mr. Culverwell deserved great credit for his unitiring endeavors to develop his scheme and carry out his promisers to the corporation. He had proposed to transmit power from Fenelon Falls, and the town had been induced by some parties to procure expert advice at a cost of $400. The report was unfavorable, yet since then citizens has invested a large amount of money in developing the 5mm; power. When the town's experi declared the power insufficent for the form's needs, Mr. Culverwell at once secured an option on Burleigh Ealls. He has been working on the scheme ever since and now, has men at his back whose prominence and weath acsure the ultimate success of the plans formed. Lindsay stands to benefit very largely by the success, of the scheme, and in proof of Mr. Culver-well's carnestness of purpose they held

GOOD ROADS IN SIGHT.

The decision of the Ontario government to expend one million dollars during the next ten years upon the improvement of the country roads in the province will meet with general approval. Some scheme will have to opproval. Some scheme will have to be devised to secure the eco-operation of the county councils, and incident. ally we may look for the abolition of tolligates in all those parts of Ontario where those relies of barbarism have been maintained. Good roads in the country will be of special benefit to the farmer in characteristics. when they are finully driven into Pretoria it may take many months to hammer or starve them into submission. In the meantime there is an immense terretory to be covered by the British soldlery, and making allowance for the weekening of the force by discase and disaster it may very easily happen that a full quarter of a million men will have to be sent to South Africa from first to lest. Of course, there is a possibility that the Borrs, disheartened by the capture of Cronjs and the failure of thir Natal campaign, will give the, war up for a bad job but chances are the other way, for lutchmen are stubborn as well as courageous. to the former in cheapening the carriage of his products to market, but they will also benefit the consumers of farm produce in the town and the cities by equalizing the supply of the necessaries of life. Ontario has been liberal in providing railways, not only in the old-settled parts of the province, but also in New Ontario. The railways have been of immense benefit to all classes of the community and not least to the farmers. But good wagon roads are needed from the farm gate to the railway station and the city market, and when these shill have market, and when these shall have been provided the lot of the Ontario been provided the lot of the farmer will be a happy one. Great progress has been made in late years in the system of road building, the aller making the new stone heavy roller making the new stone coad fit for use at once, which is a great improvement upon the old plan of packing the broken stone by means of wagon wheels. The government or wagon wasels. The government will see to it that none of the money paid out by the provincial treasury is wested. All of it must go into good, permanent roadways, which by means of prompt repairs can be kept in good condition for all time.

TO AMEND THE BLECTION LAW.

TO AMEND THE BLEGITION LAW.

The newly-elected independent labor member from Winnipeg (Mr. Puttee) is already getting, down to work, and in a well-delivered maiden speech the other day introduced a bill to amend the Dominion election act. The camendment he proposed would extend the hour of polling until eight clock in the evening in large centres of population, and substitute standard time for solar time. He also proposes to for solar time. He also proposes to abolish the Durocher ballot, and subabolish the Durocher ballot, and substitute a simpler form of voting paper practically indentical with that used in provincial elections, a reform which the government had already decided upon. The necessity of this change was made very evident by Mr. Puttee, who pointed out that nearly 900 electors technically spoit their ballots in the recent Winn pag byre-election owing to the difference in the federal ballot introduced by the late administration, and the ballot which had been used at the provincial elections been used at the provincial elections only a few weeks before. So apparent was the fact that the system was at fault, that the courts allowed the "spoiled" ballots, and awarded Mr. Puttee the seat.

These are the days that are characterized as regular cold breeders Inese are the days that are characterized as regular cold breaders. Colds are the most dangerous of all ailments—they lead to Grip, Catarrh, Influenza, Coughs and Sore Throat, and if not arrested in time frequently produce that dreaded and often fatal disease, Pneumonia. Colds are the parent of all ills. It is a mistake to ignore a cold as a trifling ailment. No matter how slight a cold may be there is always danger. Colds are no respecter of persons, and, as with adults, so with children. None are more subject to colds than the little ones, while the probability of more serious results is greater in the cases of children than in grown-up persons. This being the case, the first duty of the parent is to provide for an emergency, and to guard them against every danger. To the mother the little ones look for cherishing and affectionate care, in the full confidence that she will be ever watchful of their health and happiness. The first efficient step, then, to be taken at this season is towards preventing or providing against the dangers that threaten childhood. This is the season when Croup, dangers that threaten childhood. This is the season when cours, Sore Thoat, Colds and Influenza abound in all parts of the land. No matter how slight a cold the child may have, it becomes the imperative duty of the parent to adopt prompt measures to prevent any of the maladies described above, and which originate in the first instance by the child catching cold. A parent can make no better investment the incomplete in the first instance by the child catching cold. ment than in purchasing one or two bottles of DR, SLOCUA'S COLTSFOOTE EXPECTORANT. There is no household remedy for children of such great importance. Don't let the cold get a few days' start, but begin the remedy on the first indication of the approaching disease. McDonald, of Cedarville, Ont., will give the congregation the pleasure of hearing him again on the 18th inst. Those who have not heard Mr. McDonald when here on their district wisit, will have a grand opportunity of hearing him this time, and it is untikely that there will be any but will avoid themselves off the opportunity, in view of their having to pronounce upon him in the near future as to his fitness to prove their cendidate for the pastorate of the charge. The call in St. Andrew's case will in all probability have to be submitted (by the majority) to the ruling or proposing of the minority, for the simple reason that it is the minority, rather than the majority, that usually attend church on these Subbaths, of probation. It is too bad that in a matter of the importance of choosing a man who is to be our minister for the next seven of the years, that people should be so cureless in coming out to hear these candidates as they come before us. In political matter; it is wisdom! to hear all candidates, and pronounce upon them according to their merits, Nonderful it is that people (a congregation) should be more indifferent to that which concerns their spiritual, as well as temporal weal of woc. Lets have a rousing turnout on all future occasions.

The municipal councit of the township of Tay met in this village on the 19th inst., members all present. On a petition being presented by Mr. A. J. McKinnon, signed by 67 of the resident ratepayers, asking the council to abolish the infamous dog tax which has been in existence for the past two years, a motion was put and carried to 1. In consequence the canine race may breath more freely for the year 1900. As there is a large sum in the treasury derived from that source—sufficient to pay for all the sheep killed by dogs for a number of years, hence, sheep owners should be contented with the result.

The council is worthy of congratulation for their loyalty, in granting the sum of twenty-five dollars out of our treasury to the Patriotic Fund, besides contributing liberally out of their own private funds; also for providing freely for indigents and cooperation in building a lock-up, they promised to give it their immediate consideration.

Dr. Grant was received with applause
In opening he said that some months ago, when he had given his Lindsay friends a hint of his intention to say something relative to the causes which led up to Britain's war with the Boers, it had been suggested that be should say something also about the country itself—its climate, natural and politic-al characteristics, development, etc., for the reason that when the men of to-day went to school the map of South Africa did not receive very close study. He would try to rectify this lack of knowledge by means of the map he had provided in order to elucidate Extent and Population.

South Africa as we understand it s the country stretching from the south Africa as we understand it is the country stretching from the Zambezi in the north to Cape Colony in the south. The British possessions include Cape Colony and Natal, with proprietory rights over other territories west of the Orange Free State and the Transvaal, the enpitals of which are Kimberley and Mafeking—towns frequently heard of at the present time. South Africa covers 1,800,000 square miles, speaking roundly. Cape Colony has a population of 1,250,000, of whom 337,000 are whites; Basutoland, 65,000, with 5,000 whites; Basutoland, 65,000, with 5,000 whites; Zululand, 250,000, with 5,000 whites; Thransvaal, 500,000, about one-third whites; Orange Free State, 250,000, with about 50,000 whites. Cape Town City has a population of 52,000, and with the suburbs $2,000; Johannesburg, in the Transvaal, the largest city in South Africa, has a population of 100,000, including 55,000 Uitlanders; Pietermaritzburg, the capital of Natal, has a populatior, population of 100,000, including 55,000 Uitlanders; Fietermaritzburg, the capital of Natal, has a population of 25,001; Bloemfontein only 7,000 whites; Kimberley 28,001; Marksing and Ladysmith, small — from 6,000 to 9,000; Pretoria, the capital of the Transvaal, about 50,000.

The Railways.

The speaker referred to the rapidly growing network of railways in South Africa. Ons important line runs from Cape Town to BeAar, Junction, 300 miles, and then divides, one branch running to Kimberley and the far north, and the other stretching out north-east through the Free State and Transvaal to Johannesburg, Pretoria, and the far north. Other lines run from Port Elizabeth, East London, Durban and Delagoa Bay, the latter being in Portuguess territory on the east soxist. All these seaport lines run in a westerly direction to connect with the great trunk lines; and all the railways are marrow-guage. Through Delagoa Bay—offering a straight line to Pretoria—the Boers have for years been receiving large supplies of munitions of war till at last the country became a great arsenal, and Great Britain dld not seem to know it.

Britain did not seem to know it.

The Climate.

South Africa offers almost everything in the way of climate, save, of course. Arctic conditions. In the salubrious regions, away from the fever centres in the north, the climate is more salubrious than that of the south of England—old men grow young again, and the ladies never grow, old at all. (Laughter). In the Zambezi region fevers abound, but taking it as a whole the South African climate is one of the best in the world. The heat is in some parts excessive, but is easy to bear; the nights are cool, and the sunset and sunries glorious. Land away from the mountains is called prairie or "voldt," and resembles, it is said, that met with in Nebraska and Colorado. The chief resembles, it is shidl that met with in Nebraska and Colorado. The chief products are wool and estrick feathers; a pound of the latter is worth from $50 to $300. This last bit of information would interest the ladies—and incidentally, husbands also.

Native Animals.

South Africa is—or we—the home of almost all the wild animals we used to see in the circus menagerio. The list includes the lion, hyena, leopard, ale-ph int, hippopotamus, and many others, but like the buffalo of our own North-west, many kinds have been almost exterminated, and if the work goes on clergymen will be deprived of their old excuse for visiting a circus—to see the menagerie—because the supply of wild animals will be out off.

History of the Country.

Seven years before America was discovered—in 1486—Cape Town was visited by Birtholomew Diaz, a Portuguese mariner of some renown, who was driven tol land by a storm, and nomed the place "Cape of Storms." Eleven years later another Portuguese—Visco de Gama—landed there and penetrated the cean beyond. Since then the Portuguese have owned territory on the east coast, and the Boers have benefitted by reason of it. In 1652—160 years after Diaz's landing—a Dutch Company formed a settlement at Cape Town, and this we have the beginning of the Beer trouble. The government exercised was about as bad as it could be—it has always been so under company rule. Many changes took place in the next 160 years. In 1815, when the peace of Europe was cetablished after the downfall of Napoleon, Cape Colony was ceded to England by the King of the Netherlands, John Bull paying $30,-100,000,—a great deal more than the country was then deemed to be worth. There were then only $7,000 whites in the colony. However, Britain wanted the harbors of Cape Colony wites en route for India, and paid the money cheerfully. One would suppose that the British and Dutch—one buying out the other, and both being of the same religious belief, would agree and live in peace. That was just what they did not do. Then 'begon the overs

Beginning of the Trouble.

From the very beginning the Boers hated the British—and, added the speaker, 'be did not think there was much love lost.' (Laughter). In the first place, the Boers were opposed to all progress—and they are yet. That was one bone of contention. Moravian missionaries were landed there about that time; others were sent out by the London Society. If there is anything on earth a Boer hates it is a missionary, and his feeling was the sume then as now. The missionaries icok up the cause of the oppressed and enslaved natives, and having influence with the British government, protests followed. The policy of Britain has always been against slavery. The Boers numbered 27,000, and they held no less than 39,000 slaves. He would not say that all the British agents did the right thing 7,000 miles away—they do strange things sometimes right at home—but he would say cmphatically that 'the general trend of British rule, in' South Africa and in Capo Colony was in favor of truth, justice and filterty. (Applause.)

Liberation of Slaves.

In 1827 the differences were greatly increased. How! In a way most creditable to Great Britain and discreditable to the other party. The Hottentots/were simply slaves and the British issued a decree giving them liberty and rights before the courts. That was annoying to their cruel taskmasters. Six years later the British government did something that Britons have a right to feel proud of, that every man wortly the name should applaud and admires—Britain struck the manacles off every slave in her dominions at a cost of $100,000,000. The Boers' share of this immensa sun amounted to $15,000,000, yet they felt hurt and indignant, arguing that their slaves were worth far more. The speaker said he would renture to say that, if 'Britain had it to do again 'the Boers' should not get $15,000,000—nor 15e. (Applause). Two years later a large number of Boers left Cape Colony and travelled north in search of a new place to locate; s'me of them settled in what is known now as the Orang

Britain Asked to Intercede.

The specther said he would skip the period from 1836 to 1854, during which, when not fighting with the native tribes the Boers fought one another; in fact the history of the Transvaal down to 1877—when England forcibly interfered—is a history of oppression and caranges. The lash and the gun were the weapons used against the natives. In 1854 the independence of the Free State was recognized and England gave the rulers $24,000 with which to start housekeeping. She is being paid back to day. In 1856 the independence of the Transvanl was likewise recognized, and just 21 years later that state became bankrupt, there being only $3 in the treasury. Self-government had proved a dismal failure, The natives were slaughtering the settlers, and as a result of repented intercessions, Great Britain finally interfered. When she had quieted the natives trouble arose with the Boers, and the lamentable campaign which ended with the Majuba Hill disaster followed. In 1881 a convention was held and mutual engagements were entered into, and again in 1884 as second convention was held, at which it was agreed that England should have the right to protect the natives, and also retain suzerainty powers over the Orange Free State and the Transvaal.

Kruger's Intention.

Matters grew, steadily worse. In 74 the Uitlander could gain the franchise and cast his vote within a year of his arrival; in '85 it took him five years to win that right; while under the law lately being enforced it would take him about 14 years to get his anne on the roll and win the full franchise. The average man would be 40 years old by that time, and wouldn't have much time left in which to vote. L'aughter.) Much has been said concerning the offer of the franchise made by Fresident Kruger to Mr. Chamberlain. Some of the best lawyers in Europe have said that the offer was hedged about by so many restrictions that if really meant that the unfortunate Uitlander would never be able to cast a vote. That was, perhaps, what was intended.

Sent Many Petitions.

Were the Uitlander would never be able to cast a vote. That was, perhaps, what was intended.

Sent Many Petitions.

Were the Uitlander shasty in taking netion? No, they were not. In 1892 they sent a protest to President President Yruger, who returned a cool, unsatisfactory answer. In 1894 mother petition, signed by 13,000 property owners, was forwarded, and it also was bejected Again in 1896 a third petition, signed by no less than 31,000 Uitlanders, was presented to President Kruger, who then made answer that "if they imagined they had rights they had better fight for them." That is what Britons are doing to-day—fighting to redress the long list of grievances referred to—and in the sight of Bod, he would say they were right in doing so.

The Jamieson Raid.

The Jamieson Raid.

Much had been said also about the famous Jamieson Raid. It was not right. But Jamieson had been taken to England and had served six months' imprisonment for his offence, while others who took part had been punished in the Transvani. They expitted their offence and it should not be remembered against them. It is claimed that the petitioners were capitalists—surely there are not 38,000 money lords in South Africa? The capitalists did not want war because the diamond mines and many of the gold mines are in Hritish territory. The petitions were signed by men who sought just rights. Had the same state of affairs arisen in Canada our government would have settled it at once, as had been done in the Yukon. Sir Oliver, Mowat would have smiled upon the petitioners, and thus sent them away happy; Sir John Macdonald would have called into play a little of his strategy and forever capture their votes by giving them their just dues on demand; or Sir Wilfrid would have enchanted them with his "sunny ways" and charming eloquence. (Laughter.)

The Boers' Injustice.

The Boers' Injustice.

The foct was, however, that the Boers did not want to smooth away the grievances—their innate hatred of all things British impelled them to refuse the requests. Then Britain protested, and naturally so, Her government protested against the flagrant breach of pledges made at former conventions—in fact the lisk was hardly dry before the Hoers who had promised to tax the miners in the same proportion as themselves, at once heaped special taxes on the food, etc., used by the Uitlanders, while imposing not one cent on the goods used by Boers. Britain never asked that Uitlanders be allowed to break the laws; but shed did ask that they be treated as freemen—not as slaves.

Was Britain Right?

Was Britain Right?

The question has always been gravely argued, "Should Great Britain go for war in behalf of ment who meditated transferring their allegiance and becoming citizens of another country" Certainly; they were British until they did take the decisive step, and perhaps all the dearer because of their contemplated act, Should a mother couse to take interest in a daughter about to marry and leave the maternal nest? No! That's not the kind of a mother England is!

Are there any who will say the grievances were not sufficient, that the ultimatum was not sufficient? What did we in Canada do when the Fenians came over in 1860 bid we drove them from the land, and, dod helping, us, we would do the same orgain. (Applause). That's what any self-respecting people would do. What would you do with a burglar or tramp caught proving about your dwelling? You, would take him by the scriff of the neck, lead him to the door, and—give him a freak start in life, wouldn't Mistaken Sympathy.

Mistaken Sympathy.

The speaker said he would like to correct a few current delusions concerning the Boers. They were described by partial writers as "a quiet, in-offensive, religious people"—a "plain, simple, pistoral people." Why, gentlemen, the history of the Boers for 60 years is one of slavery and bloodshed—the lash and the sword have been the toys with which this "quiet, postoral people" have sought simple mausement. They are said to be the best marksmen in the world—how did

skin-deep Religion.

Again, we are told that the Boers are deeply religious. Why? Because Kruger ia an adept at quoting scripture. The devil can do that. If that cold man would devote some of the time he spends singing the Psalms of David tol restraining his people from shooting our soldiers under coyer of a flag of truce he would better maintain his religious character. (Applause). He (Dr. Grant) had seen many letteres from chergymen and other credible persons residing in South Africa, and persons residing in South Africa, and revery opportunity to become Lamiliar with He regretted to mother that I and work of the Boers, whose character they had every opportunity to become Lamiliar with He regretted to mother that I am followed in his younger days, and may do so yet; Salisbury, Rosebery and other leading men of the English government and opposition are surely as good christians as are the members of the Transvaal Volksraad, who have been steading from or of the English government and company. It has been stated on good authority that the day the Boer army left Johannesburg was marked with awful carousing and profinit, The brare Col. Wauchope, commander of the Highlanders, who loss his life at Magerafontein, was an elder of the Presbyterian church at home, and the 'wounded and falten since the war began have afforded many strong evidences of the lively faith animating England's godiers.

We also hear much about the pure morals of the Boers. It was a subsert the supplier of the Presbyterian church at home, and the 'wounded and falten since the war began have afforded many strong evidences of the lively faith animating England's godiers.

We also hear much about the pure morals of the Boers. It was a subject he would not probe to nay depth; anyone can turn the pages of an Encyclopedia till he comes to Cape Colony, and will turn away convinced that Boers and morality are wide spart.

Objects of the War.

Objects of the War.

The present war is not merely for the subjugation of the Beers-it is a war for the suppression of slarrish conditions, a war to enforce the rights of Britons residing 7,000 miles from the Motherland, who should be as dear to us as are the people of England. It will be better for the world when England conquers. Her enemies are hoping that her flag may be trailed in the dust, and when they see this fresh proof of her might, unity and strength the influence will be for good the world over.

Wherever the Bed, White and Plue waves it is the symbol of justice, freedom and equal rights, and it wil te tac hope of every true friend of Britain, that that flag will speedily wave over the Orange Free State and the Transvaal as British colonies, Why have Canadians. New Zealanders and Australians flocked to England's aid,? Because they feel that the flag they fight under stands for justice and liberty—if it did not they would not be there. (Loud applause).

A vote of thanks, moved by Mr. Boxall and seconded by Mr. Wm Flavelle, was then tendered Dr. Grant, who made a brief but appropriate reply.

OUR GALLANT BOYS.

Our own brave, boys have shown their pluck,
Upon the battle-field—
Like vets, they fight, for love of right,
Will die, but never yield.

Within their veins flows British blood, No craven cowards they. But strong of limb, and stout of heart, They do not fear the fray.

At Sunnyside they had a scrap With Burghers, brave and bold, They took the camp at bayonet-point, Found dead men, but no gold.

Then by the murky Modder stream
They did some gallant; work—
An all-night march, an all-day fight,
Like Trojan or like Turk.

But 'twas at Cronje's final coup They won a wreath of fame, By rushing line at white-flag dawn, And made immortal name. The Motherland is ringing yet
With praise for our brave boys
The Empire thrills from East to We
And swells our pride and joys.

It is the common talk of every com munity, and so says Mrs. A. Miller

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM.

Lindsay's Rate of Taxation ompared with Other Towns and Cities of the Province

NO REASON FOR DELAYING NCEESSARY IMPROVEMENTS.

The subject of taxation is one in which municipal councils are most deepty interested. How to get the maximum of service out of the minimum of taxation more directly interests the taxpayers. The requirements of modern civilization call for an ever increasing expenditure, and it is becoming more and more a recognized fact that the higher standard of living which now obtains, and that which looms up in the future, can only be maintained at a constantly increasing cost. The municipal solon who looses to keep taxation at the sums demanded a few years ago can only hope to give the service provided at that time.

to keep taxation at the sums demanded a few years ago can only hope to give the service provided at that time.

As the tailow, dip gave way to petroleum, and the mud road to macadam, so must these now in turn give way respectively to electricity and granilities or asphalt. So it is in every branch of public or private activity—there can be not turning back—the continual and growing desire which pervades every class for improvement in the standard of living clearly, indicates the necessity of increased, cost.

Urban communities of any pretention, who hope to keep in the race with sister communities of any pretention, who hope to keep in the race with sister communities, must provide the highest standard of municipal service. Improved roadways and pavements, sanitary sewars, electric lights, a perfect water supply, hygenic provisions, and a perfect fire protective system, are among the most pressing needs of the age. The people want such services, and if given in such a way that every dollar expended shews commensurate results, it little matters to the people what the cost is—within their chility to pay.

commensurate results, it little matters to the people was a training their ability to pay.

In our own case the town of Lindsay is one of the brightest and best business towns in Canada, with prospects equal to and not excelled by any other town we know of, and it should be the aim of our council, as far as in them lies, to make it the best town in Canada to live in. True it is that much has been done in that direction but much more remains to be done. There should be on shilly-shallying of hestitation on the score of expense, but a steady, careful movement ahead in all lines of municipal improvement.

At an expense of considerable time and labor we have compiled a statement showing the cost, pea, head, and rate on the dollar of municipal (avaition for 72 towns of the province of Ontario of over 2,000 population, and, also for the 13 cities of the province which goes to show, that the cost of municipal government in Lindsay is not higher than the average of the 72 towns mentioned, and much less than is the case in many towns of about our own population. In the case of cities our cost of municipal government is in all cases has than theirs. A careful perushl of the figures we herewith submit, is worthy the attention of every ratepayer;

Even the cough of early consumption is cured. And, later on, when the disease is firmly fixed, you can bring rest and comfort in every case. A 25 cent bottle will cure new coughs and colds; the 50 cent size is better for settled coughs of bronchitis and weak lungs; the one dollar size is more economical for chronic cases and consumption. It's the size you should keep on hand. "All families ought to be on the watch for sudden attacks of croup or acute lung troubles. The license commissioners for East Durham, at their late meeting on the 27th ult., possed a resolution amending their rules and regulations, as ing their rules and regulations, as follows: No communication from the bar-room to any other room in the house, save the door. That is, no "hole in the wall" will be permitted, as it is a palpable dedge to avoid the law end to make it easier to sell after hours without opening the bar. They also passed a resolution to the effect that the license of any person who has heretofore allowed gambling or games off chance in or around, their, premises, will not be renewed.

My work was not unusually hard, but I soon found I could not stand it, and my health failed. I grow very thin, had splitting headache continually, dizzy spells, and extreme weakness. My tongue was thickly furred, harsh and dry, every morning, and I acove tired and aching. I was dull and low splitted all the time. "My sister had used Dr. Arnold's Eug."

"My sister had used Dr. Arnold's English Toxin Pills with remarkable benefit, and I also began to take them. I candidly state that improvement began almost immediately. Discussion on the Bill in the Bouse to Authorize the Erection of Govern-ment Telegraphs in the Dominion -Prince Edward Island Without a Night Service-Other

Ottawa, March 13.—Mr.Casey yesterday afternoon introduced a bill entitled "An Act for the establishment of a Government system of telegraphs." In explanation of his bill, he said its alin was to make Camada's telegraph lines a branch of the public service. This could be done by constructing lines, by purchasing or by expropriating existing lines. The bill provides that private messages should cost not more than 10 cease for 10 words, and press rates should be 10 cents for 100 words. In order to lay grounds for discussion he took up the question of natural monopoles, under which head telegraphs came, and maintained that, as they were public privileges, they should be in the hands of the people themselves. The trend of public opinion was in this direction, but, as it was wise to begin an industrial revolution with the less expensive and less varying branch, he has chosen for the sphere of his bill telegraph nationalization. Private ownership of telegraphs resulted in the undue cost of communication and in discrimination in rates. Public ownership of telegraphs resulted in the undue cost of communication and in discrimination in rates. Public ownership with the less grievances, under which the public now suffer. By statisties he showed that the nationalization of telegraphs in Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand had resulted in increased convenience and business and a large reduction in rates. In Great Britain, during the past 30 years, under this regime, the telegraphic business had increased ten times out of proportion to the increase in population. Last year, in Great Britain, the cost of the necessary Government telegraphing was lowered a quarter of a million pounds. Canada was a good country to introduce this legislation into, because already the Government wowed submerine cables, telegraphic lines, along the Gulf of St. Lawrence, in the Northwest Territories, and one line of 2,000 miles, from Asheroft to the Yukon, was to be opened up this year. This was considerable to start with. Besides, the Governme of the island got their news 24 hours late. He thought the Government should do something.

Messrs. McLines, Oliver, Douglas, Maxwell, et al, loudly applieded the remarks of Mr. McLennan and those of Mr. Martin (P.E.I.), who Sir Louis Davi.s admitted the grievances complained of in Printic Edward Island, and recounted his efforts, not yet completed, to remedy them. These evils were the necessary concombitant of monopolies, to which he was no friend. Evils and monopolies went hand in hand. His latest effort was his writing to the general manager of the Anglo-American Company, resident in London, telling him that unless these grievances were abated, the Government would have to withdraw its annual subsidy of $2,000, paid since 1853, and take action to expropriate the system. He awaited a reply. He are inted that the Government did control much telegraphic service, and was still reaching out, as was evidenced by the inct that $10,000 was being asked this year to put a line on the north side of the Guil of Labrador, and across the Straits of Belle Isle. It was still a question if a cable could successfully be Inid across the Straits, and, in the meantine, Marconi's system was being seriously considered by the Government.

Dr. Rutherford (Portage la Prairie) informed the House that the people of Prince Edward Island are not the only ones who had grievances. The people of the Northwest Territories were at the mercy of the telegraphie monopolies. It often occurred that a member had telegraphed from Ottamember had telegraphed from Ottathe whole matter would be dealt with in a reasonable spirit by aboiishing telegraphic monopolies.
The bill was read a first time.
At a quarter to 6 Mr. Davin introduced the following motion: That the seed grain indebtedness in the Northwest and Manitoba should be dealt with in a comprehensive maner, and so as to do justice, give relief and meet necessities, should necessities be found to exist." He spoke struggly in favor of his motion.

tion.

The Premier, in replying to Mr. Davin, thought that perhaps the bondsmen's indebtedness could be removed in toto, but it would require further consideration.

On motion of Sir Wilfrid the House adjourned at 10.

We left Asvogol this morning, preceded by cavairy and marched here, a distance of about 15 miles. The army has been following Kraal Spruit and we are now rather to the south of Bloemfontein, and only 12 unles off. All the divisions have now joined them and no distance of the distanc

By advancing along Kraal Spruit, Lord Roberts had again outwitted the Boers, who had entrenched themselves along the Modder, thinking that our route would be in that direction. We found most of the farms along our line of march deserted, with white flags flying over the house. All the belongings worth removal had been taken away, and there were evidence that the occupants had left in a great hurry, things being littered ahout. A BIT OF HISTORY.

(Montreal Daily: Herald, March 10.) In the year of our Lord 1773-74 Mr. Jenkin Williams was one of the most tremendously loyal personness in the city of Quebec. In the Maseres papers he figures prominently in all or most of the anti-French, anti-Catholic moveof the anti-French, anti-Catholic move-ments of that troubled period. He was the first to sign the petition call-ing for the meeting which produced a draft scheme for establishing, a legislative assembly. At that time there were 100,000 persons in the colony. Of these 2,000 were Protest-tants who had come in subsequent to tants who had come in subsequent to 1759, and 98,000 French Catholics.
Mr. Williams proposed that the assembly should be composed exclusively of Protestants; while the French were to be allowed to vota for members, for Protestant members, they were to be debarred from becoming members themselves. A more unique demand for minority rule was never made, but Mr. Williams and his friends justified it by easting aspersions upon the loyalty of the French and by pointing to the state of things in the United Kingdom, where Roman Catholics still lay outside the pale of parliamentary and official life. Maseres, a fierce Protestant, thought that "the inhabitants of the province would be likely to be governed more happily under it (i.e., under an exclusively Protestant assembly), for seven on eight years to come, than under, the influence of an Haliax.

Montreal, March 13. — The Imperlal drum beat was heard yesterday in the commercial metropolis, and fully one hundred thousand people turned out to welcome the Strathcona Horse. The university troubles and race difficulties have been burled out of sight by the determined attitude of the whole city to show the world that Montreal stands as one man for the Empire.

The troops of splendid soldiers beling sent to South Africa by Lord Stratheona arrived here at 2.30 o'clock. There was a grand procession formed by the local military, with the Horse in the place of honor.
The procession moved up Peel to St.
Catharines street and east to St.
Denis where one of the most importint incidents of the day took place.
Laval University was splendidly decorated, while the walls contained such inscriptions as "God Save The Queen," "For God and Empire."

corated, while the wails contained such inscriptions as "God Save The Queen," "For God and Empire." The students were ranged along on the outside gallaries, and waved flags and sang patriotic songs as the soldiers passed.

A little apprehension was felt when the McGill students arrived in Iront of the French university, but the McGill boys cheered wildly for their confreres of Laval, and the latter warmly returned the compliments. People of both races are delighted at the happy turn of affairs at Laval, and there can be no doubt that Strathcona day has put an end to the unfortunate troubles of a few days ago.

After the street parade, the Mayor presided at the lunch, at which patriolic speeches were made. The regiment received a splendid send-off at the depot, the train leaving about 9 o'clock for Halifax.

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, MARCH 16, 1900 MUNICIPAL STATISTICS

The annual report of the Bureau of Industries for the province of Outario, which is just to hand, compiled for the year 1898, is a very interesting mass of figures. From it we gather that the population of the province for the year mentioned was 2,001,350, an increase for the decade of about 10 per cent. The total assessment of the province was $809,184,833, not including exemptions, which is an increase of about $11,000,000 in ten years. The to-tal municipal taxes collected in 1898 were $12,222,906. The average rate of taxation for township, town and city purposes is estimated at $6.10 per head of the population, or 15.11 mills on the dollar of assessment.

The debenture debt of the province os $53,577,475, or $26.91 per head of township municipalities, 100 towns, 136 villages, 13 cities and 38 counties. The total assessed values was:

The figures above quoted represents a quantity of very valuable information, and shows pretty conclusively that the province of Ontario is in a very vigorous condition, being a very wealthy state with less than 7 per cent. of municipal debt as compared with the total assessment—a state of affairs which we believe can hardly be equalled by any other state or province of like size or population in Am-

THE GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT.

Referring to the good roads agita-tion, which is making fast, progress the province over, and in which the people of Linday and the county of Victoria are evincing a growing in-terest, the Huron Expositor says: "May the good work go on, and may the movement spread Mr. Camball the movement spread. Mr. Campbell is doing a great work for the country in many ways, and in none more than is inducing the municipalities to abandon this old, worn-out system of statute labor. Its usefulness his long gone; and it is time for a change.

"We notice that some municipalities have not only discarded the statute labor system, but its twin sister, the pathmasies system. Instead of having fifteen or twenty, pathmasters on as many different systems of road-mak-ing, they divide the township into four districts and place each district un-der the charge of a councillor. This is a long step in the right direction and is a great improvement over the old system. But one competent in-spector for the whole municipality would be better still. And better still than this, would be to have all the leading roads in a county maintained by the county and superintended by a competent inspector. This, with the other changes noted above, would ensure an ,almost perfect system; would ensure us better roads and save money. However, the world was not trade in one day. We are gradually perhaps slowly, moving in destion, and in this way. we will reacht be desired goal in due course. It will be reached sooner or later."

TOBONIO ST. LAWRENCE MARKET

Peterboro Examiner: "A meeting of the Fire, Water and Light committee of the council was held last evening. There was present Minyor. Kendry and all the aldermen except Ald. Regers, Chief Reszel was also all the conference. No report of the proceedings can be published because; the meeting was a scoret one. Invertible, the meeting was a scoret one. Invertible was left to the following the following the town clerk, retired into the small office of the town treasurer, of which the door was looked, and the shutters closed and fastened, although the light was left burning inside.

The newspaper reporters, thinking that the matter under discussion was one of public concern, and that the aldermen were acting as representatives of the people, who might be inferested in knowing what was done and how it was done, knocked at the door and asked whether they might be admitted. The answer was a refusal."

Before long such a state of affairs will become intolerable to the people, and they will speak with no uncertain sound, if may yet be necessary for the press of the province to unite in denouncing such a gross invasion of the right of citizens to know the course taken by their representatives when handling matters involving the expenditure of public funds. In Lindsay and Peterboro, and possibly olsewhere, pronounced secret methods will produce a reversal of opinion and lead those who favored the chinge to the conclusion that a large council—and publicity—is superior to a smaller body—and correcy.

change to the conclusion that a large council—and publicity—is superior to a smaller body—and secrecy.

Peterboro Review: A meeting of the board of works, Ald. Rogers in the chair, was held week. There is no report because the exceedingly discreet men of the council of 1900 have decided in their superion wisdom; that the public is not entitled to know anything of the business of the town or of the manner in which it is being transacted, and passed a resolution that no reports of the committee meetings shall be given out. On two previous occasions a similar course was taken and, in, each case it was found necessary to repent such action and seek refuge in publicity rather in secrecy. It would appear as though the Daniels who have come to judgment this year, although regarded, as the most intellectual, enterprising and broad-mined men of the community, had become so impressed with the admiring respect in which they are held that they have been seized with the hallucination that their profound deliberations are of too lotty a height for the general fry to understand or even be interested in. Or it is possible that their restimate of themselves and their position is, not so high? It may be that they have taken an introspective peep and shudder as they realize which their catimate of themselves and their position is, not so high? It may be that they have taken an introspective peep on the shudder as they realize which also and uterances were put in print before a public which is apt to study before it praises. If there is anything worth showing it is generally shown. Mystery does not make a trivial affair any more impressive. The council would do just as well to take the public into its confidence in ony ideas it may have become possessed of. It will not cause any public confidence in itself any other way. Caives 30 9

Cape Town, March 6, —Nearly the whole of the Dutch population of the Prieska and Kashardt districts are in rebellion. Many of the Dutch from neighboring districts are reported to have joined them, notably Pict Mooiman, who will load the rebels to Brandles. Lucas Steinkamp, commanding the Boers, is reported marching on Carnarvon. It is believed that Cordonia and Victoria west will rise. It is thought that the total number of men in arms who will rise with exceed 3,000. The general opinion of loyalists is that a strong force of British will be required as a raverse would spread the

hood of Orientein—Estimated Discrete Stringth.

London, March 7.—(4.10 a.m.)—
Lord Roberts still pauses in the neighborhood of Orientein, while stores, remounts and fresh troops stream toward him from the Cape. The Berish postition also continues to improve in the minor spheres of the campaign. Natal is clear of Boers and Cape Colony is nearly so.

The Boers are pursuing the course commended by the strategists, and are concentrating to resist the British main army. Various messages from correspondents with Lord Roberts, report that the enemy are increasing continually on his front, extending, as one correspondent says 18 miles. The lowest estimate of their numbers gives the Boers from 8,000 to 10,000 men, with smaller bodies moving north and south of the British lines. Each army is on both sides of the Modder River. Although the Boers have mounted eight guas on the top of kops, and appear to be too far away for inspection, the British scouts report that they are diligently using pick and shoved. Military opinion is that their present position merely screens more easily the defended ones deeper in the region. None of the military experts endeavor to fathom Lord Roberts' plans, but it is suggested that he is quite willing to give the Boers time to assemble all their men in order to deliver a smashing blow more effectively.

Mr. A. G. Hales, The Daily News correspondent, who was captured by the Boers on Feb. 9, was released at Bloemfontein, and put through the lines near Stergstroom. He tele-graphs that the Boers are demoral-ned, but adds that they have been treating the British wounded splen-didly Dordrecht, March 5. — Following yesterday's success, General Brabant again engaged the Boers to-day with advantage, holding the position captured yesterday. There was some smart fighting this morning, the British losing five or six men and capturing the Boer fort, thus vastly improving their position. The Boers fought tenaciously, contesting every inch of the ground, but ultimately they retreated suddenly, carrying off their guns and wagons. A mounted force pursued them, but the result is not yet known. The British casualties during the two days were 30 wounded and 12 or 13 killed. The Boers' losses are unknown.

Evenup —General Brabant has scored a complete victory. The Boers are in full retreat, with their guns and wagons, and are being pursued.

CANADIANS IN IT.

With the Highlanders They Captured a Krupp Gus.

London, March 9.— (4.15 a.m.)—
The Boers appear to have made no stand whatever except that, while in retreat, they twice repulsed General French's cavairy with rife fire. As no report has been made of the capture of prisoners, the enemy probably got away with their entire force. Gen. French is still following them and keeping between them and Bloemfontein.

Canadians Were Is It.

The Highlanders and Canadians captured a large kopie, with the Krupp gun, but were not able to run down the enemy. Commandant Delarey, may make a stand at Abraham's Kraul, but the concentration of Boor forces among the hills north of Drandfort is more probable. The British occupation of the Free State capital is not likely to be seriously contested.

The evacuation of the northern dis-tricts of Cape Colony is now nearly complete. The British are in possescomplete. The British are in ston of the railroad crossings.

The military critics comment on the discouraging news from Mafeking. Col. Baden-Powell seems to be in grave need of outside help, otherwise he would not allow the correspondents to send out information respecting the distress of the garrison.

Plan of Wednesday's Battle-How It Was

Plan of Wednesday's Battle—Bow It Was Carried Out.

Osfontein, Wednesday, March 8. —
Lord Roberts' movement yesterdry again thoroughly surprised, outwitted and out-manocurved the Boers, who fled almost without firing a shot. The plan of battle was as follows: Gen. Colville's division extended along the north bank, Gen. Tucker held the centre reserve and the Guards Brigade had the centre adance. Gen. Kelly-Kenny's division was ordered to make a huge flanking movement on the Boer's lett, following Gen. French, who was instructed to move southeast until opposite the Boer flank, and then to swing around the rear. Every movement was admirably executed and entirely succosful. The Boers were surprised, as was evident from the state of the deserted camps. Gen. Colville morely demonstrated against a high mounerted camps. Gen. Colville merely lemonstrated against a high moun tain occupied by the Transvaal troops, who are fleeling in consequence of the flight of the Free Staters, south of the river. It is impossible at present to give the Boer numbers, but it is estimated that they reach 14,000, all of whom are now in flight.

We look with hope deferred for relief. From their advanced posts the Boers rake the streets and the market square. It is impossible to dodge their bullets.

Two hundred and ninety-two persons have been killed, wounded or died of disease. The garrison is so small that it would be criminal to make its weakness public, but there is never so much as a whisper. If no one has suggested the possibility of surrender it is because we do not mean to get beaten, and we are cheerfully enduring the hardships of to-day rather than to make a surrender in any degree possible to-morrow.

London, March 12.— Several papers announce that the Government on Tuesday received five messages from President Kruger and President Steyn in Dutch, asking upon what terms a cessation of hostilities could be brought about. The messages surprised and delighted the department concerned. While their tenor was understood, it was found necessary to summon persons thoroughly capable of accurately interpreting the messages, all of which were filed at Bloemfontein.

The Cabinet convened on Wednesday to consider the messages and it is believed that an uncompromising reply was sent, which is known to have reached Bloemfontein by the same means as the Boer cablegram reached the Government. The nature of the reply was such as to lead to a further, but gradual retizament of the Boer forces. The Cabinet convened on Wednesday

A PLEASING BUDGET.

Premier Ross Tells of Buoyant Revenue and Large Surplus.

THE SURPLUS IS $2,250,932.04.

Policy of the Government of Ontarie-Relation of the Domin-ion and the Province in Ion and the Province in Rogard to Interest Bourbands.

Toronto, March 0. — Hon. G. W. Ross, Provincial Treasurer, delivered his budgel speech yesterday afternoon. After referring to the feeling of confidence in the continued prospective of the country, safit it was gratifying to notice that the trade of the country had increased by soveral million dollars. There were fewer memployed persons to-day than there had been for many years. As regards farm products there had been an extraordinary increase in the exports during the last ton years, more especially in the items of butter, cheese and bacen. The bank deposits, Ho insurances and railway recepts all indicated the great revival of business that had set in. The records of the Provincial Secretary's edlee bore out the same view. Last year 346 charters for corporations were issued as against 244 in 1898. The receipts of the Province for 1899 $4,006,349 showed an increase of half a million over the previous year. The revenue from taven and brewers licenses was $373,808 showed a large increase, while the number of licenses had been decreased. The entire revenue was almost equally divided between province and the numberialities. There had been marked falling off in the committals for drunkenness, which ton years ago numbered 4,673 while last year there were only 1,-892. The receipts for succession duties, was $150,111, which showed some falling off as this was a fluctuating item. It was a satisfactory mode of taxation and opposition to it had practically ceased. The receipts from the Provincial tax on corporations levied last year were $217,089, and it was intended to make some increase in this tax in the case of corporations with large capital. The expenditure of the province had been $8,710,420. Thore was a slight increase on the item of education, as was also the case in connection with agriculture, which is the connection with agriculture. Regard to Interest Bour-ing Assets.

the case of corporations with large capital. The expenditure of the province had been $3,710,420. There was a slight increase on the item of education, as was also the case in connection with agriculture, public services. Civil government had been carried on economically as usual, but the expansion of the country had caused some increase in the cost of the administration of justice more especially in the newer sections of country. The maintenance of public institutions had cost $807,598 and hospitals and charities $200,011. Ho Lave some statistics showing the large number of unfortunates who had been provided for. Since Confederation 42,666 persons had found accommodation in the asylums and $27,311 had been admitted to hospitals and charities, making a total of 363,976 whose necessities had been administered to in these institutions. There were constantly increasing demands on account of asylums and hospitals. The cost of maintaining each asylum immate averaged $124 which had been steadily reduced though every reasonable provision continued to be made for their comfort. He presented some statistics as to the cost of maintaining asylums in the United States as compared with Ontario showing the greater degree of economy exercised in this Province. The Central Prison expenditure was $19 per head less for each immate than that for the Kingston Fenetentiary and the cost of maintaining priconers in the United States as compared with Ontario showing the greater degree of economy exercised in this Province. The Central Prison expenditure was $19 per head less for each immate than that for the Kingston Fenetentiary and the cost of maintaining priconers in the United States as compared with Ontario showing the greater degree of economy exercised in this Province. As to the Penetentiary and the cost of maintaining priconers in the United States as compared amounting to $218 per head was nucle less than in similar institutions. The Premier went into details as to the cost of maintaining farms and gardens in connection with would be found in the asylums for the lunaties now inmates of the common jails.

Turning to the estimates he called attention to some increases under the heads of Civil Government and Legislation. Another item which would be increased was education some of which was due to increases in the number of school inspectors which was altogether inadequate for the growing requirement of the country. Small increases were to be made in the appropriations for agriculture to provide among other things for additional instruction in butter and cheese making. One of the additional outlays for Public Buildings would be $20,000 for fitting up the former Victoria College building at Cobourg as an asylum for Senile insane patients. The sum of $22,500 would also be asked for a new Reformatory Building for boys at Oxford. The appropriation for Colonization and Mining Radds, $123,250, also showed a considerable increase in accordance with the Covernment zation and Mining Roads, $123,250, also showed a considerable increase in accordance with the Government policy of deyeloping New Ontario and encouraging young Canadians to settle in that region. Bills were to be brought down which would entail statutory increases for drainage and other purposes, but he was confident that during the current year expenses would be net out of revenue. The would be net out of revenue.

hand was $836,195.

The report of the finance commission was then touched upon, Mr. Ross claiming that it fully justified all the claims which had been made upon behalf of the Government as to the surplus. The assets of the Prothe surplus. The assets of the Procince on December 31, 1890, showed direct investments $280,104.18, funds held by the Dominion on behalf of Ontario's share of Common School Fund held by Dominion $1,488,482.48 and bank
share of Common School Fund held
by Dominion $1,488,482.48 and bank
share est S36,519.59, making the totat assets $7,368,917.20. The Inbilities were balance of account curcent with Dominion $2,000,000, railway certificates and annutices $3, 058,876.12 and other smaller items making a total of $5,117,985.16.
Surplus of assets, after deducting liabilities, $2,250,932.04. The Promier pointed out that the commission had strongly approved the methods of the Treasury Department. The receipts of interest from investments duly rerhe weekly for a convincing evidence that such investments were genuine. Satisfaction was convincing evidence that such investments were genuine. Satisfaction was expressed that the amount at their disposal would enable the administration to proceed with importation, more especially with the draining plans, which, if carried out, would reclaim and improve large tracts of country. The correspondence with the Dominion Government, in which Hon. Mr. Fielding had pointed out that the Ontario Government could custly obtain the money due them by the Dominion, conclusively settled the question as to whicher it was an asset or not. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick had already withdrawn money due them on similar conditions, and if the Ontario Government wanted to do the same they could.

Mr. Matheson said he had been told that the Minister of Justice said Ontario could not draw the money from the Dominion.

Mr. Ross characterized this as an official statement such as he had laid before them. The opinion of the commission had vindicated every contaction put forth by the Government, both as regards the excellence of their bookkeeping system and the amount of the surplus. The Public Accounts gave full details of all expenditures, showing that they had nothing to conceal, and he would be glad to bring down any further information that might be asked for.

Col. Matheson contended that items had been included in the receipts which were really payments on account of capital, and should not be considered revenue. He unreservedly condemned the recent timber, sale as the sacrifice of a valuable resource at much less than should have been obtained. The Finance Commission had destroyed the surplus by showing that the debt due from the Dominion was money not available for Pro-tained. The Finance Commission had destroyed the surplus by showing that the debt due from the Dominion was money not available for Provincial purposes, but was held in trust for the municipalities. The Province really owed to-day a debt of $4,300,000 over all assets.

The House adjourned at 6 p.m.

In camp with the Royal Canadian Regiment, Poplar Grove, on the march to Bloemfontein, South Africa, March S.—(Montreal Star Special.)—The Canadians, with the Gordon Highlanders, the Cornwalls, and the Shropshire Regiment, forming a part of the Nineteenth Brigade, took an active part an the engagement at Osfontein to-day. The Canadian troops occupied the left bank of the Modder River, where were also the Shropshires and Cornwalls, the Gordons keeping the right bank. There were no casualties among the Canadian troops, and our men saw very little of the active fighting. The army advanced to Osfontein on the 6th. There the enemy were found to be in force, about 6,000 men occupying trenches five miles in length, along the kepjes south of the Modder River. After a few hours of shelling by the British artillery, the Boers evacuated their positions. This evacuation was brought about by a fink movement by the British cavalry, supported by 42 guns, which force had moved rapidly south, and got between the Boers and their re-inforcements.

Deprived of support, it became impossible for the Boers to maintain their position in their left line of trenches, and they hastly retreated. The pursuing cavalry were unable to come up with them before they made good their escape. The Shropshires, who occupied a position in advance of the Canadians, along the left uank, charged a kopie held by the enemy, and captured a gun. The fight was over before the Canadians had an opportunity to come to close action.

The health of the regiment has improved, and there are now few in the hospitals.

Interesting Insurance Decision.

Interesting Insurance Decision.
In Spahr vs. North Waterloo Fire Insurance Company the Divisional Court holds that the insurance is uncollectable. The policy contained a clause providing that the insurance should not be effective if the house was "untenanted." The fire took place while the occupant was temporarily absent residing with her mother on a neighboring farm, and the court holds that the house was unoccupied or "untenanted" at the time. Look over your policies ond be sured that they insure your premises while your wife is at the club, your children at school, and your "help" at market.

Of Interest to Dairymen.

The Divisional Court, Toronto, gave judgment the other, day in a case of interest to all cheesemakers in the province. James Gibbon was cheese maker for the Nith Valley Cheese and maker for the Nith Valley Cheese and Creamery Co, of Berlin, and such for $163 wages. The company refused to pay, alleging that the cheese was not up to the proper quality. Gibbon replied that the milk supplied by the company was chilted, and he did his best with it. Gibbon succeeded in his suit in the first court, but Judge Finkle subsequently reversed the decision. The Division Court allowed Gibbon's appeal, giving him judgment for the full amount of his claim.

He is had because he is a grain enter, because he oats fruit buds, because he is filthy, and because he drives away useful birds. In the United States a professor seat out enquiries to 702 close observors, and only 42 had a good word to say of the sparrow. He has been seen to destroy 219 peach buds in one hour and a half. It is said in his favor that he eats insects—he does eat cut-worms and aphie, but not many; not more than 10 per cent. of the food of young sparrows consists of insects. He resents the presence of swallows—mort useful birds—and takes possession of their neste. An eminent professor, after exemining the stomachs of 500 sparrows, said that they do not eat caterpillare, and that the large increase of the tussock moth was undoubtedly due to the sparrows driving away the birds that did eat them. Mr. Burrill closed by urging that useful birds should be protected, but that a relentiess war ought to be waged against the sparrow, There should be a gun law in the thickly settled parts of Ontario, ro that birds might be protected. (Loud applause).

A number of questions relating to birds, flowers and plants were next unswered by Mr. Burrill and Mr. Maxsom, and Mr. C. D. Bure aid a few timely words relative to Sturgeon Point birds, and the need of protection.

ADULTERATION OF BEER.

A bill to ensure the purity of beer, ale and porter was discussed in the committee of public health of the New York legislature the other day. Among others examined by the committee was Mr. Jt P. Smith, editor of the "Winc and Spirit Gazette," who urged the enactment of the lill because the "bear produced in many cause the 'beer produced in many breweries contains injurious substances. He declared that a proof of the fact that modern been contains substances which cannot be mentioned in public without condemning the whole beer industry is to be found in the resolution paged by the United the resolution passed by the United States Brew Masters' Association at its annual convention a few years ago, by which the rule is laid down not to discuss the employment of preserva-tives in open convention, because such discussion "of trade secrets would greatly strengthen public distrust in the purity of American beer. This is as much as to say if people knew what they are given to drink under the name of beer they would refuse it on eccount of the poisenous adulterations it contains. Thus, some drink been to alloy their thirst, but been which has been strained through rock salt mix ed with the charcoal-the latter legied with the charcoal—the latter legi-timately employed for straining—in-crosses, and is intended to increase, thirst, and thus leads to greater.con-sumption. Chis is but one form of knavish adulteration, for there are no articles of human consumption more villal nously adulterated than wines, liquors and beer. Furthermore, the higher the exercise and license taxes, the more certain is the poison.

AN INTELLECTUAL TREAT

Supplied By the Lindsay Horticultural Society.

LECTURE BY MR. MARTIN BUR-

"Birds in Relation to Horticulture" the Subject-A Bright and Witty Discours-Large and Appreciative Audience.

We feel safe in saying that when Mr. Burrill, of St. Catherines, pays his third visit to Lindsay, under the aus-pices of our Horticultural Society the pices of our Horticultural Society, the members will show wisdom, in engog-ing the opera house and taking up a collection to cover the cg. . The coun-cil chumber was crowded Thursday by those who had been attracted by the reputation of the speaker and by the alluring title of the address, and it is pleasing to note, that the ladies it is pleasing to note that the ladies attended in large numbers and appeared to take to heart the lecturer's emphatic assertion that cats are the birds' greatest enemy.
At 8.15 President W. M. Robeon opened the proceedings by calling on Mr. Wmt Webster to give selections on his excellent graphophone, which were greatly enjoyed. Mr. Robson then introduced the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Burrill-whose pleasant smile

Mr. Burrill—whose pleasant smile ond well-trained voice make him an instant favorite with an audience—referred briefly to his first visit to Lindsey, and expressed his pleasure at being able to repeat it on the present occasion. The subject he had chosen, "Birds in Relation to Hortculture," was one in which he had for years taken a very deep interest, and he hoped that before he get through others would also be interested, as it would be impossible to grow anything in the line' off fruit unless the insect pest was kept within limits. Taking the aesthetic view, what a gleomy cheerlees world this would be without the bright-plumaged and sweet-throated birds? It is a hard, serious world, and we require something to enliven us, to teach us that there is something worth living for beyond the making of money. As children we love birds and flowers, but as we grow older the struggle with the world is melined to rob us of the capacity for delighting in the simplen joys free to everyone. Most of us have some child life left in us, and unfortunately man has also a deal of the primitive hunter's spirit left in him also, and when it comes to the surface it is bad for our little songsters. All the great poets have written charming things about birds, and Ernest, Seton Thompron, whose works are being read with ever increasing pleasure, says that the day will come when the noblest hunter will be he who goes abroad armednot with a shot-gun—but with a spygliss. We have in Canada a noble list of birds, but some of us do not realize the fact because we do not arise in time; about an hour after day-break should see us astir if we would listen to nature's choristers trilling their giad songs.

Bird life has a scientific aspect. All should see us astir if we would listen to nature's christers trilling their glad songs.

Bird life has a scientific aspect. All who read much know that eminant men have devoted their lives to study-ing and solving the mysteries of nature, and it is known that the structure of birds varies according to their habits, and that their plumage is related to the reproduction of the species. Long ago it was thought that only the female birds sang, now, we know that the mule is the songster, and he as a rule has the brightest plumage. Only in the human species is this rule reversed—the ladies sing the sweetest and dress in more gorgeous plumage, and their object is not so much to attract the males as to kill the other woman, (Laughter). It is a truism that while a lady can, go to church and return home unable to remember the text, she can always describe the color, and design of bonnet or hat worn by every lady present. (Laughter).

The laws of nature provide for a strict balance of advantages. In the regetable world the early arrival is generally of a poor quality. In the bird world those possessing the finest voices are usually dressed in sober colors. In Europs tha nightingale and lark are examples of this law; in Cunda the same rule holds good.

There is always a grand struggle

There is always a grand struggle coing on in nature, which is unitarial will coing on in nature, which is unitarial coing the survival of the fittest. Saft-shness as the dominant principle—when we wish to seek unselfishness was to look to mankind—withers when we wish to seek unselfishness we have to look to mankind—civilized man. In Fatagonia the savages knose the oid people on the head when, they tre incapable of looking after themesives but on no account will they injure their dogs. In our very weeds we see merely the warriors of their time.

Jure their dogs. In our very weeds we see increaly the warriors of their kind.

When man steps in and engages in cultivation he introduces artificial conditions which produce curronusly, hence the insects which prey on the puricularly growths also increase with wonderful rapidity. The greatest natural check on insects that prey on play its, flowers and fruits are our birds, hence we should encourage intend of repet its eathered visitors. The specker their referred to the untertainty left by some as to the babits of certain birds, and said that a bird's characteristics could be ascertained by closs observation with a spy-glass, but a convincing way to ascertain the facts is to examine the contents of the bird's stomach, which is the method followed by omithologists.

Mr. Burrill said he would refer first to a bird very familian to most people, and particularly to farmers—therow. Our sable friend has come in for some very cross words—the is said he cats the eggs of birds and chickens, corn, grain, etc. Well, an eminent ornihologist had secured, 1,000 crows from different sections, and analysis proved that 33 per cent. of their food was grain, 57 per cent. vegetable and 10 per cent. mineral matter, bones, and foreign substances being ejected from the mouth at a later stage. The revoke's bill-of-farme consists of carrior, nice, rats, snails, frogs and toads, hinds, so called—the chipping, soog and vesper spurrows—are immensely useful not alone in keeping down inscots, but some of our worst weeds as well. The average bird will eaconequater of an ounce of seed every day; cauning that there are ten such birds to the square mile, the birds of Canada eat in 200 days no less than 800 tons of seed, which if allowed to grow would result in the land being entirely over-of seed. Which it allowed to six overrun with weeds.

The chickedee—we all love sit because it stays with us all winter, or nearly so. It has to hund for foot and, lives on scale inesets, plant lice and other insects and parasites on leaves and trees. The cankerworm will lay 200 ergs per day, and one chickade—the male bird—carried away in one day no less than 40 of them.

Mr. Burrill said he would next refer to a bird of which he hadn't much good to say—the so-called English sparrow. As an Englishman, he objected to its title—the species refered to is not more English than it is French or German, and the "European" sparrow would be a more fitting name. In the first place he is an importation, and all the worse for that —if indigenous to the country he would have been kept in check by natural enemies. He came here in 1870 and in fifteen years had made his way into almost every part of the North American continent—at the present time he is found in great numbers

the foe, but with hands and face into a snow-drift in close proximity to the Baptist church, on Cambridge-st.

The passars-by did not have much difficulty in ascertaining what the matter was with the utterly helpless mortal lying shivering in the suow, and asking, as best he could, if he was on Queen-st.

was on Queen-st.

Persons who were strong enough to lift him to his feet, very kindly; did so, but being unable to parry him and his earge (whickey) to more comfortable quarters, were obliged to leave him in his glory.

At length a man with the necessary muscle arrived and took the case; in hand, and after considerable lifting, and dragging managed to disappear with the man of burden.

As to who the unfortunate was, we will simply say he is a citizen in the prime of life, who is busily, engaged in working for the Revenue, and at the same time setting an example to his two motherless boys.

From the Advocate, Exeter: Mr. Frank Walters is a young man personally known to most, of the repersonally known to most, of the residents of Excter, where he has lived nearly all his life. Talking with the editor of the Advocate recently Mr. Walters said: "In justice to Dr. William's Pink Pills I think I is my duty, in view of what they have done for me, to add my testimonial to the thousands of others that have been printed. For some months I suffered most severely from pains coursing up and down my back. It was thought that these pains were due to live and kidney trouble, but whatever the cause, they frequently left me in terrible agony. The pains were not always confined to my hack, but would shift to other parts of the body. As a result I got little rest and my appsite became impaired, and I fell off greatly in weight. I was not easily persuaded because I had about concluded that medicine would not relieve me, but he insisted and finally I decided to try them. I purchased one box at first, and, to my astonishment hefore it was finished, I was greatly relieved. Then I got a couple more boxes and these restored me to my former good health. #### THE DESCORATION OF IT.

(The Westminster, Toronto.)
The solemn and awesome experience through which Britain and her Colonies are possing these days has been sadly desecrated by the loud-mouthed jingo and the petty politician. There has been too much trading upon personal and party patriotism, and too cornest a desire to impugn the loyalty of political opponents. This false note strikes through not a little touched except with numity and reverence.

But the ploitician's offence is as nothing to that of the poet. From him, dowered with the scorp of scorn, the hate of hate, the love of love, we expect not trucking to the baser, but inspiration towards the best. But he have roome seriors and talks wide and the hate of hate, the love of love, we expect not trunking to the baser, but inspiration towards the best. But he has gone astray, and talks widly and badly of evil things. And chief offender of them all is he to whom much was given, and from whom we had a right to expect much in return. What a sad and himiliating farce Kipling has made of it all! His vulgar veress, crammed with coarse meterialism, rich only in what is basest and worst, might have served for the London music halls when the days are flat and stale, but they are an offence against literature and against patriotism for which not all the "may" they have evoked can atone; they are a crime in these days of ringing deeds and aching hearts, and they are an insult to the brave men who are fighting the Empire's battles which every one who honors the British soldier and counts sacred the blood spilt on the South African veldt should stoutly and indignantly resent. It is a sad commentary on our monners and tastes that the lingting doggerel of "The Absent-Minded Beggar" could be sung a second time in our midst. But instead of resenting it, we have had it week after week, in "theatre, concert-hall, drawing-room and school, served up in recitation and in song, until our littlest children have their speech defiled by its vulgar shang and their thoughts set low to its still more vulgar suggestions.

The Rev. C. M. Sheldon, who is to edit the Daily Capital newspaper, of Topeka Kan, this week as he thinks a christian newspaper should be edited, spont Friday last sifting out objection-able advertisements offered. He has set apart ten columns for local and ten columns for foreign advertisers. He is the sole judge of what sort of advertising matter should be printed. Every advertising contract made with the newspaper for the Sheldon week contains a provisional clause that ad vertisements must pass muster with he bas "O E'd." Not a single patent he has "C K"d." Not a single patent menione advertisement will appear during the week. Some patent meniones have good qualities, Mr. Sheldon admits, but he says so many are frauds that he has not the time to pick out the good from the had, and, no order to be on the safe side he will cut all out. He will not permit any suggestive illustrations to be run with advertisements. He rejected a corset company's advertisement solely because he believed that tight lacing is injurious to the health and that with advert sements. He rejected a corset company's advertisement solely because he believed that tight lacing is injurious to the health and that women should not wear corsets; also for the further reason that a puture of a woman fitting on a corset in en advertisement is course and suggestive. He also blue-penciled an advertisement for the Keeley, Institute as he has no faith in the Keeley liquor cure. He is one of those who cling to the idea that the whiskey, habit is not a disease and therefore does not demand medical treatment.

Nearly every leading magazine in the country has sent advertising copy to run during the Sheldon week, but Mr. Sheldon has checked most of them off the admissible list. He will not advertise a magazine that contains whiskey advertisements or advertisements containing suggestive cuts. He has burriedly serutinized each magazine that that as applied for space and cut out all those which do not come up to the standard required by him. He has also refused to insert advertisements from Kansas City retail houses because, he says, the Kansas City houses compete with Topeka merchants and it is the duty of a newspaper to stand by its home merchants, but he fails to mention the duty of home merchants to stand by the home newspaper.

Toronto, March 18.—In answer to o a question from Mr. Brower yeserday, Hon. Mr. Stratton stated hat G. H. Haight had been acting that township and village councillors should be for two years instead of one, as at present.

Hon J. M. Gilson said the proposition had been much discussed and there was a good deal of pulfic opinion in its favor. It ought, he thought to go to the Municipal Committee. He hoped that those in charge of municipal bills would see them introduced early in the session. There might very well, in fact, be a rule that no municipal bill should be introduced after a certain stage, say after the first month or six weeks of the session. He hoped to see such a rule adopted with the consent of both sides of the House. Measures of this sort ought to be discussed on the floor of the House, and not sent on to the Municipal Committee as a matter of course. Legislation of this kind should not be regarded from a party point of view, but should be considered irrrespective of whather the introducer occupied a sent on the right or left of the Speaker. He thought it would be well to revert to the old practice of discussing such matters with some thoroughness before sending them to the Committee, and if the opinion of the House was decidedly adverse they should not be sent to the Committee at all.

The bill was read a second time.

should not be sent to the Committee at all.

The bill was read a second time.

Mr. Smith's bill to amend the Municipal Arbitration Act also received a second reading.

Mr. Hoyle moved the second reading of a bill to reduce the expense of the administration of justice. He explained that the object of the measure was to provide that where no business presented itself fourteen days before the holding of an Assize Court no jury should be sun-size Court no jury should be summoned.

Hon. J. M. Gibson said that the House should be in possession of further information on the subject before it was asked to legislate in a direction that might in some cases work unjustly by depriving individuals of speedy jury trials. He suggested that Mr. Hoyle should ask for a rature covering the last five years a return covering the last five years showing the number of cases in which juries had been unnecessarily

Mr. Whitney shared the opinion of the Attorney-General that in some cases it might deprive litigants of the advantage of a jury trial.

Mr. Hoyle accepted the Attorney-General's recommendation and the bill was withdrawn.

Mr. Eilber's Municipal Act amendment bill effecting some changes in the administration of police villages received a second reading.

Mariposa is by far the most attractive in appearance as well as the most

Its surface is gently undulating, with an absence of considerable elevation, and but few evidences of the other less desirable extreme of swinings; such of the latter as exist are of comparatively small extent and not sufficiently depressed to prevent their utilization for grazing or other useful purposes. Ops is characterized by a greater are: of swamp than Mariposa, though the general features of the two are similar, the soil being clay overlaid with vegetable mould. Emily is similar to the other two in this respect. The southern portions of Verulam, Eldon and Enclon are similar in their character, but Eldon sustains throughout a goodly portion of its extent its characteristic excellence, beyond which the surface merges into a decided roil, which becomes more violent as it proceeds northward, and forms a prelude to the almost inconcivable roughness of the northern townships. The townships of Fencion and Verulam increase in irregularity of surface from south to north. Where a general aspect of wild desolation subjects the south, though, in the townships last named there are as of desimble land, but these are as of desimble land, but these are by not means numerously intermixed among the wild scenes which form the predominating feature. The stratification is comparatively undisturbed, and there are in the region no marked inequalities of surface, but ridges of drift material run across the county in a direction generally east and west gradually rising terracelike towards the north. Lake Scugog, lying in the midst of such drift ridges, is nearly 800 feet above the sea, while Balsam Lake, which extends into the crystalline region, has an elevation of 820 feet above the sea level.

The first visit of the white man to the county was during a journey of exploration by Champlain in 1815, and when on his way with his Huron and Algonquin edited to attitack the froquois in their own cantons to the south of Lake Ordario. The war purity of the savages, accompanied by a few Frenchmen crossed the lakes, streams and portuges from Lake Simocoe and down the Trent waters to the Pay of Quinte. From that time forth for many years the only white visitors to the Indians of Algie or Algonquin slock inhabiting this part of Canada were the coureurs-de-hois, who came to trade with them for poltries in defiance of the regulations of fur monopolists, of royal and governmental educts, and threats of the church. It was not until the early part of the present century that these townships began to attract settlement for though, nany United Empire Loyalists who came to Canada immediately, after the Peace of Versailies in 1783, settled in them, it was not until after some years' residence at the front. Previous to and for some time after the esparation of the provinces in 1791, no surveys had been made so far back as this county, but the removal of the seal of government from Niagara to Toronto, and (Yonge Street) from the Capital to Lake Simone, were largely two rules to the opening up of this district for settlement some twenty ears later.

In the interval a considerable amount of exploration was done by government of flicials as well as by Indian-traders, hunters, and trappers, who from posts on the outer lines of communication made occasional expeditions into the interior. So well was the value of certain lands known that on the departure of Simcoe they were seized by speculators, elsa the wise schemes of the first Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada for the Settlement of the country would have been better and sooner realized. Thus a party of gentlemen leagued with an irrespons. She Executive, and arregating to the mesure special country was done by government of the previous and interior, and so of the first Lieu Parliamentary and Political.

The history of politica in this county during the early period while it formed part of the Newcastle District is substantially identical with the history of the great political issues which for many years prior to the union of the provinces in 1311, engrossed political attention, increasing in interest from year to year until the whole body politic, writhing under the misrule of the Emily Compact, gave vent to their overwrought feelings in 1837 in the form of an armed insurrection against the constituted authorities, being led by William Lyon McKenzie. Suffice to say of the rebellion, it was a failure from a military standpoint, but from a political standpoint and as an agent of civil liberty, it was a grand success. It resulted—by no means indirectly—in the acquisition by the Canadiary public of the numerous inestimable privileges attending the practical application of the principle of responsible government.

From 1830 to 1840 Durham (of which the County of Victoria, formed a party was represented in parliament by G. S. Bolton and John Brown, concurrently, and later by G. S. Bolton and George Elliott. All these were supporters of the Compact. Among the notable reform! candidates of that time was Cheeseman Moe, a retired nay officer of Peterboro, who was defeated by Bolton and Brown. In 1841 the number of representatives was reduced to one.

The first parliament after the Union was in March, 1841, from which date the existence of that compound of political pollution ceased to exist. Victoria was still annexed to Durhum, and the settlers voted at Newtonville. The candidates were John Husker Williams and G. S. Bolton and parliament and the settlers voted at Newtonville. It'sl very disgraceful to sit here in the cold, it's too late now to scold;

I'll think about my sermon and my

And the young folks may be happy

But what a throng of prople—an immoral soul in each;
With such an audience this would be

I'd have the pulpit half way down—

Here are the men—I wonder if they

"But terms?" Ah, yes, 'the forwards,

Ah tha't the referee.
What was be whisting for? His dog?
Why they've begun to play;

It's sickening, deafening; dear! I wish

It's a wondrous exhibition of alertness,

It's a wondrous exhibition of alertness,

It's a wondrous exhibition of alertness, speed and strength.

I suppose there's not much danger—there's a fellow at full length.

He's up again; that's plucky. Well, the lad has pluck—And now he master of the ice, posses—sor of the puck.

like this much more)—
Eut there his ruthless enemies o'erwhelm him:in a shoul—
Well played, you here, safely passed.
Now for a shot on goil—
Shoot, shoot, you drifer; shoot, you

I wish they not delay

This is a most provoking interruption to the play.

'Cold? Nothing of the sort. I was— I'm heated with the game. I'm really enjoying it; indeed, I'm glad I came.
I'd like to see both ends at once; I can't from where we sit.

I'd like to see both rous at once; I can't from where we sit.

The y've so red another yonder—Whot's the row? A player had been hit? Such things are bound to happen in a rapid game like this;

Ilbey're here, a writhing, struggling mass of half a dozen men.

Sway d'back and forth and stooping low, like the elms below the blast,

Changing their places like a fleet of vessels tempest-driven.

Inat blindly meet within the waves and part with timbers riven,

Waving their sticks with frantic zeal—But isn't this a sight?

My goodness I could sit and watch; a game like th's all night.

There, dirty trousers, there's your chance Muffed it! Why weren't you quick?

Adown the blue, outstripping all, he speeds, Oh. what a spurt!
His choulders have no wings, but see he has them on his shirt.
He's broken through the forward line, kaffled the cover point.

At last—how soon! the game is done;
I've scarcely drawn a breath.
This getting out is difficult; I'm' almost crushed to death.
(The cars are packed; how we'll get home I'm sure I do not know.
Here's room for you!; get up, my dears;
I'll walk; away you go.

My sermon's gone, but as I wilk, I can-not help but think That, after all, perhaps I've found a sermon in the rink.

This world is on arena with a slippery sheet of ice,
And, all have skates and hockey sticks and enter without price.
And seats are round for those who rest,—the idle and the old;
But those who are not in the game, are apt to find it cold.
Some play defence, some forward with terrific speed and stress.
The puck keeps flying twixt the goals of failure and auccess.
Now up, now down, across and back,
here and everywhere,
flie grit of skates, the crack of sticks,
the shouting fills the air.
Some slip and fall a thousand times and spring up in a thrice;

Some go to pieces on their feet and have to leave the ice.
Some play offside, kick, tackle, trip, try every kind of foul;
Some players are forever cheered, some only get a how!.
We seldom hear the whistle of the watchful Referce,
Who mostly lets the game go on as if He didn's see.
No gong rings out half time to let the players get their breath,
To most full time comes only with the solemn stroke of death.
The winners are not always those who make the biggest score;
The vanquished oft are victors, when the stubborn game is o'en;
For many things are added to make up the grand amount,
And everything is taken at the last into account,—
The sort of sticks we played with, and the way our feet were shod,
For the trophy is Salvation, and the Referce is God.

Dear Sir.—I was surprised to see in the Watchman-Warder of this week a short comment made on the lecture delivered by The Grant, of Orillia, in St. Andrew's church, on Monday night, on the "Briton and the Boer."

The writer of it indirectly accuses the speaker of being-well—untruthful; 'th this et tim uterrative despeaker of being-well—untruthful; 'th this et tim uterrative despeaker of being-well-untruthful; 'th this et tim uterrative despeaker of being-well-untruthful; 'th the set tim uterrative despeaker of being-well-untruthful; 'th the set tim uterrative despeaker of being-well-untruthful; 'th the set tim uterrative despeaker of the church of Grant, as well as the Talent Workers of St. Andrew's church, under whose unepices the lecture was delivered. The youth who writes the aditorials for that peper—whose proclivities are well-known—would ram maps that he has a perfect right to advance any opinion he may have in the columns of the paper he is connected with, but when he presumes, in a sarcystic manner, to gire an untrue report of the attendance at a meeting as well as call in question the veracity of the reverent lecturer, who is universally acknowledged to be one of the leading ministers of the Presbyterian church of Canada, this he has no right to do.

Futther comment is needless; besides, I don't want to take up any more of your space. The most charitable opinion that occurs to me is that the gifted youth who wrote the comment allowed his imagination to overshow common sense.—Yours, etc., Fatta Play.

Dr. Grant's Lecture.

(To the Editor of The Post.) Dear Sir,—As I am a constant reader of the Watchman Warder, I was very much surprised on reading the introduc-tion of that paper's report of the grand and noble lecture delivered in St. Andrew's church by Dr. Grant, of Orillia, on drew's church by Dr. Grant, of Orillia, on Monday night last. How did the writer arrive at the number of women (not ladies) and men and boys present at that lecture? He must be a very good mathemateian indeed. He says the Doctor's version of the Boers' history only needs confirmation. Has the editor of that paper come to the conclusion that Dr. Grant, or any other clergmen, has to get witnesses to prove that they are felling the truth? 'This version of the Boers' only needed confirmation to establish the doctrine to total depravity, and his 'defence of the somewhat rovel theory' has a nation must make its laws to aut That a nation must make its laws to suit foreigners was the must vigorous we have heard. No nation on earth con-exist as a nation unless they will give to exists as a batton unless they will give to foreigners and immigrants to their country the aumo laws and privileges which they themselves enjoy. Now, Mr. Editor, do you really think the editor wrote that himself, or vas it written by a "Stickit Musister", as the old proverb says "foolambh in where angels fear to troad."—Yours, etc., A BRITISHER.

Cement Walks. Sir,—In Saturday's issue of The Post we see "An Example for Lindsay," in the matter of cement walks at Earrie.

the matter of cement walks at Barrie. If this "example" be true, as given in your paper, I am afraid-it is a very poor example for Lindsay to follow; it certainly does not reflect much credit on cheap work.

The report says that on Worsley and Collier-sits, Burrie, a distance of 3,-152 feet, an asphalt pavement had been previously laid, but evidently had gone bad. And now, to show how cheap a cement wilk could be built "on the same foundation," the asphalt surface is removed and cement substituted therefor at a cost from 753-130 to 10 3-4 cents per square foot. Now, if the Barrie people purpose renewing their libertor at a cost from 7 60-400 to 40 - 3-4 cents per square foot. Now, if the Barrie people purpose renewing their pavement sidewalks every few years, certainly build them cheap, but if they want to build a permanent pavement with a proper foundation, they will have to pur more than ten cents a foot into it. Assuredly the foregoing example is no good in Lindsay, as we have no foundation laid that is not covered. Coment walks can be constructed at from 5c. to 20c. per square foot actual cost with as cheap labor as you can get, but which will weat the best—the cheap goods or the other? The cement is the principal article of as you can get, but which will wear the best—the chear goods or the other? The cement is the principal article of cost in the construction of pavements, and it requires 10c. per square foot for cement alone at $2.60 per barrel to construct a good pavement, without either labor or other material included.—Yours, etc., P. G. PILKIE.

Flag Education (To the Editor of The Post.)
Dear Editor,—Oun you find space for the enclosed letter, taken from the Peterboro Examiner, a marked copy of which was sent me by a friend who formerly resided here. I "think the subject referred to is an important one—we have a Cadet Corps, and the one—we have a Cadet Corps, and the children in the public schools are taking an interest in the patriotic affairs, but they do not understand the British flag. (The remedy is in the bonds of our school board. While there has been some friction, I see about loss of time caused by stormy half-holidays, I fancy no word of complaint will be heard if a few minutes are set aside overy week for flag instruction.—Yours, etc.,

PATRIOT.

(To Editor Examinor.)
Sir,—Will you kindly grant me the favor of a space in your paper, to touch upon the subject of "Our British Flag."

touch upon the subject of "Our British Flag."

Seeing that at the present time there is a very strong feeling in the hearts and minds of the people of this "Candod of Ours" to show their loyalty to the Mother Country by wearing the national emblers in various ways, I am sure that everyone that wears it does so with the best and purest motives. But I have observed in several instances that the wearers of the said emblem did not understand the tru's meaning of their action for their emblent has been turned upside down, and worn that way, without any intention of conveying a wrong impression. But nevertheless the mistake has been made, and the result has been to the ordinary observer that there is a very apparent lack of the true knowledge of the proper position of our colors. But I feet sure no new would severely comdomn so simple an error. But it certainly does go to show that in currently store go to show that in currently store go to show that in currently should be sught the scholars upon that important subject, and I think that all the young of this country should be taught the full use and meaning of every position of our flag, also its origin, and what it constitutes in its triple combination.

Our brethren across the border never allow the opportunity to pass of teaching their young in the schools the full meaning of all that constitutes their country's flag. The children are fully conversant with the history of "Old Glory," and why should our children be behind in the history of our country flag $\frac{1}{2}$ is certainly think that the would be the opportune moment for one to move in the direction and have our scholars made as wise as our neighbors upon such an important mitter.

neighbors upon such an important mitter.

The uses and abuses of flags are becoming more and more apparent every day, as we have read during the past few months, therefore, lot us wake up, and see to the rising generation along the lines suggested. Tanking you for your epice, I will conclude by hoping that some true Britisher will look into the matter.—I am sir, yours truly, ed when a cure in a case much resembling mine through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills came to my notice and I decided to give them a trial. After using two boxes I found so much relief that I was greatly rejoiced to know that I had found a medicine that would cure me. I continued using Dr. Williams' Fink P. He until I had taken eight or nine boxes, when I considered my cure was complete. The palpitation of the heart, nervousness and headaches had disappeared; my appetite was again good, and I had gained in weight nicely. I regard myself as completely restored and I would urge other women suffering as I did to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and I am sure they will have equally good reason to sound their praise.

There are thousands of women throughout the country who suffer as Mrs. Refins did, who are pale, subject to headaches, heart palpitation and dizziness, who drag along frequently feeling that life is a burden. To all such we would any—give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fur trial. ### CRIPPLED LONG ENOUGH.

Plain Talk by the Farmer Binder Twine Company The following circular letter is issued by the Farmers' Binder Twine Com-pany, Brantford, and is worthy the perusol of every farmer: As farmers I ask you to be intelli-

For seven years they have furnished you binder twine at an average of less than 11-2c. lb. profit to themselves. What more do you want? The Com-What more do you want? The Company has been a grand success from start to finish—would you have it otherwise? Do you' realize for one single mement how easily they could export to Europe every pound of their binder twine output or hand, it over to the opposition at almost any price they might demand, so that absolute control of the Canadian market could again be secured by monopolists and combinaters? These are vital facts worth remembering. The time has again be secured by monopolists and combinaters? These are vital facts worth remembering. The time has now passed for you to doubt longer the great advantage of this farmers' to-operative movement to every one of you. If you think differently, continue to throw them down, and with suicidal acts and indifference to their agents when they call, drive them from competition.

It developes upon you as farmers to be fair-minded, to act consistently, to realize that you have the whole case at this moment in your hands and that if you treat it lightly you will have no one but yourselves to blame for later results. Last year you were coaxed into buying twine carly with promises that rebates and refunds would be allowed. Now I ask you as a lot of sensible men, what did it all amount to, was a single promise carried out or a cent refunded? The great struggle of the opposition is to drive this, your own Company, from the market, while there is but one element that can hold it in continued existence for future competition, that is alone the loyalty of the Canadian farmer. Their "Red Star" Twine this seasom is said to be magnificent, and with raw material bought right they are again able to offer you twine at 4c. and 5c, per pound, less than their competitors.—Iw.

About the oddest development in the Star-Tupper race war is the protest in Le Journal against the Star's using one language about Laval's flag for its city edition and other language for outside editions. Le Journal is printed from the Star office, and the pro-prietor of the Star is one of its stockholders and directors.—Montreal Heraid.

The entire race campaign organized by the entire race campaign organized by the Star, Mail, News and a few other trusted Tupper organs, is a howling farce. It proceeds on the theory that all the people are fools, and that persistent lying and slandering will succeed where merit and

Speaking of Sir Wilfrid Laurier the Belle ville intelligencer says: "The fact is that in overy orisis in our history since he entered public life he has been where a loyal man should not be, and if things have come out right it has been in spite of everything he could do to provent it. To attempt to parade such a man as a loyal statesman, i simply to mock the public." That's the kind of yellow dog journalism that testifies to Laurier's worth.

Kroonstad, the new seat of government in the Free State is about 128 miles north-cost of Bloemfortein and 137 miles from Johannesberg. A short line of railway connects it with Vierfontein, lying in a north-westerly direction. About 35 miles farther on, worth-west from? It is said that during the last months of 1899 in Boston, New Yorks and Chicago over 8,000 women were from business positions and men put in their places. A large number of business concerns in the leading cities of the United States have recently determined to do away entirely with female help. The United States government has given notice that hereafter male stenographers will be employed, and in all the government offices of Washington the number of offices of Washington the number of women clerks is being lessenned, and all vacancies are being filled by men. The firms inter sted say it t efficiency is what they require, and that for most business positions men are found to be most efficient. If that fashion he-comes general the young men will, by and bye be able to marry the young woman. Get to work, girls, and qualify for expert, economical mistresses.

Without waiting to see what the Domin ion government is going to do about the application that has been made to it for a beet sugar bonus, the Ontario government seems disposed to grant assistance for the establishment of that industry. If the manufacture will pay its own way, we would like very much to see it established in Canada, for it necessitates good, clean cultivation of the land and the liberal use ing crop like tobacco. The refuse from the sugar factory is also very useful for feeding cattle, and there are other subsidiary indus tries that are majutained in connection with facture depends upon the price of cane expelled from Cuba it is quite probable that cane sugar will be cheaper than ever orimont-Canada's Loyalty of the EmpireOttawa, March 14. — Mr. Tarte will be Chief Commissioner for Canada to the Paris Exposition, without salary. Sir Wilfrid Laurfer made this statement yesterday aftermen in the House in answer to a question from Sir Charles Tupper. He added that Mr. Tarte was in very poor health, and had been advised to take a rest. The Government considered that the Paris Exposition position would give him a change of labor that would be tantamount to a rest. The Government was reductant to let him go.

Independent of the House State of the Child and the House going into Committee of Supply Mr. Bourassa moved:
That this House going into Committee of Supply Mr. Bourassa moved:

He said he know that his position was unpopular, but he thought Sir Wilfrid Laurier's first stand that Parliament was sovereign and the Government could do nothing to send a contingent was the correct one. Parliament should therefore have been called. He said he spoke for all French-Canadians when he declarated the Millitia Act was passed in 1808 on the distinct understanding that the millitia was to be organized for Canada alone. He laughed at the plea of urgent necessity, said that the labor classes were threatened with the same unhearable burdens that oppressed Europe, and he closed by stating that he was a Liberal and that overy true Liberal in the House would vote for his motion, which was not, he said, one of non-condicace in the Government.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied to Mr. Bournssa is the best speech the House has heard this session. He was frequently cheered by both sides, and at times rose to a high pitch of eloquence. He excused Mr. Bournssa's actions because he was at an age when cherished theories were clung to and practical realities made light of. Mr. Bournssa's amendment had to be swallowed or rejected as a whole. The Premier did not find that with the principle of the morion, but he could not agree with the wording. He challenged its opportunity or ralson d'etre, he would oppose it because of the arguments used to support it. He quoted Todd to prove that the Government had not violated the principle laid down in the motion, and that it was not politic to restrain the Government from ever spending money without the sanction of Parliament.

In the matter in hand the Government keep upone we would be principle laid down with the mild principle and the Government from ever spending money without the sanction of Parliament.

tic to restrain the Government from ever spending money without the sanction of Parliament.

In the matter in hand the Government knew public opinion was with them. What would have happened had the Government failed to act when public opinion was so strenucusly expressed? asked Sir Wilfrid. A dissension would have taken place in Canada on racial lines, than which a greater calamity could not occur. Then in an impassionate outburst of oratory Sir Wilfrid declared he had given his life to unite the varying elements in Canada, and his friends and his party might desert him, but "mever shall I deviate from that him of conduct." (Applause.)

"mever shall I deviate from that line of conduct." (Applause.)
Sir Wilfrid made another hit when, in discussing the Transvaal war, he exclaimed, "for my own pert, I am of the opinion there never was a juster war on the part of England." (Cheers.) In proof of his conviction he showed that Kruger had really invited the foreign element to settle in the Transvaal. By a few interesting statistics he demonstrated that the taxation per head in the Transvaal was $100, in the United States $7, in England $12, and in France $20. Here was the Uiland population made to bear the whole taxation, yet given no representation in the Legislature of the country. It was sudent that England's quarrel was just, hence Canada had boothed the result of the country.

It was swident that England's quarrel was just, hence Canada had thought it her duty to send a contingent and rely upon Parliament to catify her action. He denied that the Government had pledged the future of Canada, but he could say that if in future wars the will of the people of Canada was to aid the Mother County, then "the people of Canada will have to have their way." (Cheers.)

There was no occasion to discuss the future, but if the doctrine that Conada should aid in all England's wars were admitted then Canada would have to say to England, "If conada should aid in all England's wars were admitted then Canada would have to say to England, "If you want us to help you, call us to your Councils." (Cheers.)

With masterly skill the orator reserved to the work being done by the Canadians in South Africa, and declared when there herele deeds were heard of there was no man whose breast did not swell with pride to know that "A new power had arisen in the Wert." (Cheers). He referred with regret to the signs in Montreal, that all Canada was no united, but there was no greater bond to union this common daugers shared in consider a signs in Montreal, which was not been to the signs in Montreal. The exception was Russia, whose reply was couched in less firm language, although, like the others, she declined to intervene. It is said that the Pope was also appealed to, but that he declined to do anything beyond writing a letter to the Queen, appealing to her to stop the further effusion of blood. Dr. Leyds' efforts with King Leopold were quite fu-tile.

The possibility of the destruction of Johannesburg is still discussed here, but it is believed that the French and German shareholders would offer a strong protest.

Medical experts advocate the separation and isolation of consumptives. This is right, but they should go a step further and recommend the Slooum Cure. Thousands of consumptives have been cured—many in the last stuges, by using the Slooum Cure.

Never was there a cure for lung troubles equal to the newly-discovered Dr. Slocum treatment. This forms a system of three remedies that are used simultaneously, and supplement each other's curative action. It cures weak lungs, bronchitis, coughs, consumption and every other ailment of the pulmonary regions. It destroys every germ that can effect the respiratory system, and even in advanced stages of lung trouble positively arrests the tubercular growth, while it also builds up the patient so that his system is enabled to throw off all other wasting diseases.

London, March 20. — Neither the advance by the way of Fourteen Streams nor Col. Plumer's movement has yet resulted in bringing news of Mafeking's rollef. From Bloemfontein and Natal there are, apparently, no serious developments, and public interest remains centred in Col. Baden-Powell's force, undistracted by events of greater military importance. However, it appears likely that the converging of the troops towards Mafeking indicates a much more serious purpose than merely its relief.

The news from South Africa to-day is entirely satisfactory to the British public. The relief of Mafeking is not yet amounced, but it is extremely probable that this is already accomplished by Col. 12, saying that he expected to join her shortly.

The actual relief movements have not been published in detail, but it seems that Lord Mothuen only started very recently, and is rather engaged in dispersing the Boers of the district than aiming at actual relief. Col. Peakman has dispersed 500 Boers at Fourteen Streams.

Many of the tourists have arranged to return this season with ranged to return this season with friends, and the local hotels are being enlarged to accommodate as large a share of the trade as possible.

Our informant also stated that for some years the Orillia board of trade was non-progressive—"had too many old heads," as he expressed it. The board was re-organized and a number of young business men were induced to take hold, with excellent results. This year the corporation will spend $200 in advertising the town's advantoges as an industrial centre and tourist resort, and in many other ways board of trade is proving its use

As regards the duties of a board solely in advising with the town council—the tendency formerly was for the town fathers to call on the board felt they might incur blame, or regarding which some feeling had degarding which some feeling had de garding which some leeling had de-veloped, while in other important cases their opinion was not sought. The board of trade should not be a mere "buffer" between the members of council and the people—it should

In connection with the latter idea we have not yet heard from the board relative to the great importance of having a summer hotel creeted at Sturgeon Point at the earliest moment. There has been some talk of pending local 'negotiations, but a dispute about the price of the site appears to block the way. Surely the board of trade could do tomething to further the enterprise, or by advertising induce outside capital to take hold. If our board will take this matter up they will establish a claim on the gratitude of every citizen.

The belief held by many that because they have persistently agitated for "home rule" the Irish race were distoyal to the British Crown has been refuted in a convincing and glorious manner by the magnificent bravery displayed by, the Irish regiments in South Africa, whose deeds are the theme of almost every tongue in England and her Colonies. The Dublin Fusiliers, the Inniskillings, the Connaught Rangers (Faugh-a-Ballagha), and the Royal Irish Eusiliers, have borne themselves, as nobly in the past without winning more than the praise of their commanders, the honor of leading the next "forlors hope," and The belief held by many that becau of their commanders, the honor of leading the next "forlorn hope," and the sometimes niggardly praise of

If any member held that idea secretly it must have been quickly dispelled as a result of the hearty and spontaneous endorsation given by leading Irishmen in Canada, Australia and New Zealand' of the justice of Britain's cause, and the duty of the Colonies to send troops to aid the Motherland. Very little business was done beyond fixing rate at 25 mills. Ald, Jackson, chairman of the beard of works, pointed out that while last year his committee had expanded only $5,000, this year the amount, needed was over $7,000, the increase being due to the necessity of making model roadways of the streets along which sewers were kild last summer.

After soma discussion it was decided to strike the rate at 25 mills and make all appropriations subservients of the figure. The by-law fixing the rate was read a thrid time.

The Fire Hall Matter.

Moved, by Ald, Graham, seconded by Ald, Jackson, that the finance committee be instructed to prepare and introduce a by-law to be submitted to the people for raising the amount necessary to build and equip a fire half, the ratepayers to decide whether the required amount be levied this year or raised by debentures to be puid in 29 years.—Carried.

The transplanting of big trees is becoming more common powadays. It is not so long ago that it was considered impossible to move a tree that raised its top from twenty-five to fifty feet in the air, but it has been proved to be an easy matter to transplant even the biggest trees, and many bits of fine landscape arrangementare the result. There is no need now to cut down a tree simply because it is in the road. It can be moved to some other place, and the time it would take to graw it will be saved. Blenk hills may now be covered with shrubbery, wind protection may be constructed in short time, and parks can be constructed in short time, and the part of the many other leading cities of the Unit-ed States, music in public schools is reed States, music in public schools is receiving serious attention. The subject is becoming of increasing importance as an aducational agency, and is being made a collateral study with all the other branches of school education. In places where it has hitherto been considered only necessary to give sufficient instruction to enable chair-dren to sing the ordinary school rongs—such as we hear from time to time in Toronto, where the idea, seems to prevail that this is all that is necessary—they are taking a wider and a more far-reaching view, of the importance of the objects to be gained by music study as part of public school education.

This is a wise movement, and a step of inceleulable advantage to young people, as, if the right system is adopt-ed, not merely song singing, largely picked up by ear, is accomplished, but what is in the future of every child of far more consequence, the elemen-tary knowledge of music is gained which ultimately leads up to a real musical education.

This is not the result attained in our schools; time and money is virtually thrown away. It would be in the interests of Toronto if purents and children in our schools would critically inquire into the subject of how much musical 'education has really been secured in the schools in recent years, and take an interest in what results from future effort. Until public opinion asserts itself very little of valua will accrae. Some changes with a view to improvement have been made recently, but it will be well if the members of our school borrds and all interested would secure individual and independent information as to what system and method produces the best results on educational lines, outside as well as at home.

THE BUDGET DEBATE

Hon. J. R. Stratton Riddles Opposition Financial Criticism.

THE PROVINCIAL DRAINAGE BILL

Clear Analysis of the Floances of the Province Was Mr. Stratton's Re-sums of the Report of the Fiunocial Commission-Mr. Marter and Mr. Ger-

Toronto, March 14 .-- A large num Toronto, March 14.—A large number of measures were introduced yesterday, including the Premier's Protincial Drainage bill providing that in cases where municipalities wore unable to carry on exponsive drainage works aid might be granted them to some extent from the Protincial Treasury. Mr. Russell introduced a bill showing municipalities o adopt proportional representation.

duced a bill showing municipalities to adopt proportional representation.

Hon, J. R. Stratton in resuming the debate on the budget took occasion to congratulate the House on the prospect of the near termination of the South African war. He highly outogled the Premier stating that his steness for the position he had assumed was well manifested by an able and brilliant financial speech. The action of the Tronsurer in clearing away the misundorstandings which had arisen over the financial cluntion by the appointment of the Financial Commission was what any sagnetous business man would have done. The Opposition had clamored for an independent audit of the Tronsurer's books. They had to an ability of the Tronsurer's books. They had to a still they were not pleased. Probably nothing would satisfy them unless they brought the surplus out of the bring had been abundantly disproved they had the audacity to repeat them day after day. He drew attention to speeches made by Mr. Whitney comparing the position of the Ministry to that of the President of the Ville Marie Bank now in juil in Montreal, and challenged them to substantiate such statements on the stoy of the House. Another sample of the Oppositions' recklessness of statement was that he had charged that the Government had put an emburge on the export of sawlogs knowing that it would be vetoed by the Dominion Government. As everyone now knew there was nut the stightest truth or even probability in the story. It was not surprising that the Opposition disliked the Financial Commission as its finding had completely overthrown all their contentions both as to the surplus and as to the methods of financial management pursued by the Government.

Ar. Stratton recapitualisted some of the details of the Commission's recovery in a content of the work of the Commission as its finding had completely overthrown all their contentions both as to the surplus and as to the methods of financial management pursued by the Government.

agement pursued by the Government. Mr. Stratton recapitualated some of the details of the Commission's report which he said was exactly in accordance with the statements made by successive provincial treasurers. Mr. Matheson had said the Province could not draw the money? due from the Dominion. No one not a fool would want to draw a five percent, interest-bearing investment of this kind. The increase of Provincial expenditure during 10 years had been stated by Mr. Matheson at $700,000. As a matter of fact the increase in that time had only been $153,000. This increase had been due to increased responsibilities—for instance public institutions cost more to maintain, but there were a thousand more inmates to provide for than there were 10 years ago. The same beld good with regard to education, agriculture, hospitals and charties, etc. If Col. Matheson were sincere in his objections why did he not at the proper time move to strike out such of the items as he considered unnecessary? What public buildings or public works had been constructed that in his opinion ought not to have been constructed? He proceeded to compare the outlays made by the Government Inst year for chartiers, education, agriculture and public institutions with those in 1872 in the time of Sandifield Macdonald and these increases were approved by the people. The Opposition had themselves endorsed these expenditures when the money was voled. To figure out a deficit of $62,000 for 1899, Col. Matheson had to deduct from the receipts several tens of casual revenue, such as were always reckoned among recepts. There was no objection to the same rule should be adopted with regard to the debts due the Frovince from the Bouninion. The interest on these debts $312,000 would meet all that was due on account of railways and annuties. The provincial Secretary reviewed the operations of the revenue measure of last year and the Succession Dutles Act, and urged that no direct taxation had been imposed and that the was only reasonable.

fits they had received. He admitted that expenditure had been large, but it was simply returning their own money to the people in place of hearding it. Ontario was to be congratulated on possessing Liberal rule the effects of which were conspicuously dissimilar to those of Tory Government in Quebec. He compared the various details of revenue and expenditure in Ontario and Quebec and showed that this Province was more economically governed and did more for the people than any other. The Provincial Secretary replied to Mr. Matheson's criticisms of the Government's timber policy. They had heard for at least 25 years that the pine timber was nearly exhausted, but the pine of the province was worth more than it was 25 years ago. All lumbermen admitted that the recent sale of timber was a highly satisfactory one. The Provincial Secretary went on to speak of the removal of the Boys' Reformators.

At this point a sharp passage occurred between him and Mr. Matheson.
The latter said some work performed under the supervision of the Good Roads Commissioner had proved worthless and been torn up, to which Mr. Stratton replied that when that statement was investigated the House would find that it was not in accordance with facts.

House would find that it was not in accordance with facts,
Col. Matheson—"If such language is allowed to be used I pay no further attention to anything the Provincial Secretary inay say."
Mr. Stratton retorted by saying he did not care whether Col. Matheson pald attention to him or not and closed by asking the House to pay attention to large insues and disregard minor matters.

air, Marter began by asking if the steeling of the West Elgin bellots was a minor matter? The Opposition were perfectly satisfied with the result of the financial commission. Government grants were not made for the benefit of the people, but for the advantage of political friends. Mr. Stratton's comparison of the linancial position of Ontario and Quebe was unfair, as the Provincial Government there undertook many duties which here fell to the municipalities. He claimed that the Revenue Act of last year was direct taxation and strongly condemmed the "seep iron" assessment clause. Why should not street railways, telepiones, gas companies, etc., pay to the cities such sums as private individuals pay on their plant? The law as it stood robbed the municipalities for the benefit of large corporations. The license law also deprived the municipalities of a large revenue which they formerly enjoyed and the legislation of last session had prevented the municipalities increasing the license fees. Speaking of the financial commission he said that the people would never be satisfied until the Opposition had the opportunity to examine the Treasurer's backs and bring to light things which the commission had no power to inquire late. The Government had spent more money than they had received and therefore could not have a surplus. He proceeded to indulge in some reminiscences of the Sandfield-Muction and Government and its surplus and cinimed that the Liberal Administrations had run behind to the extent of $1,094,064. The Opposition had forced the hand of the Government had the commission had no power to inquire late. The first of the embarge on saw to see the hand of the Government had the railway liabilities could not be commission for ascertain the value of the timber resources of the sandfield-Muction and civil men and the surplus described by the confidence of the people. The argument had took the confidence of the statements of the foreign of the timber resources were properly capital and france, but the Liberal party ha he abandoned it and let it die.

Mr. Marter said this statement was not the fact.

Mr. German maintained that he was correct, but said that at all events Mr. Marter was not supported by his colleagues, who never moved that the clause should be struck out. Personally, he thought the street railways, etc., should be taxed as going concerns. The City of Toronto had received in benefits from the Government $11,000,000, and even if they did lose a little by the Bevenue Act it was no great hardship. The commission had made a clear statement as to the assets and liabilities of the Government—which showed a balance of two millions on the right side—he didn't care whether they called it a surplus or not, the figures were quite sufficient. The Opposition always dragged in West Eigin, but there was a part of it they did not drag in, namely, that the Conservative representative of the constituency resigned his seat rather than face an investigation. Five Conservatives were unseated as a result of the election protests, as against six Liberals—that did not show any great preponderance of political morality on the Tory side. He closed a forcible speech by urging the Opposition to co-operate with the Government in developing the great resources of the country.

Mr. Crawford said the common opinion in the country was that Ontario cattle were deteriorating and hards the Department of Agriculture and done nothing to improve the breed of cattle.

Mr. Lucas moved the adjournment of the debate.

HALF-WAY COURSE SUGGESTED,

troduced, Among Them Being the Cold Storage Bill, With Provision for Government Aid to Establish Refrigeration.

Toronto, March 15. — The session of the Legislature yesterday afternoon was productive of an interesting discussion on Mr. Pattulio's resolution that the House viewed with disfavor the continued tendency on the part of municipalities to bonus manufacturers. In moving the resolution, Mr. Pattulio made an exceedingly clear and pointed speech, in the course of which he endeavored to show that in many enses money thus spent was thrown away. Mr. Whitney advocated the return to the legislation of 1888, which privided reasonable safeguards and checks for municipalities which granted bonuses. The Fremier took the ground that the municipalities must be allowed to a certain extent, to be the judges of their own policy in a matter of this kind, and that it might be a proper thing to allow bonuses in some cases, with suitable safeguards. He suggested that, it might be possible to arrive at a modus vivendi between the act of 1888, which contained some commendable provisions, and the policy which the Private Bills Committee had been pursuing ever since the repeal of that act. On the suggestion of the Premier the debate on the resolution was adjourned.

In reply to Mr. Hoyle, Mr. Dryden said during the year 1899 the number of new settlers in Ontario was

In reply to Mr. Carnegle, the Minister of Agriculture said 11 students attended the Westorn Dairy School during the session of 1898-99 Twenty-nine have attended during the present session. A nominal fee of $1 is charged for registration of male students and females are free. The sessions of 1898-99 and 1899-1900 netted $27 in fees.

In reply to Mr. MeLaughiln, he said when the Legislature considered it advisable to combine the electoral district of Cornwall with the electoral district of Stormont it was not then considered advisable to combine them for license purposes, and they were continued as Heense districts, each having a license board and inspector as formerly, although in the district of termwall and Stormont the same men have been appointed to districts.

Invariant Bills,
A number of important bills were printed and distributed. Mr. Commen has in charge a bill to incorporate the Wabigoon, Manitou & Raing River Ralivay Co. They will ask aid from the Government, municipalities, etc., and put their capital stock at $1,000,000.

etc., and put their capital stock at $1,000,000.

Mr. Carpenter has on hand a bill to incorporate the Superior & James Bay Ruilway. The capital stock is piaced at $1,000,000, and the usual privileges will be asked.

Mr. Davis has a bill respecting the manufacture of spruce and other pulp wood on the Crown domain. It provides that sales of timber berths and licenses shall be subject to manufacturing conditions.

Mr. Dryden introduced a bill to provide for the incorporation of co-operative cold storage associations. He explained that the Government intended to grant up to one-fifth of the cost of erecting suitable buildings, tended to grant up to one-fifth of the cost of erecting suitable buildings, provided the fifth did not exceed the sum of $500.

Premier Ross added that the Government intended further to aid cold storage by authorizing the municipalities to issue debentures for the establishment of cold storage stations. One municipality or combined municipalities, would be authorized to erect cold storage buildings, either within their own boundaries or at some other convenient point.

thorized to erect cold storage buildings, either within their own boundaries or at some other convenient point.

Mr. Whitney said that the resolution asked for nothing tangible. The statute book was really free from any law, regulating bonusing. The resolution could have no effect, and on that ground should not be cerried. Premier Ross was not prepared to say that municipal bonuses might be entirely dispensed with and that the House should consent to a sweeping measure. Nor was he prepared to take the ground that the Legislature should not prevent extravagance and recklessness on the part of numicipalities by entering into reasonable competition one with another. The ground he felt disposed to take was that the Legislature should exercise a reasonable control over numicipal debentures, in order to protect the debentures of loan companies, insurance companies and other companies offered in the British market. The Legislature should see to it that these decorations are not prejudiced by the recklesses acts of some municipalities. The Legislature was the guardian of the public credit. The act of 1888 had many good provisions, and the legislature was the decorations are not prejudiced by the reckless acts of some municipalities. The Legislature was the guardian of the public credit. The act of 1888 had many good provisions, and the legislation of 1898 had been pretty closely adhered to, and between the two the result had been that the municipalities were not absolutely tied up. The municipalities had cartain rights which the Legislature was bound to respect, but the Flouse night consider whether the act of 1888 had gone far enough some for equirements of the runnicipalities and protect them at the same time against the runnicipalities and protect them at the same time against the runnicipalities, and against adventurers who sometimes, by devious ways and by peculiar influences, ananipulated

He thought it might be moved this session. Action on the part of the Legislature would, he thought, relieve many municipalities.

"Before the session closes," said Premier Ross, "some measure may be moved which will meet the complaints of the mover of this resolution (Mr. Pattullo, I think it will be a measure to meet the reasonable views of the country with regard to this wexed question. #### IN THE COMMONS.

Motion of Mr. Russell Continued in Ottawa, March 17.—Yesterday afternoon the question of taking unopposed motions out of their regular order was again brought up by Mr. Foster, and the Premier again stated that the Government had been forced to take a definite stand upon the matter owing to the abuse of the privilege. After a brief discussion an understanding was arrived at by which the business of the House will be facilitated. In reply to Mr. Poster's complaint Sir Wiffiel Laurier said he had but abided by the rules of the House in asking the motion to stand. This was the usual treatment meted out to an opposed motion, such as Mr. Borden's.

Sir Charles Tupper took the point out of Mr. Foster's contention by admitting that the motion to refer the election documents to a committee or enquiry was rightly considered an opposed motion.

Sir Wiffrid remarked that if it was so admitted he would be pleased to bring it up on Monday. Thus, the protest petered out, and both sides indicated satisfaction.

The Profesential Tur ff.

Dr. Montague continued the debate on Mr. Russell's preferential tariff motion. He contended that had the Government carried out their pre-election promises that protection in Canada would have been destroyed. He welcomed the Government's change to protection and imperialism. He denicel, however, that the preferential tariff was beneficial to either the Empire or Canada.

preferential tariff was beneficial to either the Empire or Canada.

Metharin's list

During the course of his speech, Mr. McMullen, who followed D. Montague, made a great hit. He took up Sir Charles' humorous reference to Sir Wilfrid's stealing the National Policy horse, and begged to inform the hon. leader of the Opposition that, though Sir Wilfrid did steal it, he did it at a time when it was spavined, ringboned, broken-winded and mangey. (Alinisterial cheers.) But Sir Charles should be pleased to know that that horse, treated with an emulsion prepared by Chief Veterinary Fielding, had now drawn prosperity to Canada, and was trotting the fastest heat on record. (Cheers.)

After recess, Mr. McMullen continued his speech on the question, and was followed by Mr. Henderson (Con.). Mr. Campbell (Kent, Lib.), (Cou.), Mr. Campbell (Kent, Lib.), and Dr. Sproule (Con.).

In reply to a question, Mr. Fielding said that an amouncement as to the budget speech would be made in the near future.

The House adjourned at 11.20.

The Senate sat exactly 25 minutes yesterday afternoon, and did routine business. They adjourned to get ready for St. Patrick's Day. Hon. N. Clarke Wallace slipped on the ice while going to the train at fracebridge, and sustained a severe gash in his head. The news was received with sympathy by members yesterday.

Mr. Macpherson, M.P., of Hamilton made his first appearance in the House last night since his accident two weeks ago.

Bloemfontein, Orange Free State, March 16.—(Montreal Star Cable.)—
The Canadian troops were this morning ordered to the outskirts of Bloemfontein to guard the northern section of the line of railway between this point and Springfontein.
Gen. Pole-Carev has arrived at Springfontein with a detachment of mounted infantry and will patrol the lower portion of the line between mounted infantry and will patrol the lower portion of the line between here and there. Thus the entire line of rallway between Blocanfortein and Springfontein is now in our hands, and there is practically an all-rail communication between the late Free State capital and Cape Town. There is a number of repairs to be made to the railway line between Blocanfontein and Springfontein, and the Canadians will be engaged in this work for some days. The despatch with which our men did similar work on the line of communication between which our men did similar work on the line of communication between De Aar and Kimborley has evidently impressed the British commanders with the engineering skill as wel as the fighting qualities of the Canadian the fighting qualities of the Canadian troops.

A body of 1,800 Boers have surrendered to the British, giving up their equipments of arms and ammunition and asking to be allowed to return to their farms.

A full camp equipment and a supply of now cicthing for the Canadian troops have been ordered to be sent here by railway, so it would seem probable that we shall be occupied for some time in this neighborhood. It is not unlikely that the Canadians will be given almost exclusively the task of keeping open the railway communication between Bloemfontemin and Cape Town; so that, apart from occasional skirmishes with small parties of Boers in Northern Cape Colony, we are not likely to see severe lighting again for some days.

Letter from Borp. Matthews

arrassing Round of Minor Duties General: Roberts and Kitchener in Oamp-Washing and Drinking Water Scarce Lots of time for Reading, but Newspapers are Scarce

The following letter from Cor. Jos Matthews, of the first Canadian Con-tingent, was received a couple of days ago. It will be read with interest by his many friends in Lindsay.

Belmont, Feb. 9th, 1900.
Dear Mother—I wrote Isabel a few ays ago from "Maple Leaf Camp," few miles from here in the direc-putting a rubber sheet in it we get a splendtd bath.

I think that before this reaches you you will hear good news of the war, on thingst seem in good, shape for our active operations. Will have to stop now and go on "fatigue." If have time I will add more after it is over. The mail for this week closes fooday. The fatigue was a false altern, so I will continue the letter. Thirly men were wanted and their thirly men were wanted and their thirly men were wanted and I was one of them. There is very little more to say to-day. A good many, men have gone, sick but I am as well as ever, I like the emprign, in spite, of the dirk, and only grumble that we haven't got some fighting to do. If we go lack to Cunda willout having fired a shot we will be the laughing shock of the country; as it is we are a gigantic fatigue party.

country; as it is we are a gigantic fatigue party.

We got some Ottawa papers with letters in from some of the fellows. I was rather disgusted with some of them, as the writers ovidently expect to be coddled as if they were children. The Montreal Star's correspondent writes very well; his remarks about the officers are just about right. I think the officers are as regimental here as they would be in the barracks I wish you would as! Tot. to send me an eccasional paper. Just now we have lots of time for reading and a few home papers don't go badly.

The second Confingent will soon be here, I guess. I think they are more likely to see active service than we are as they are mounted, although they have a lot of dirty work in the way of patroling to do. I haven't got much of an opinion of the Free Staters as fighting men. If they had been any good five hundred well-mounted men could have played the mischief with our old "lines of communication," as we are only four miles from the! Free State and detachments of one hundred daring men, well led, could make a dash any dark night, out wires and they uralls, and then be away! I force our fellows could get at them. Although our call-dry patrol the track continually, they are only five men each, and it would rake somet time to get troops on the move. Give my love to all. Your affectionate son,

A Word of Advice.

Many men of small income spend 5, 0 or 20 cents a day for beer. Five ents a day served, and at the and of each year put to interest at five per cent, would at the end of ten years mount to $205.50, twenty years $560, wenty-five years $815. Tha cents day so treated would in the same priods respectively amount to $105, $130, $1630. Therefore a day ould amount to $910, $2210 and $3260.

Act.

Judge Hughes, of St. Thomas, has annulled two convictions of A. D. Urlin, of the Queen's hotel, Dutton, convicted of selling liquor to a person under 21 years of age. The judge held that the Licenes Act does not prohibit the supplying of liquor to every minor, but to those described in the act, apparently, or to the knowledge of the licenes of present apprentiation in this respect both information and conviction were defective in not disclosing an offense, and the powers of amendment contained in the Licenes Act were not sufficient to enable him to amend.

At the age of 18 years he came to this country and settled in Lindsay. He engaged in the hardware business, and moved to Toronto in 1881 to engage in the same line. In 1883 he purchased the assets of the John Doty Engine Company and organized a joint stock company for the purpose of carrying on the business, which was very successful in the shipbuilding line.

Mr. Bertrum, when a young man, took an active interest in politics at Lindsay. During the local campaigns be on several occasions went on the platform in behalf of the Liberal cause. His business soon, however, occupied all his time and for 30 years he took no part in politics. It was only at the solicitation of his many friends that he consented to become a candidate in the bye-dection held in December, 1897, after the retirement of the then member, Mr. William Lount, Q.C. In the contest for Centre Toronto he defeated Mr. O. A. Howland, the Conservative candidate. He was respected by members on both sides of the House, but illness prevented him from taking his seat this session. He leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters.

A SMALL FIRE MONDAY

The fire brigade was called out on Monday afternoon at 4.15 to a small fire which occurred at the Cambridge-Monday, atternoon at the Cambridgest. Methodist church. At the rear there is a small shed used to store spare scats and tables. The caretaker, it seems, was in the habit of storing eshes in this shed, and early in the day had cleaned out the furnace ash pan and placed the contents in the shed, feeling "quite sure" that there was no fire in them. This, however, appears not to have been the case, the result being that after several hours' time the building was found to be on fire. The firemen, who were quickly on the seene, made short work of the flames. The shed and contents, which were probably worth two or three hundred dollars, is a total loss which is, we believe, covered by insurance. If the fire had broken out in the night the church, which stands only about six or eight feet from the shed, would have had a close shave.

His ancestors have lived in Canada for 200 years, and he has given the subject a great deal of study. Attractive music will add to the enjoyment of the occasion.

The remainder of the evidence in the charge brought by the Dairy, Association against Mr. Matthew, Ingram, of North Verulam, of sending deteriated milk to the cheese factory, was taken last Briday at Bobeaygeon, and the case was argued yesterday afternoon before Colonel Deacon, in Lidasy, Although, according to the evidence of the cheese inspector, the milk show-od a presence of water, it was argued by Mr. Kenney on behalf of his client, that when no one except Mr. Ingram had access to the milk, together, with the possibility of a mistake having occurred at the fuctory in the calling out of, the names there was sufficient evidence to rebut that of the prosecution. Magistrate Deacon concurred in this view and dismissed the case with costs against the Association.

Washington, March 15.—The answer of Lord Salisbury to the message from Presidents Kruger and Steyn, which was transmitted through the United States Covernment, was received at a late hour Tuesday night by Secretary Hay, through Mr. White, United States Charge at London, and has been transmitted to Adelbert Hay, United States Consul at Preboria, who will is believed that another effort will be made by the Boers to attain peace, though recourse may be had to some other agency than the United States. The President has decided that it is not proper to make public just now the nature of the communications which have passed between Pretoria, London and Washington relative to the peace negotiations. This particular correspondence was separate from the note addressed by Presidents Kruger and Steyn to nearly all the continental powers believed to be in sympathy with their cause.

It will express the determination of the two republics to fight to the finish."

London, March 16. — (5 a.m.) —
Events are moving in the South African campaign in a speedy and satisfactory manner, froin both the military and political points of view. It could hardly have been expected by the most senguine that they would take a turn so favorable.

It appears that when Major Weston cut the railway north of Bloemfontein, he thereby intercepted Gen. Joubort, who, far from having retired from the campaign, was then coming southward with 8,000 men, presoupp any purpulations of Afquains Elaborate defence works three miles long had been prepared outside the town.

Elaborate defence works three miles long had been prepared outside the town. No. Boer wounded were left in Bloemtontein. When asked the ronsen by Lord Roberts, Mr. Frazer replied: "The burghers do not like dish, and would not care to go to Cape Town." The ovidence goes to show that so far as the southern part of the Free State is concerned, there would be no further resistance. It is understood that Mr. Frazer, Mr. Wessels and other leaders tre quite prepared to accept the position of a self-governing British colony. The cheers which greeted the roading in Parliament yesterday of the correspondence with the United States, are re-schood throughout the country. The speech of M. Deleasse has increased this satisfaction; and, taken with the general belief that Euperor Nicholas is personally aversa to any intervention, these incidents spread the idea that there will be no further serious attempt to interfere from any quarter.

By the time Lord Roberts reaches the Vaal River he will command some 80,000 men, while Gen. Builer will have 40,000. From the milltary point of view, the critics now think there is nothing to fear.

A stormy moeting was hold, presided over by Mr. Steyn, whom Mr. Fraser denounced as a coward charging him with want of enough moral courage to accept the situation. The late President was, however, not to be persuaded, and when the meeting broke up he left for the north. Large numbers of the burghers are surrendering their arms.

We have heard numerous rumors that the siege will be raised, but so far that is not the case. We are pegging away patiently on quarter rations, supplemented by the occasional capture of cattle. Our home-made gunerratically bombards the Boer trenches. Horrible stories are current that the Boers are inflicting nameless tortures upon captured native runners. ### BRA N FOOD

Is of Little Benefit Unless it is Digested Nearly everyone will admit that as nation we eat too much meat and little of vegetables and the grains

For business men, office men and clerks, and in fact everyone engaged in sedentary or indoor occupations, grains, milk and vegetables are much ore healthful.

Only men engaged in a severe out-door manual labor can live on a heavy meat diet and continue in health.

As a general rule meat once a day as sufficient for all classes of men.

As a general rule meat once a day as sufficient for all classes of mea, women and children, and grains, fruit and vegetables should constitute the bulk of food caten.

But many of this most nutritious foods are difficult of digestion and it is of no use to advise brain workers to eat largely of grains and vegetables where the digestion is too weak to ossimilate them properly.

It is always best to get the best results from our food that come simple and harmful digestive should be taken after meals to assist the relaxed digestive organs, and several years' experience have proven Stuart's Dyspepsin Tablets to be a very safe, pleasant and effective digestive and a remedy which may be taken daily with the best results.

Stuart's Dyspep in Tablets can hardly be called a patent medicine, as they do not act on the bowels nor any particular organ, but only on the fool eaten. They supply what weak stomalating the gustric glands increase the natural secretion of hydrochloric acid. People who make a daily practice of taking one or two of Stuart's dyspepsia Tablets after each meal are cure to have perfect health.

There is no danger of forming an injurious habit as the tablets contain absolutely nothing but natural digestives; cocaine, morphine and similar drugs, have no place in a stomach medicine, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal are care cretainly the best known and most popular of all stomach remedies. An enjoyable evening was spent in song, music and games. As it was in the nature of a surprise party, the girls provided a few cakes, in case Friday might not be Mrs. Russell's baking day, and a refresher of cake and coffee formed part of the program. Mr. Russell expressed his pleasure with the visit, and regrets on leaving so many warm friends. The party returned home about three o'clock, and one young lady, with dark twinking cys, assured our raporter that the reads were perfectly lovely—se delubsfully burny that it took two arms to hold her in On Monday evening about thirty of the neighbors assembled at Mr. Russell's, and presented him with half a dozen nice dining room chairs. They also vuiced their regret at losing so enterprising a neighbor, and toom chairs. They also voiced their regret at losing so enterprising a neighbor, and wished him sucress in his new home. The friends were hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Russell, who were sorry to part with their old associates. Tuesday eight teams assisted Mr. Russell with his moving, taking each a lead of stuff to the new place, and to-day (Friday) four or five more teams will give a helping hand to complete the removal.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor: Dear Sir,—Your reference to Temperance Hotels in your Fishrnary issue is a good one. It is well-known that, next to the "revenue" defusion, comes the old question, "What would we do for houses of accommodation if prohibition was adopted." The public require some practical education along this line. One of the chief errors of the license law is the fact that the site of intoxicating liquors is allowed in houses of public accommodation.

When a liquor iteense is granted to persons who keep hotels for accommodation of the travelling public, it gives the liquor trade its most respectable excuse for existence in any civilized community.

The pictures were well put on, each being introduced in witty and taking feshion by Mr. Owen Al. Smiley. Of course the military scenes came in for the most applause, and very fine ones they were. Under the existing law, in order to counteract the influence of this custom, it would have a good, effect if a number of first-class Temperance hotels were conducted and it would soon bet shown that it is not necessary for the comfort of the travelling public to have a bar-room for the sale of strong drink. In order to be consistent, of course those who advonate a prehibitory law should patronize (Temperance hotels in preference to those carrying on a licensed bar-room.

For eight years I have registered at the Lucas house when in Toronto. It is on Louisa-st, near the north-west corner of the city ball. # Is Baby

If so, there must be some trouble with its food. Well babies are plump; only the sick are thin. Are you sure the food is all right? Chil-dren can't help but grow; they must grow if their food nourishes them. Perhaps a mistake was made in the past and as a result the digestion is weakened. If that is so, don't give the baby a lot of medicine; just use your every-day common sense and help nature a little, and the way to do it is to add half a teaspoon-to the baby's food three or four times a day. The gain will begin the very first day you give it. It seems to correct the digestion and gets the baby started right again. If the baby is nursing but does not thrive, then the mother should take the emulsion. It will have a good effect both upon the mother and child. Twentyfive years proves this fact.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CELEBRATION

At St. Mary's Church, Lindsay-Sermon by Rev. F. O'Sullivan, of Peterboro. The memory of Ireland's putron saint was honored by the members of St

Mary's church, who congregated at 9 o'clock mass on the 17th.

After the gospel the celebrant, Mgr. Laurent, introduced Rev. F. O'Sullivan, of Peterboro Cathedral, who, hel said, had kindly consented to preach the sermon of the day.

The following is a brief synopsis of the sermon, the text being taken from Tobias, II. chap. 18th verse,—"For we are the children of saints, and look for that life which God will give to those that never change their faith from linn."

The rev. gentleman then proceeded, eaying that faith was the gift of God to mam and bud been defined by 'St. Paul as "The realization of things unseen." It is indeed a precious inheritance, as the scripture tells us without faith it is impossible to please God. Our ancestors, many of whom were the pioneers of this country, brought that sacred inheritance with them from Ireland pure and unsulfiel, as related by John Francis Maguire, and it behooves us—their descendants—to preserve that faith intact, that we may hand it down to our posterity as their most precious heritage.

The speaker then said it was unscreezing for infinite the early life of St. Patrick, with which they were doubtless familiar. That Ireland was inhabited from a very early period by an intelligent, though a pagun, people, was also well-known. They had their own form of government and their chiefs or representatives met periodically at Tara to legislate.

About the year A.D. 420 the Apostle Patrick, then a bishop, was commissioned by the Pope to pranch the goapel to the frish. The task was to him, a delightful one; he longed to visit once again the country in which he had formerly served as a slave, and appearing with mitre and crosier before the assembled chiefs at the Court of Tara, he made known his mission, expounded the decrine of sulvation, and Ireland became the great exhool of Europe, and the picty and learning of her people merited for her the plant, and during the 6th, 7th and 8th centuries Ireland became the great exholor of Europe, and the picty and learning of the people ones they were. The views in which the Canadian troops were shown were loudly cheered.

The program was relieved of "sameness" by a song contributed by Mr. Logie, of Bobeaygeon, and Mr. Jt. G. Edwards delighted the audience, after a long absence from the footlights, by negain rendering that pathetic song, "Lord Lovell," as he alone can sing it. There was scarcely a dry eye in the audience when he concluded. Mr. Edward's histrionic talent is well-to many of our citizeus, and the lapse of years has not impaired it. Fig. has other germs in his repertoire, and whils he refused to respond to an encoratic is to be hoped that he will be heard again in the near future.

Another welcome number was Mr. Smiley's recitation, "How Bill Akkins won the Bittle of Waterloo." The tale is sublimely ridiculous in conception, and delivered by Mr. Smiley not one good point is missed.

Mrs. Paddon's recitation of Kipling's poem, "Pay, Pay, Pay," was very effective and left nothing to be desired in delivery or attendant effect. She wore a very pratty and striking gown of the now popular Khaki cloth trimmed with searlet piping, and a very "fetching" military cap. She stood in the right-hand box, and at intervals the stage curtain rose and disclosed striking tableaux illustrative of the soldierly appearance and marching, and also for their cown sufferings on the battle field; until the devoted Rad Cross narses search them out to bind up their cown sufferings on the battle field; until the devoted Rad Cross narses search them out to bind up their cown sufferings on the battle field; until the devoted Rad Cross narses search them out to bind up their cown sufferings on the battle field; until the devoted Rad Cross narses search them out to bind up their cown sufferings on the battle field; until the defect Mr. John Cote also rendered great assistance in many Mays'.

The itching and burning I suffered in my feet and limbs for three years were terrible. At night they were worse and would keep me awake a greater part of the night. I consulted doctor after doctor, as I was travelling on the road most of my time, also one of our city doctors. None of the doctors knew what the trouble was. I got a lot of the different samples of the medicines I had been using. I found them of so many different kinds that I concluded that I would naye to go to a Cincinnati hospital before I would get relief. I had frequently been urged to try Corroura Remedius, but I had no faith in them. My wife shally prevailed upon me to try them. Presto! What a chauge! I am now cured, and it is a permanent cure. LIBERTY ESSENTIAL TO PERFECT

Should a Man's Wife Wish to Leave Him He Should Work to Make Her Happy Elsowhere, If not Him—1 hings That Go to Make the Ideal Home,

(New York Sun, March 12.)

thew York Sun, March 12.)
The Rev. Minot J. Savege, of New York, had a good deal "to say about murriage in the sermon he preached at the church of the Messiah on a recent Sunday. "Were the world full of happy homes," said he, "all other things could look out for themselves, for this one fact would indicate such intelligence and goodness as would of happy homes," said he, "all other things could look out for themselves, for this one fact would indicate such intelligence and goodness as would show that men and women were competent to control and manage all other affairs. But, if we are to judge by the statements made by critics, and zealous reformers svery now and then the world is very far from the condition indicated by these ideas. A main occupying a prominent position has recently told us that in his judgment most marriages are unhappy, and now I understand there is a committee at Albany attempting to infroduce new legislation in the management of these matters, and telling us that the country is threatened with a flood of vice and immorality, and that everything is in dauger of being washed, away. "I believe nothing of the kind. I believe that the story that most marriages are panhappy, that the family life of the country is threatened by a flood of vice and immorality, is all wrong. I wish to warn you once again —I think I have done it before—of a danger that comes from the fact that the newspapers give us the morning news in such detail. I wish you to note what it is that constitutes a fact, a piece of news. Is it not that it is something very exceptional, out of the ordinary—not an illustration of a general rule or an average condition? And yet, as we read our morning papers we are upt to drink in the spirit of pessimism which is abroad and which is cultivated by the detailed display of the world. One man yesterday did not behave himself; it is reported and published; in love the world. A million people did behave themselves; that is not reported or published; nobody thinks of maleing any comment on that fact. It is made so much of, the significance of that fact is not that divorce, when it is made so much of, the significance of the world. A million people did behave themselves; that is not reported by it, if it happens to be a divorce in the extended in it, perhaps keenly stirred by it, if it happens to be a divorce in high seciety; but the mea

If I could not make my wike happy with me I would doverything on the face of the earth to make her happy somewhere else. I shouldn't better matters any by making her miserable: I shouldn't make myesif any happier. It won't make much difference to you'der my Mr. Editor, whit happens 560 years from now, but assuming that by that time these local supplies are exhausted, there lies within a short distance north of the C.P.R., on the line of the projected James Buy Brittway, millions of acres of peat deposits, within a shorter haulage than the coal we are now burning. settlement, Galway, together with contents, was destroyed by fire. A dreadful calamity was narrowly averted by the coolness and bravery of Mtz. McMahon, who, with her three small children, and her aged and helpless mother, were the only occupants of the building.

About four o'clock Mrz. McMahon was awakened by the roof of the kitchen falling in. She sprang out of bed to open the room door, only to be driven back by thick clouds of smoks. To closs the room door and smash the window of her room was the work of an instan; then seizing the three sleeping children she threw them into the snow. Her mother, who was alseping in a room on the opposite side of the house, next room on the opposite side of the house, next required her attention. Rushing around she broke in the window, and taking the old lady—who is bordering on ninety and blind—in her arms, she bore her to a place of safety. As there was no time to save any wearing apparel, Mrs. McMahon again entered the burning building and brought out a mattress and be il clothing, in which she wrapped her mother and children, while she ran balf a mile to her brother's farm and procured assistance.

Mrs. McMahon's feet were elightly frozen bat apart from this she does not feel any bad results from her thrilling experience.

Historically it is true that by derivation the French-speaking peopleof Quebec came from the French, who were beaten in the struggle with the English about the middle of the last century—or, as some may prefer to say the century before the last. But what can that have to do with a debate in a parliament of confederated provinces, most of which were unknown to white men at the time, and some of which were not created until one hundred years later.

Mr. Wallace has no right to assume the offended tone of conqueron whose magnanimity to a beaten enemy now occasions him some regret. He has no right to to speak as if he had been wounded in the battle where Wolfe fell. The Dominion of Canada dates from confederation, and within it three are no conquered peoples, who live or enjoy freedom by grace of any other people within the folds of this union of provinces. SANATORIA FOR CONSUMPTIVES

A deputation has waited on the On-tario government to urge the cause of munic pal senatoria for consumptive cases. The success of many institu-tions of this kind in treating the distions of this kind in treating the discase has been so great that it has proved, consumption can in many cases be cured. The advantage of establishing, such institutions would be two-fold —first the cure of those cases that had not gone too far, and secondly the prevention of the spread of the discase. By isolating those suffering from it, the danger of infection would be greatly lessened, and, in time, the disease would become as rare as the disease would become as rare as, smallpox. It was pointed out by Rev. Dr. Eby that other nations had taken the matter in hand.

In Germany they have opened 70 or more institutions, providing one bed in 2,500 of the population, and are pushing for more. In France they have one to 3,500; in England and the United States in the neighborhood of one to 4,000. But in Canada, we have one to 70,000 only, and of these in existence not one open to the par in existence not one open to the poor unless the money to pay has been specially raised: to pay their way. The various speakers made a strong case in favor of their request and evidently impressed the Premier with the advantages to be derived from rural; sanatoria. He said that, iff the government could count on the hearty co-operation of municipalities, they would be prepared to assist.

Of the course of the war I need not epock, nor of the heroism and indomitable courage of our soldiers who fight at a tremendous disadvantage because of all but impregnable positions of the enemy. Of these things I need not speak, as the cable has given and will drilly give you the information. Yet there are many facts not generally known, innumerable p. th. tic in idute, ry, and these heroic scrifties, loyelty and, endurance which never comes under the notice of the 'ward correspondent, tremendous disadvantage be

Of the war liself it is inexplicible that so many strange and unjust opinions should be entertained even by the enlightened and liberal-winded. It is a patent fact to all close observers and easily assertained by anyone who investigates the matter at all, that this war is the natural, inevitable outcome of Boor despotism, intolerance and injust opinions of the control of the last decade of the century will reveal the respective attitudes of the Imperial and Transvand governments—the one dominant, yet patient under unredressed grievances, the least of supreme power. Outside this land the Boers are regarded of a pro-cloving, God-cearing people, hard working, industrious, and eareless of power, while they are in reality indolent, funition, and opersist ally intolerant of all creeds outside thair own, especially the Catholic religion, which they albor, and their desire to rule is but too clearly evidenced by the deadly preparations they have long been search; making to acquire by force of arms supreme dominion over the whole of South Africa. Had England, been suspicious and on the alert she could have sipped those projects in the bud; had she even been prompt in taking up the gauntlet so audiciously flung down by the Transval oligarchy she could have saved not alone herself, but the guitry, plotting freacherous enemy, from much m'sery and, bloodshed. But England was too late, temporized too long in vain hope of a pecceful settlement, and so gave the willy enemy the chance of securing the best positions, which, united to their guerrilan-like warfare, gave them increditable advantages over our coldiers. That there are hundreds of Boars who desired not wan and had no part in the making of it is certainly the case, and for this minority I have sympathy true and tender as for my own people, nor can my heart refuse sympathy to any suffering one in the enemy's ranks, even though they have caused our, sorrows as well as their own; and widespread, minifold, and all-embracing are the syboryows. He name is Mir. Merriner Olevelund, and his home is in Gaspatella, where he resides with his wife and grand-daughter, Miss Lizie May Cleveland, a bright girl of fitten yous. A few month: ago the health of their grand-daughter was a source of great anxiety to Mr. and, Mrs. Cleveland, and the neighbore, who learned of the physical condition of the little girl gravely shook their heads and eaid to themselves that the fears of the fondy grand-pounds were by no means groundless. When the heavs reached the ears of an Acadiani man, a short time ago, that the heatth of Miss Cleveland had been restored, he baskened to interview Mr. Cleveland as to the facts of the case. When he explained his errand both Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland had appeared only too eager to give him the infermation sought, and it is in secondance with their wishes that we give to the public the facts of this removiable cure. Early in December, 1898, Miss Cleveland was that we give to the public the facts of this removiable cure. Early in December, 1898, Miss Cleveland was clasen ill with a sevare attack of its gripps, and fears of her recovery were entertained. Careful nursing, however, brought her through this malnedy, but it left her system in a completely fundous condition. This chowed itself principally in a weak-ness of the nerves. In Janury, symptoms of St. Vitus dame began to show the mesself. Her grand-parents, and termination of the patient had improved considered her weeks she had to be carried from howing tried, other remedies without effect, determined to give Dr. William's Pink Pills a trial. Catholic religion is especially hated. Catholics are ranked as Jews, shut out from all official positions, and but for the interference of the Imperial government would be rendered liable to be sent out of the country at a day's notice and without even the grace of a trial! Of the injustice to Catholics we have had personal experience.

As you know we are Dominian nuns, refugees from the evicuated border towns of Newcostle and Dundee, now in the possession of the Boers. Our prioress, the Rev. Mother Rose, who was superior of a convent in the Dransvand, want to President Kruger, on his withdrawal of the school grant, and when he learned the teacher, a highly educated Hollander, was a Oilholic, and begged of him to reconsider his decision, he flat by refused, eaving that such was the law of his country and he would uphold it! I may add Dr. Leyds was present at the interview. Contrast the stack with the erroneous opinions generally entertained of the Boers and their government. And if further confirmation is needed in testimony of the Boers' hatred of all things Catholic, it is forthcoming, in their chameless.

No wonder we honor the brave men from all parts of the Empire who bravely fight in our defence and fall in repelling the vandal hordes of the invader. And it is cheering to see the heroism with which our wounded soldiers bear their sufferings and strive to laugh them away. And here conspicueasy shines forth the joyo is spirit of the sons of Erin. I have the privilege of visiting the camp coppital, and it is touching to see the eager gladness with which the soldiers— English, Irish, South and Colonial-greet the presence of a nun, and the confidence with which they speak to one of themselves, their hours and friends. What would not hundreds of mothers give to take my place for one shorts hour, to sit by the

Well, I appreciate my privilege, and do my best to make up in a mercure for the absence of the Catholic colders to no versione plour object, specially a m dil of the Blased Virgin! And so, of course, he could not discover his wound in military quarters. And thy come to me as I p est through the streets, for a copular, a modal, or ar Aguus Dei. Sometimes even the same the heart. But as in our hurried fight we brought no pious objects, save these for our persous, each sister and child gave up everything, except the necessary rosary, in order to give them to the soldiers, one little girl bringing as her contribution a comic picture. Already thousons of brave men are slaughtered and loving hearts broken and happy homes darkened. And who can number the thousands of homeless refugees that at short notice had to fly from the Transwall and the north of Natul, leaving their all behind? In this city alone are eight thousand. We, in this five-roomed cottage, number fifty-nine—liwenty-nine Sisters and thirty children—and in our flight we brought but a few necessary articles for each, having left all behind in couvents, schools and enapels, and now, nothing remains to us—goods locked, all that will scared and could not be utilized destroyed, the chapel descerated. Our huildings in Newcostle are used for a magazine, sot there is small hope of their being left intact. Dear Mother,—I now start another letter to you. I am feeling splendid, as are all on board. We have fared excellent all through the journey so far, and I will endeavor to explain to you what I have seen on my trip. The first land we saw alone we left. Halifax was St. Vincent Island. Here twe farrived at twelve o'clock and stayed till three, but not one was allowed to leave this vessel. The Portuguese row-boats come out and boys dived for small pieces of money which we would throw at them. It was we would throw at them. It was great fun to see them. When we stopped throwing the nickels they began to sell oranges, lemons and beads to us. The fruits were only six pence a dozen, and I bought two strings of corn beads for a mere trifle, while you would have to pay about three or four dollars for them in Canada. It is a very warm place, they are having their winter now, and it is as warm as summer is in Canada. They run about in their bare feet all the time. The Portu-guese are very dark people and live

Now I must tell you about the beautiful sights at St. Vincent. The mountains are something I shall never forget. They are of solid rook and must be many thousand feet above. and must be many thousand feet above the sea level. We could not see the lops of them, as it was a cloudy day. In the valleys we could used the clouds flying between the heights.

About two doys after leaving St.

Vincent I observed some of the largest fish I ever saw. They were ten feet long and resembled a pig in the head. Some call them "sea pigs," but the right name for them is Forpoise. Two of them swam right in donat of the bow of the vessel; they could swim fasten than the box could go. I also saw a number of thacks

MEDICINE FREE.

Medical experts advocate the separation and isolation of consumptives. This is right, but they should go a step further and recommend the Slocum Cure. Thousands of consumptives have been cured—many in the last stages, by using the Slocum Cure.

Never was there a cure for lung troubles equal to the newly-discovered Dr. Slocum treatment. This forms a system of three remedies that are used simultaneously, and supplement each other's curative action. It cures weak lungs, bronchitis, coughs, consumption and every other aliment of the pulmonary regions. It destroys every germ that can effect the respiratory system, and even in advanced stages of lung trouble positively arrests the tubercular growth, while it also builds up the patient so that his system is enabled to throw of all other wasting diseases.

SPECIAL NOTE.

Slocum treatment is medicine reduced to science, and this is an honest, straight-

Well, dear mother, we are nineteen days to-day on the ocean, and have only seen land once. In eight days more we expect to reach Cape Town, there to await orders for the field of battle. We have lost thirteen or Courteen horses out of "E" Battery, and a number out of "D" Buttery, and a number out of "D" Buttery, and the seen of the Sing feried two signals just as we crossed and about 400 of us soldiers formed up with our "Sergeunt-Major, and sang "Rule Brittania," and "God Save the Queen." In the evening we had a good time. I shall tell you how, for it is to the Cape from Halifax. We have sailed just four thousand, five hundred and seventy-six miles up to to-day. I shall let you knew the rest of the distance when we armuve.

All well yet, only two elight accidents We were having some sports and one boy got his shoulder blade fractured and the other a broken wrist. We were very lucky to escape the fever. We saw another vessel with tropps from England. They signalled and said they had thirty-two cases of fever on board, and were just going to burly three men. It is very rough to-day; the waves dash oven the fow off the vessel, but she stands it fine at the Laurentian we are on. The

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, MAR. 23rd, 1900 HIS POLITICAL CHIEF OUTDO NE

Despite the many duties devolving on him with the war with the Doers in South Africa Col. Sam, Hughes finds time to write lengthy letters to his friends in Ganda. In this week's Watchman-Warder appears a two obumn letter addressed to "My Doer Jack, and all the Boya," in which the Colonel gives some interesting news principally regarding himself—this gist of which may be guithered from the following headlines: "Ho is assistant to the In peto.-G nyal," "His Travelled Thousands of Miles," "His Visited all the Notable Cent e." "B.en on. Steambout est Amored.

THE HUTTON-HUGHES CORRES

The long expected return of the cor-respondence between Col. Sam Hughes and Gen. Hutton has been placed before parliament. It comprises nearly a hundred type-written p g s, and would in full coupy musy n way pecolumns. This correspondense is declared by Gee. Hutton to afford ample justification for his refusal to recom

We cannot avoid noticing that there has been a change in this color of the some others tory papers, including the Evening News, which were leading a bottler complying against G n Hutton for his alleged illtreatment of Col. The times change, and menchange; perhaps the Globe has reasom to anticip the thirt the long-arring wanderer will return to the true fold, purified as by fire. Stranger things than this hive h ppened; but wado not predict that it will happen, for we are not in the prophesying business. We have it on the authority, of the good old Methodist hymn that "While' the lamp holds out to burn. The vilest sinner may return," and, therefore, with this probability in view, we are inclined to regard with fractornal indugence those dicesporacies of manner and expression in Col. Hughes' letters that General Hutton, from the standpoint of a pardomable.

If Gen. Hutton had overlooked thesa little peculiarities, and disregarded the commanties on Lord Minto and other great personages, the military genius that the propagation of the proposition of the propagation of the p martinet and red-tapist, found unpardomable.

If Gen. Hutton had overlooked these little peculiarities, and disregarded the comments on Lord Minto and other great personages, the military genius that bubbles over in this correspondence, and scintillates in the Watchman letters, might have been worthly employed in conducting these large rield operations that Roberts and Buller unaided are bringing to a surgessful close, but which they have conducted on lines laid down by our erstwhile fellow townsman and political opposent? I as long ago as last August. When we think of this and of what General Hutton did, and what he might have done, if he had properly appreciated our native talent, we can only repeat the words of the poet: Of all the sad worde of thogue or pen The saddest are these: "It might have

PLYMOUTH ROOKS ARE GOOD.

Thoroughbreds Versus Scrubs.

(Family Herald and Weekly Star.)

There has been a great deal written from time to time concerning the advantages of blooded or thoroughbred stock oven crosses and scrubs. The stock however, is always worth considering, as there are so many people in the large world who cannot be persuaded to try the best bred fowls, and who cannot be convinced of their superiority.

It seems of all classes of people that our farmers are the slowest trappreate the advantages of thoroughbred stock. Is it because they are ignorant, stupid, obstinate or indifferent? We can hardly call them ignorant, and but few, if successful in their general furm, work, can be called stupid; some are very obstinate, but the majority we consider are indifferent. It is th. they do not take a special interest. Sowls have been neglected for so long on farms that it is a difficult matter to change this indifference for interest. We can hardly thing them for not taking any great amount of interest in whit is known as the farmer's hees. They are certainly not picturesque, and with the exception of the varied and oftentimes beautiful plumege of the males, are not attractive to look at. Their useful qualities should not, as a rule, endear them to the farmer, for they are decidedly at a lows ebb in this particular. Yet it is a very hard task to convine our farmer friends that their flocks can be improved. To them, the neglected her mild always remain the only onlined on the farm to suffer this neglect, and if they are persuaded to improve the quality we fear the same neglect will continue.

The first step which some of them have been nudued take in the way of unprevenent, is by buying a thoroughbred male of some known egg-roducing variety (for eggs are the height of the first season have not been apprecated, and the result as a low either the season have not been renewed, and the result as

Are not these reasons sufficient? Is there not more chance for profit in such a fewl than in the scrubs and route he is accustomed to? And let him hear in mind that, except for the original cost of thoroughbreds, their care and feed will be no more than for scrubs.

In a recent issue we noted that Dundas & Flavelle Bros. pulposed securing the eggs of well-blied Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes, and distributing them for hatching purposes. Their efforts are meeting with the marked approval of many wide-awake farmers, but many more will be slow to embrace this opportunity until they are too late. It is expected that something over a thousand settings will be distributed, and the orders are being rapidly booked.

A. E. Silverwood, who is leaving after this enterprise for the firm, has already inspected and approved of several flocks within the county. There may be others of which he does not know, consequently if you have well-blied fowl of these larger breeds, send him a card at once.

The eggs distributed will be very carefully handled, and guaranteed as far as it is possible to do so. The price is within the reach of every one and will not exceed twenty-five cents a dozen, and then you have the chance of giving other eggs in exchange, so that no cash outlay is required. Because these eggs are cheap do not him he they are no good. Orders are being placed with those having carefully selected and treated flocks for the whole output of their eggs during the hatching season, consequently the low price.

FAIR WAGES FAVORED

Mr. Mulock's Plan to Protect Workers on Public Contracts.

CURRENT RATES ARE TO BE PAID

The Resolution-How It Works in Eng Innd-Objects of the Motion-Employ. of Sub-Contractors Considered-The Civil Servants-The Opposition Amendment Still Under Discussion.

Ottawa, Maroh 28.—Mr. Mulock's resolution that all Government contracts shall contain such conditions as may prevent abuses arising from sub-letting, and that every effort be made to secure the payment of such wages as are generally accepted as current rates, occupied the attention of the House until 12,45 o'clock this morning.

The House until 12-46 o'clock the order of the House until 12-46 o'clock the order of the House until 12-46 o'clock the order of the House until 12-46 o'clock the order of the House until 12-46 o'clock the order of the House until 12-46 o'clock the order of the House until 12-46 o'clock the order of the house of of the fortunate experiences as some in the past, when sub-contractors were unable to meet the conditions of their employers, and thus laboring men and suppliers of materials had been rained. This clause would prevent that, as the contractor would be responsible for his agents. The clause providing for the fair going wages in the district where the work was being done would prevent the importantion of labor from other districts or other countries. As it is now, contractors brought in men and depressed the labor market. Even the strictest ation labor law would not prevent this, but the resolution would put it beyond the interest of any contractor to seek to import into any locality where labor is being omployed either from outside the country itself. The contrary the contracty was not interested in keeping down the price of labor; on the contrary, the contry was interested in advancing the labor market, and in every man roceiving a fair day's pay for a fair day's work. This was the best policy, leaving a side the humanitarian view of it altogether; the higher wage benefited not only to the grant side who would not be permitted to receive any subsidy until it had satisfied the Government of the day that it had paid the wages the resolution called for. He believed that in due time every legislative body in the country would adopt this principle, as many

ner. Mr. Wollace declared that the dawning of an election shook even Mr. Mulock's aerve. He considered the Postmaster-General the last man in the House who should bring forward such a resolution, and isstanced alleged cases of under-payment in the P.M.G.'s department.

D. MecDonald reiterated the argume. Yr advanced by the Postmaster-Gen. Tal.

Mr. Casgrain termed the resolution and useless, because it was Gen.rul.

Mr. Casgrein termed the resolution academic and uscless, because it was not the intention of the Government to solidity the principle by introducing a bill.

Mr. Fraser (Guysboro) lone his weight to the support of the resolution.

Mr. Clarke sympathized with any movement for the bettering of the condition of laborers, but felt present resolution would become education to the resolution would become education and the moved an amendment to the resolution, that the following be added to the "And that the norcesside policy shall be forthwith applied to every department of the following be referred to the following be referred to the following be added to the "Mr. Belcourt (Liberal, Ottawa) said said he was compelled reluctantly to support Mr. Clarke's amendment. He was strongly opposed to the stopping of statutory increases, as had been clock.

The there had increased from $32,-112 in 1897 to $1,674,248 in 1809, wet the burdens on the people did not increase. He quoted figures to show that during the period, 1893-96, Canada had had a total deficit of $6,-694,759, while during the period of 1896-99 there was a total surplus of $6,040,479.

His conclusion from this was that under three years of Liberal rule Canada had bettered by $11,785,220 than under a like period of Conservative rule. Canada's obligations were soon coming due to the amount of $167,000,000. Against this was a sinking fund of $67,000,000,00. He felt sure that by putting two million aside yearly, when the day of reckoning came now loans could be floated at a lower rate of interest.

and Charge of Extravagance.

As to the charge of extravagance, imputed to the Government, he read statistics computed on the basis that Canada's population was 5,312,500, to show that while expenditure per capits in 1899 was $7.88, in 1888 it had been $7.84. To prove Canada's abounding prosperity, he divided trade returns in three periods and compared them. From 1868 to 1876 was a low tariff period; from 1878 to 1896, a high tariff; and from 1896 to 1899, a moderate tariff. He held if the last was not a very low tariff it was certainly a moderate revenue tariff. (Opposition laughter.)

During the first period trade increased 41 millions, an average per cent. of 31 and an average annual per cent. of 31 and an average annual per cent. of 38 under the second period the increase was 66 millions. During the first period the annual increase of trade was 3.15 per cent., second 2.14 per cent., third 11 per cent. If to the last period the approximate increase of 1900 were added the percentage would be 14. An interesting note was made of the fact that a number of immigrants have come from the United States to Canada. In 1897, 712; in 1898, 9,119, and in 1899, 11,045. From other countries, 32,508 had entered. All these were signs of prosperity.

Mr. Fielding, cutting adrift from figures, remarked that industrial activity had been shown in the growth of huge enterprises. He instanced the iron and steel works in Ontario, and especially that in Sydney, Cape Breton. Two thousand mon were working there now and 2,000 more would be added in the spring. These industries meant that Canada's from deposits were to be developed. He took credit to himself for bringing Mr. Whitney, the head of the concern, into Nova Scotin years ago and was gratified to see his wisdom then had been proved.

gratified to see his wisdom then had gratified to see his wisdom then had been proved.

He refuted the charge that the Government had made no reform in the tariff, by showing that the difference between the present tariff and that of the N. P. was an average advaloren duty of 2.2 per cent. This meant a reduction of 10½ per cent of the total duty. If the old tariff had been in force last year, $8,017,000 more duty would have had to be paid.

The second part of the speech dealt with intended Government policy. In 1898 the Covernment extended the preferential tariff so as to take in the West Indian Islands. The increase had not, however, been as much as hoped for, because the United States had given a preference to cane sugar as opposed to beet sugar, and had got the West Indian trade. Yet the imports and exports to and from Canada had slightly increased. The idea was thought to be a good one, and Mr. Parimales of the Trade and Commerce Department, had visited and Mr. Parmade of the Trade and Commerce Department, had visited the Island of Trinidad to find out its possibilities and to tell the people of Canada's desire to give their products a preference. A deputation from the Island come to Ottawa and the result was, as Mr. Fielding yesterday afternoon announced for the first time, that a proposal was made to Trinidad and British Guiana. The proposal agrees to give free entry to their products, except spirituous liquors and tobacco, in return for a similar boon to Canada's products. This agreement is to be made for five years, but terminate at one year's notice. He hoped the House would favor the scheme. The chief products would be sugar, coco and nephalt.

The Cab e to Trinidad. Mr. Fielding's cable to Trinidad,

The Only tariff change.

The Only tariff change.

The Only tariff change would be cubodied in a resolution to be presented to the House to the effect that mackinery for the manufacture of beet-sugar should be put on the free list. This was due to the representations made by a deputation that announced their intention of starting a beet-sugar factory in Ontario to cost $500,000, or which $300,000 would be for machinery to be imported from France and Germany.

Mr. Floiding was not in favor of giving a bounty on beet-sugar. He felt constrained to exercise the fact that no other item had been changed, by statling that it was not desirable to disturb the tariff by taking up details. Bosides the tariff at its best was bat a compromise to suit difference. The Only Parist Change.

ent localities. He held out to hope for reciprocal trade with the United States, because the United States had manifested no desire for it. The Joint High Commission was theorit-cally still in existence, and, if a chance came to take up the trade re-lations, the Government would watch the interests of Canada.

Intions, the Government would watch

Preferential Trade.

He was glad that the position of each party had been defined on the question of preferential trade. If eritilized the Conservative policy as "your pound of flesh," one as improbable as it was unfilial. The aim of the Opposition policy would be obtained by the splendid imperial movement that would over-ride the oil-fashioned ideas of political economy of the English.

Mr. Fielding then announced that from the 1st of July next there would be an increase in preference given to all English goods coming into Canada, '(Cheers,) The present 25 per cent, would be increased to 38 1-8 per cent. This would mean that for every $3 of duty paid for products of foreign countries only $2 would be collected from the Motherland.
(Cheers.) This would form a reduction of taxation to the people of Canada. (Cheers.) This would form a reduc-tion of taxation to the people of Can Canadian Securities in England.

Canadian *securities in England.

Another matter was tinged with Imperialism. Mr. Fleiding stated that there were large sums of money in England, in the hands of trustees, but it had never been possible to get Canadian securities in that trustee list. He paid a tribute to the years of work on the part of Sir Charles in this direction, when he was High Commissioner, but Sir Charles had failed. Mr. Fleiding had gone into the matter lest year, and, with the aid of Lord Strathcona and J. M. Courtney, Deputy Minister of Finance, had been so successful that legislation would be introduced into the Imperial House this session, and also in the Canadian Brouse, to the effect that Canadian securities would be admitted to this trustee list.

The lifterence it Wil Make.

The Difference it Will Make.
Speaking of the effect of this admission. Mr. Fielding said it would make a difference in the rate of interest of from 2 to 3 points, while at a later stage the profit would be even more. as Canadian securities would then approach to the position of consists. The difference would put $2,500,000 into the Treusury of Canada in 10 or 12 years. The gain would be in dollars and cents equal to every penny paid to send the soldiers to South Africa. (Cheers.) Mr. Fielding rounded up his task by briefly picturing the enviable position of Canada, financially, commercially and industrially among the colonies of the Empire.

Mr. Fielding last night gave notice that he will, in Committee of Ways and Means, propose the following re-solutions:

and Means, propose the following resolutions:

The skating roof lest Heiday night between W. Henders and E. Powers was witnessed by a large crowd. The racej was for $25 and championship of Lindsay, the best two out of three heats to decide the winner. The con testants were started from opposit-ends of the rink, and the first few testants were started from opposite ends of the rink, and the first few laps proved exciling, but when the leighth lop was reached Powys's lagged a little and Henders won the heat by over a lap, amidst great cheering from his friends. Judge Dean's Little Joke

As our readers all know, dignity in the courts is one of the chief characteristics of our. Canadian Judiciary. It appears that a trial in which Judge Dean was presiding, a young man in the rear of the room kept moving noily sround; raisings seats and peering belind the pillus. "Young man," Judge Dean cried, "you are making a great deal of unnecessary noise. What are you doing?" The offender in a frightened voice answared — "Your Honor, I have lost my overcent, and I am trying to find it." A smile relaxed the features of the popular jurist as he said, "I am sorry that you have lost your coat, but you should not make such a disturbance about it. People less suits here every day with much less noise."

We wish to faform our young friends that we inserted the item young friends that we inserted the item only after having received correborative evidence from different sources as to the truth of the statements made. We did not wish to reflect on the good character of all the young men who composed the party, and, while we have learned that some of the statements were somewhat exaggerated, it is beyond question that at least two of the young men did conduct themselves rudely We also wish to point out to our young friends the importance of carefully choosing their companions on such outings, in order that no individual, by his actions, may be the means of bringing repreach on those who do act gentlemally, for the boy or girl is universally judged by the company he or she keeps.

It seems certain that Mafeking's only chances lie in the relief by the column supposed to be advancing from the south, or in the possibility that Col. Baden-Powell is strong enough to attempt a sortic with a view of capturing the Boer guns at a time when Commandant Snyman has withdrawn his men to oppose Col. Plumer's advance. All the reports regarding the British operations in the Free State continue to be satisfactory.

The Part Taken by the Canadian.
A correspondent of The Daily News, writing from Koodoosrand, where Gen. Hector Macdonald led the movement of the Highland Brigade from Magersfontein, after Lord Roberts' arrival at the front, describes the surrender of Cronje at Paardeberg.
He says the Royal Canadian Regiment, having been ordered to approach the Boer laager, got imdevertently in the darkness within fifty yards of the enemy's main position. The Boers poured in a tremendous fusilade into the advancing Canadians. Lieut-Col. Otter, decidibly that it was as dangerous to retire as advance, dashed forward with the men, who tumbled pell-mell into the trenches outside the mimosa bushes lining the bank.
The Boers promptly evacuated them and unless they were able to recarry the trenches there was nothing to save them and the misery of the ten days' privations had created a sirong party in moor of surrencer to the British. The situation brought about by the Canadians decided fae question, and at 6 o'clock a white flag was sent from the Boer laager to Lord Roberts. Addressing the Canadians the Field Marshal complimented them in the highest terms.

Toronto, March 27.—In the Legisleture yesterday afternoon, Hon. J. R. Stratton introduced a bill to anomal the Charities Aid Act.

The House went into committee and passed the following bills: To confirm a bylaw of the Town of Durham, Mr. Jamieson; respecting the Central Canada Loan and Savings Co., Mr. Pardee, and to amend an act authorizing the issue of debentures by St. George's Cathedral Church, Kingston.

Hon. J. M. Gibson, in reply to Mr. Whitney, stated that the ballots in the last bye-elections in North Waterloo were in the custody of the court. Those in West Elgin were placed in the custody of the Clerk of Legislature and are no longer in existence.

Reprieves of Reformatory Industra.

Mr. Foy moved for a return showing names, or the official numbers, of boys reprieved from the Penetanguishene Reformatory, and of girls reprieve from the Industrial Refuge for Girls, Toronto, during the two years previous to the first of February, 1900. The date when the reprieve was recommended by the warden or superintendent. The date when the reprieve was finally granted. He called attention to the delay often involved in granting reprieves. Hon. J. M. Gibson said that the delay in disposing of petitions asking election to the delay often indisposing of petitions asking delay in disposing and petition to the delay of the internation of the delay of the grantenation of petitions asking delay in disposing of petitions asking delay in disposing and petition to the delay of the grantenative and petition of the delay of the grantenative and p lay often involved in granting reprieves.

Hon, J. M. Gibson said that the delay in disposing of petitions asking for reprives or shorter terms for inmates of reformatory institutions had long been a subject of discussion. The fault did not usually lie with this administration, but it could readily be understood that when such applications involving the use of the pardoning power were made to the Minister of Justice delays were necessarily involved. An attempt had been made to have the authority to grant reprieves in such cases conferred on the Provincial Government, but it had not been successful. He thought the power should be vested in the Provincial authorities.

Mr. Pattulfo moved the second read-

Alt. Pattulfo moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Municipal Act, which provides that where the local improvement system had not been adopted by the municipal council of any township, city, town or village they may nevertheless pass bylaws for local improvement purposes and provide that the corporation shall contribute a proportion not less than 30 per cent. nor more than 60 per cent. of the cost of such works and issue debentures to pay for the same.

Hon. J. M. Gibson thought the bill went further than the general act in including streets as well as sidewalks. He thought the bill should go to the committee.

Hon. J. R. Stratton said that when the Municipal Committee had after full discussion arrived at a conclusion he did not think the question should be reopened.

The bill was read a second time.

Mr. Pardee's bill to amend the Municipal Act, increasing the amount of fees payable for hawkers and pedlars licenses was read a second time.

Mr. Mutrie's bill to amend the Municipal Act, dealing mainly with the appointment and duties of auditors and changing the date of the financial year, called forth considerable discussion, Mr. Whitney protesting on general principles against unnecessary amendments to the act and saying that there would be no hardship if the act were left unchanged for six years. The Attorney-General thought that the law should not be changed without very good reason. The present bill might be an improvement on the axisting law, but it was not so clearly advantageous as to warrant its adoption. The bill was with drawn.

Ottawa, March 27.—The following militia orders were promulgated yesterday morning:

Lieut. C. W. W. McLean (2nd special service battalion) Royal Canadian Regiment, has been granted a commission in the Royal Artillery.

Owing to the 1st Battalion Lienster Regiment being detained in Halifax, the companies therein referred to will leave Ottawa for Halifax at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, March 27, instead of March 24, and will be joined at Montreal by "E" Company.

Lieut.-Col. B. H. Vidal, D. O. C., military district No. S, temporarily commanding the provisional battalion, will proceed to Halifax on March 27, and will continue in temporary command until farther orders.

It is noticed, for general information, that the annual examination for candidates desiring to be admitted as andets to the Royal Military College, Kingston, will chammence at the district staff office at the headquarters of the several military districts in which candidates reside, on Tuesday, May 15, 1900, the medical examinations to be held the day previous.

After some further discussion the bill went to Committee.

Aft. Fracee moved the second reading of the bill to amend the Municipal Act by rendering valid bonus bylaws. The bill provides for a two-thirds vote of ratepayers and several other restrictions.

Hon. J. M. Gibson considered that there should be some remedy formed for those cases in which though the community was practically unanimous the requisite two-thirds majority of all the ratepayers could not be got. He thought that where an overwhelming majority of the vote polled was favorable, a less proportion of the total list would be sufficient.

Mr. Whitney strongly favored the measure and was glad that the house had returned to its right mind on the question. The agitation against bonuses some years ago had been organized for political effect against the N. P.

Hon, J. M. Gibson regarded a general law as preferable to the confusion now prevailing on the subject.

absentees were commercial men and others out of the city at the time. The coult was for 250 Queen's Own men and 250 to be made up of drafts from other forces. There was intense disappointment when the loarried men and those who had served less than one year were told to step aside. He (Rev. Lloyd) held a commission, but like many another, was glad to get a chance to go as a full private; some of the incligible ones offered to pay handaeme sume for permission to go. Capt. Bud, son of Judge Boyd, who recency sailed for South Africa, was one of the lucky ones, and his younger brother, a ladiof 18, was also wild to go, but the Judge did not wish to risk losing two soots, and held talphily to the young ster's hand on the day of departure. In the crowd they became separated, and—however he managed it—young Bud joined the regiment on e. Of course he did not do right, but one could not help but admire his determination and spirit.

Some writers claimed later that the men rode much of the distance in wagons secompanied the expedition, and were used for bagage; coassionally them who had been on guard at halting places were allowed to ride for half-am hour or so in order to satch a wink of sleep if possible. Their guides were blem of the North-West Ament of the distance, and if other evidence of the lill-will of the savages mere neceded; in dealth possible. Next morning early the treops marched into the town unopposed, and received a hearty welcome from the citizens. The abandoned houses in the old part of the town had been looted and their contents destroyed. The savages seemed to have had a special aversion for feather bedeevery one had been ripped open and the contents scattered. Mirrors had been broken in order to supply pieces with which to fisch signals, and everywhere wrock and roin had been wrought. The linterior of a trading store presented a remarkable sight; liquor found in the collar had evidently, fired the Indians to greater feats in the line of destruction, and after shattering everything in the atook that was breakable they had scattered feathers all over the place and then empied a barrel of treade over all. The result can hardly be imagined.

Bad as this was, the Indians had been guilty of worse things. The wife of Payne, the Indian farm instructor, was of Indian blood, but this fact did not save him—he was first killed and the body hidden, and then his wife and child were slaughtered. The defining of Tremont, another victim, was marked with splashes of blood on the walls, and the unfortunate man's body was found hidden under some straw in the yard. The population of Battleford comprised about 500 white people and 300 half-breeds believed to be loyal. The fort was a poor affix surrounded by a stockade, and could not have resisted a stoux assault from a determined enemy.

After a few days' stay in the twon scouts brought in news that Indians were gathering on the old historic sighting grounds at Out Knife Creek, under command of the celebrated Chief Poundmaker—a magnificent Indian 6 ft. a inches tail, crafty, experienced, and possessing great influence. He was supposed to have 500 "bnoka" with him, and others were on the way to join him, Col. Otter, with the approval of Col.
